Third Day B52 Raid Strikes Red Areas

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — The Strategic Air Command's B52 jet bombers struck suspected Viet Cong targets for the third day in a row Tuesday, pounding a Communist-infested zone 330 miles north of Saigon.

The eight-engine U.S. Air Force planes dropped tons of explosives before dawn on what intelligence reports described as a Viet Cong regional headquarters in Quang Tin province. A U. S. spokesman said it was the third raid by the Guam-based bombers since Sunday and the 29th of the Vietnamese war.

Although U. S. spokesmen declined to make any immediate assessment of the latest strike, they said the bombers had been given an expanded role in the effort to crush the Viet Cong and may eventually fly daily missions from Guam, 2,500 miles away.

155 Reds Killed

Meawhile, U.S. ground and air forces killed 155 Viet Cong guerrillas in the battle of the hills around An Khe in the central highlands, U.S. officials reported Monday.

The fight which raged over the weekend settled down into sporadic skirmishing with troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne apparently in control of the area, 17 miles northeast of the base camp of the newly arrived 1st Cavalry (Air Mobile) Division at An Khe.

The operation, coupled with another in the jungles just north of Saigon and a B52 air raid in the Mekong Delta, seemed to be part of a stepped-up U.S. initiative to carry the war to the Viet Cong and secure strategic areas.

U.S. planes continued attacks on North Viet Nam and Communist China claimed Chinese aircraft shot down a US F104 jet over Hainan Island in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Viet Nam and captured its pilot. A Peking broadcast charged the plane intruded in Red Chinese air space over Hainan

The pilot was identified as Capt. Philip E. Smith of Clinton, Iowa. A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said Smith was reported missing after parachuting into the Gulf of Tonkin when he ran out of fuel and was having trouble with navigational instruments on a patrol missions.

A broadcast by Radio Hanoi early Tuesday said eight U. S. planes were shot down over North Viet Nam Monday and that "a number" of pilots were captured. The broadcast said this raised the number of U.S. aircraft downed over North Viet Nam since Aug. 5, 1964, to 581.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade continued their hunt for Viet Cong around Ben Cat, 30 miles north of Saigon, in an effort to clear and hold an area long infested by the Viet Cong. The score in the week-old operation: 7 Viet Cong killed, 3 wounded and 25 captured South Vietnamese, Australian and New Zealand troops also are supporting the 173rd.

CAPITOL DRAFTING ROOM? . . .

Senate Space May Be Used

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Temporary use of the State Capitol's East Senate Chamber for an engineering drafting room is under consideration, but only as a "last resort" move for needed space, State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend confirmed Monday.

However, Townsend stressed that another alternative, which he declined to disclose, is being worked on.

"We hope we don't have to use the Senate Chamber, but we've gotten approval of the Legislative Council's executive committee in case we do."

Must Be Vacated

Townsend said the State Highway Department's Interstate division quarters on the first floor must be vacated by Dec. 1 to make room for installation of new date computer equipment for his department.

The electronic equipment would be installed in space now occupied by the Department of Institutions, which would in turn take over the Interstate division drafting space.

The date computer installation, authorized by the 1965 Legislature, requires a special temperature-and-humidity controlled room and subflooring and approximately 1,200 square feet for "a room inside a room," Townsend said.

He said preliminary installation work must begin around Dec. 1 for the computer, which will arrive the last of February and must be operating May 1.

If the Senate Chamber is used, he said, an agreement with the Legislative Council has been reached to "protect the Senate Chambers and restore them to their original condition by Jan. 1, 1967."

Must Remain

Townsend said the Highway Department's Interstate division must remain in the Capitol until the department's new building can be constructed near 14th and Burnham.

Construction of the new building is not anticipated to begin until late this year or early 1966 and not be completed until early 1967.

Townsend said if the Senate Chamber were used, the senate desks and other furnishings would be removed and stored.

The East Senate Chamber is used by the Legislature during regular sessions as a major hearing room. It is little used at other times except for special events, some hearings and examinations.

'Big Problem'

State Engineer John Hossack said the Interstate division could be accommodated in the Senate Chamber but "lighting would be a big problem."

"Space for seven-or-eight-foot layout tables and 30 men would be required," he said.

Building Supt. Robert Newell said the East Senate Chamber is a "major attraction and showpiece for the 150,000 Nebraskans and tourists that visited the Capitol."

"Personally, I don't think the Senate Chamber should be used, but I will follow orders," he added.

Townsend said no decision on whether the Chamber or other space will be utilized for the Highway Department until after Gov. Frank Morrison returns Friday.

Morrison is attending a conference of Midwestern governors this week.

Scott's Space Walk To Last One Orbit

Space Center, Houston (UPI)—Rookie astronaut David R. Scott was named Monday to take a self-propelled walk in space during a flight next year that will carry him around the world for one full orbit at least, using a "zot gun" for guidance.

Scott, of San Antonio, Tex., was picked as copilot of the Gemini 8 space flight, and Neil Armstrong, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, was named command pilot of the flight. It will be a two or three-day voyage, tentatively set for next February or March, space agency officials said.

The 33-year-old Scott, former Air Force test pilot and father of two children, will be making his first flight when he walks in the "spacesteps" of Gemini 4 spacewalker Edward White.

Armstrong, a Navy pilot in the Korean War, is the father of one.

First Civilian

Armstrong, the first civilian astronaut, has one venture into space—as pilot of the high-flying X15 rocket plane.

Scott, first of a new group of 14 pilots named to the astronaut program late in 1963, will take a "walk" far more spectacular than the June 3 space solo by White.

White traveled across the United States outside his Gemini 4 capsule. He was tethered to the spacecraft by a gold-colored "umbilical cord" and for several minutes of the free flight he guided himself with a "zot" gun, a handlebar-like contraption that used squirts of oxygen to propel him.

Space officials said Scott will first leave the Gemini 8 capsule at the end of a 25-foot tether similar to that used by White.

At Least One Orbit

It will be the start of a "walk" that will last through at least one complete orbit—nearly 100 minutes around earth.

Once outside, Scott will also use a zot to propel himself to the thick adapter section of the spacecraft. There, he will attach a long-life oxygen tank and switch to another tether—this one about 75 feet long.

Thereafter, he will maneuver his way around space by using the zot, a mechanism similar to the propulsion unit used by White, only more powerful and carrying more fuel.

Space agency spokesmen emphasized that plans for the ambitious mission were still "very preliminary."

Several Possible

There were indications experts were giving thought to keeping Scott outside the craft considerably beyond one orbit if all went well.

Scott will wear an extra-protection spacesuit just slightly thinner than that worn by White.

The garment is designed to protect the astronaut from dangers of radiation and micrometeorite particles that flit through space.

Officials said the Gemini 8 flight will be a major step toward the first attempt by an astronaut to use a back pack maneuvering unit, probably without a tether.

Herminghaus, Designer Of Pioneers Park, Dies

Ernst Herminghaus, the man who designed Pioneers Park and several additions to Lincoln, died Monday in Newton, Conn., where he has been living in retirement. He was 75.

A landscape architect, Mr. Herminghaus made the plans for Pioneers Park as a consultant to the city park department in the 1920s. The park was then built according to the Herminghaus plans when federal funds became available in the 1930s.

Mr. Heminghaus also served for two years—from 1945 to 1947—as park superintendent.

NU, Harvard Grad

A graduate of Lincoln public schools and the University of Nebraska. Mr. Herminghaus was also a graduate of the Harvard school of landscape architecture. He practiced as a landscape architect in Omaha for a time before coming to Lincoln.

In Lincoln, he designed the Rathbone and Woodshire additions.

He was one of the eight founders of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra, and served as that organization's president. He was an active member of the Nebraska Art Association. He also served as president of the Lincoln Garden Club.

After leaving the city park superintendency, Mr. Herminghaus worked as a site-planner, planning the "atomic city" at the Hanford, Wash., atomic energy works, and air bases in Alaska, England and Japan. He also served as an engineer on the Alcan Highway.

ERNST HERMINGHAUS

Retired 10 Years Ago

After retirement about 10 years ago, Mr. Herminghaus lived in Mexico, in Switzerland, and in Germany before moving to Connecticut.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Schubert (Willa) Dyche of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Russell (Sara) Eggers of Geneva, Switzerland; and a son, John Fritz Herminghaus of West Berlin, Germany; a sister, Alma Herminghaus of Lincoln; and two brothers, Richard F. of Billings, Mont., and Herbert F. of Lincoln, and eight grandchildren.

THE WEATHER

LINCOLN — Mostly cloudy Tuesday with showers and thunderstorms over most of the area. Highs in the mid 60's.

EAST AND CENTRAL NEBRASKA—Cloudy with rain in the east with highs around 60. Partly cloudy to clear central with highs in the 50's.

State Hit By Downpours Again

Soggy Nebraska received more of the same Monday as rainfall ranged from downpours in the south central and southeast to drizzle over the rest of the state

Sutton received a whopping 2.80 inches Monday. Other heavy amounts included Barneston 2.23; Horbine 1.63; Virginia 1.92; Auburn 1.60; Humboldt 1.40; Seward 1.35; Lincoln 1.34; David City and York, both 1.30; Pawnee City 1.25; Crete and Syracuse, about an inch; and Ashland .90.

Monday's rainfall brings the September total in Lincoln to 5.69 inches.

The precipitation was welcomed for starting the winter wheat crop, but farmers would prefer some warm sun shine and corn-drying weather at this time.

Little sun seems likely, however, with forecasts for the state pointing to more rain and cloudy weather.

Weather observers at David City said that Butler County community has received 10.31 inches of rainfall this month.

Omaha has received 11.65 inches this month, the greatest amount of moisture recorded by Omaha weather records since 1871. The previous record rainfall for a full September was 9.32 inches in 1923.

2 Die In Crash Near Hastings

Hastings (UPI) — A California man and his daughter were killed Monday when their car skidded on rainy U. S. 6-34 west of here and was struck broadside by another auto.

The deaths of Willis Churchill, 73, Riverside, Calif., and Phyllis Churchill, 34, also from Riverside and the driver of the car, boosted the 1965 Nebraska fatality count to 267, compared with 295 one year ago.

Deputy Adams County Atty. William Connolly said the Churchill car was westbound about 5 miles west of here.

Connolly said the Churchill car was passing in a 'no passing' area and was attempting to return to the westbound lane when the skid occurred.

The auto was struck by an eastbound car carrying Edward and Vava Clayton, both 52, Indianola, Iowa. The man was listed in satisfactory condition at Mary Lanning Memorial Hospital; the woman in fair condition.

Nitroglycerin Found In Lincoln Boy's Home

More than 10 pounds of granular, highly explosive nitroglycerin have been confiscated from the home of a Lincoln juvenile, according to Lincoln police.

He was one of three other Lincoln youths under investigation for the break-in of a Lincoln doctor's home several weeks ago. A valuable coin collection and other items were taken.

The youth was being questioned when he led detectives to the explosive, which was concealed in his home, police said.

Further questioning of the youths, a 15-year-old girl, a 15-year-old boy and two 14-year-old boys, uncovered a varied assortment of items including 30 bottles of liquor more coins, a .22 caliber rifle, a broken .22 caliber pistol fixed to operate in zip gun fashion, hand tools and several pieces of costume jewelry.

One of the boys, with an interest in chemistry, made the explosive material, the youths told police.

Sikkim, Ladakh Shooting Scene

. . . INDIAN PARLIAMENT TOLD

New Delhi, India (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri declared Monday, that Communist China has fired the first shots across the Indian border in a campaign to dominate all of Asia. He said India will fight back.

Thus, after three years of uneasy peace in the Himalayas, the two giants of Asia seemed on the verge of picking up where they left off after their border conflict in the fall of 1962.

Long Frontier

China, with 650 million people, was bitterly denouncing India for alleged border violations along more than 1,000 miles of mountain frontier separating the Chinese army from the Indian plains.

Red troop movements were reported in half a dozen areas, from the Indian protectorate of Silkkim in the east to the Ladakh region of Kashmir state in the west.

Shastri told parliament the communists had fired across the border with Sikkim and from Red-ruled Tibet into Ladakh.

India, a nation of 480 million people, showed no sign of backing down and Shastri indicated he feels a fundamental confrontation between the two nations has reached explosion point.

Can't Take Domination

"The basic objective of China," he said, "is to claim for itself a position of dominance in Asia which no self-respecting nation in Asia is prepared to recognize."

Every Asian country has a right to independence and sovereignty, he said, and "the dominance of the Chinese cannot be accepted by any of them."

As for India, Shastri said it will "reject China's claim to tell us anything about what we should or should not do about Kashmir"—the Himalayan state whose ownership is a basic cause of India's war with Pakistan.

The India-Pakistan war is now apparently stalemated on the ground although bombings and air battles continue.

Ties It To China

But Shastri tied this war together with China's menacing stance.

"It is clear from the kind of response which China has given," he said, "that what China is looking for is not redress of grievances — real or imaginary—but some excuse to start its aggressive activities again, this time acting in collusion with its ally Pakistan."

Other Indian officials said that at the time Chinese troop movements in the north were first noticed, it became clear Pakistan also was moving troops—and massing them in northern areas of East Pakistan, where they are separated from Chinese troops in Tibet by only 90 miles.

A defense ministry briefing officer told newsmen Chinese firing in this area, near the Nathu La Pass linking Tibet's Chumbi Valley with Sikkim, was light and apparently designed to provoke Indian troops into returning fire.

"We have held our fire," he said. "How long we can hold it I don't know."

China Hits New India 'Violations'

Tokyo (AP)—Red China delivered a new protest to India early Tuesday charging fresh violations of the Chinese frontier by Indian troops. It simultaneously announced measures to bring the Chinese militia to "combat readiness."

Mao Tze-tung's regime thus kept up its war of nerves.

It was the third time in less than a week that the Chinese protested alleged Indian incursions into Chinese territory.

India's charge d'affaires in Peking, J.S. Mehta, was summoned to the Chinese foreign ministry at 3:30 a.m. Peking time and handed a note charging that Indian troops fired on Chinese civilians at Dumchele in the western sector of the frontier Sunday afternoon, the New China News Agency reported.

The note demanded an immediate halt to Indian "intrusions and provocations" and a guarantee from India that "it will not again invade and occupy Dumchele in China and that similar incidents will not recur."

A Peking broadcast, meanwhile, said China was strengthening its civilian militia of an estimated 20 to 30 million men and women to prepare for a "forced war on the Chinese people."

The decision to strengthen the militia was taken at a recent conference of ranking military and Communist Party officials, the broadcast said. But observers considered the timing of the announcement a warning to India in the border dispute as well as to the United States in the Viet Nam fighting.

India To Heed Cease-Fire Demand If Pakistan Does

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —India assured the United Nations Monday night it would honor the Security Council's demand for a cease-fire if Pakistan did.

Indian sources said the New Delhi government demanded a 19-hour advance notice that Pakistan also would honor the 1 a.m. CST Wednesday deadline for a halt in the fighting between India and Pakistan.

The cease-fire demand was voted 10-0 by the Security Council early Monday with Jordan abstaining.

There has been no indication whether Pakistan will agree to the cease-fire.

Dispatches from New Delhi said the emergency committee of the Indian cabinet met twice Monday to consider the Security Council call.

Some Objections

Sources in New Delhi earlier had indicated most committee members objected to some stipulations in the U.N. cease-fire order, such as withdrawal of the armed forces by both sides to the positions they held when the conflict erupted Aug. 5.

The next move by the U.N. on the Indo-Pakistani conflict hinged on whether both sides would comply with the order and agree to a cease-fire.

In the Paksitani capital of Rawalpindi, Pakistan's cabinet met with President Mohammad Ayub Khan to discuss the Security Council's resolution.

Pakistani government sources declined to speculate on the Pakistani response.

Unsatisfied

On the face of it the U.N. resolution failed to meet Ayub's demand that any cease-fire be accompanied by measures leading toward a settlement of the Kashmir issue.

In Karachi, an official spokesman announced that Pakistani External Affairs Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto was leaving for New York Tuesday to attend the U.N. General Assembly session.

At Least One Orbit

It will be the start of a "walk" that will last through at least one complete orbit—nearly 100 minutes around earth.

Once outside, Scott will also use a zot to propel himself to the thick adapter section of the spacecraft. There, he will attach a long-life oxygen tank and switch to another tether—this one about 75 feet long.

Thereafter, he will maneuver his way around space by using the zot, a mechanism similar to the propulsion unit used by White, only more powerful and carrying more fuel.

Space agency spokesmen emphasized that plans for the ambitious mission were still "very preliminary."

Several Possible

There were indications experts were giving thought to keeping Scott outside the craft considerably beyond one orbit if all went well.

Scott will wear an extra-protection spacesuit just slightly thinner than that worn by White.

The garment is designed to protect the astronaut from dangers of radiation and micrometeorite particles that flit through space.

Officials said the Gemini 8 flight will be a major step toward the first attempt by an astronaut to use a back pack maneuvering unit, probably without a tether.

Herminghaus, Designer Of Pioneers Park, Dies

Ernst Herminghaus, the man who designed Pioneers Park and several additions to Lincoln, died Monday in Newton, Conn., where he has been living in retirement. He was 75.

A landscape architect, Mr. Herminghaus made the plans for Pioneers Park as a consultant to the city park department in the 1920s. The park was then built according to the Herminghaus plans when federal funds became available in the 1930s.

Mr. Heminghaus also served for two years—from 1945 to 1947—as park superintendent.

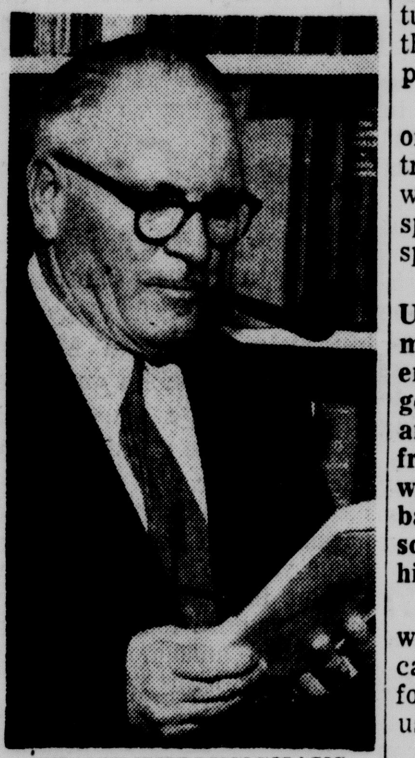
NU, Harvard Grad

A graduate of Lincoln public schools and the University of Nebraska, Mr. Herminghaus was also a graduate of the Harvard school of landscape architecture. He practiced as a landscape architect in Omaha for a time before coming to Lincoln.

In Lincoln, he designed the Rathbone and Woodshire additions.

He was one of the eight founders of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra, and served as that organization's president. He was an active member of the Nebraska Art Association. He also served as president of the Lincoln Garden Club.

After leaving the city park superintendency, Mr. Herminghaus worked as a site-planner, planning the "atomic city" at the Hanford, Wash., atomic energy works, and air bases in Alaska, England and Japan. He also served as an engineer on the Alcan Highway.



ERNST HERMINGHAUS

Retired 10 Years Ago

After retirement about 10 years ago, Mr. Herminghaus lived in Mexico, in Switzerland, and in Germany before moving to Connecticut.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Schubert (Willa) Dyche of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Russell (Sara) Eggers of Geneva, Switzerland; and a son, John Fritz Herminghaus of West Berlin, Germany; a sister, Alma Herminghaus of Lincoln; and two brothers, Richard F. of Billings, Mont., and Herbert F. of Lincoln, and eight grandchildren.

State Hit By Downpours Again

Soggy Nebraska received more of the same Monday as rainfall ranged from downpours in the south central and southeast to drizzle over the rest of the state

Sutton received a whopping 2.80 inches Monday. Other heavy amounts included Barneston 2.23; Horbine 1.63; Virginia 1.92; Auburn 1.60; Humboldt 1.40; Seward 1.35; Lincoln 1.34; David City and York, both 1.30; Pawnee City 1.25; Crete and Syracuse, about an inch; and Ashland .90.

Monday's rainfall brings the September total in Lincoln to 5.69 inches.

The precipitation was welcomed for starting the winter wheat crop, but farmers would prefer some warm sun shine and corn-drying weather at this time.

Little sun seems likely, however, with forecasts for the state pointing to more rain and cloudy weather.

Weather observers at David City said that Butler County community has received 10.31 inches of rainfall this month.

Omaha has received 11.65 inches this month, the greatest amount of moisture recorded by Omaha weather records since 1871. The previous record rainfall for a full September was 9.32 inches in 1923.

2 Die In Crash Near Hastings

Hastings (UPI) — A California man and his daughter were killed Monday when their car skidded on rainy U. S. 6-34 west of here and was struck broadside by another auto.

The deaths of Willis Churchill, 73, Riverside, Calif., and Phyllis Churchill, 34, also from Riverside and the driver of the car, boosted the 1965 Nebraska fatality count to 267, compared with 295 one year ago.

Deputy Adams County Atty. William Connolly said the Churchill car was westbound about 5 miles west of here.

Connolly said the Churchill car was passing in a 'no passing' area and was attempting to return to the westbound lane when the skid occurred.

The auto was struck by an eastbound car carrying Edward and Vava Clayton, both 52, Indianola, Iowa. The man was listed in satisfactory condition at Mary Lanning Memorial Hospital; the woman in fair condition.

Nitroglycerin Found In Lincoln Boy's Home

More than 10 pounds of granular, highly explosive nitroglycerin have been confiscated from the home of a Lincoln juvenile, according to Lincoln police.

He was one of three other Lincoln youths under investigation for the break-in of a Lincoln doctor's home several weeks ago. A valuable coin collection and other items were taken.

The youth was being questioned when he led detectives to the explosive, which was concealed in his home, police said.

Further questioning of the youths, a 15-year-old girl, a 15-year-old boy and two 14-year-old boys, uncovered a varied assortment of items including 30 bottles of liquor, more coins, a .22 caliber rifle, a broken .22 caliber pistol fixed to operate in zip gun fashion, hand tools and several pieces of costume jewelry.

One of the boys, with an interest in chemistry, made the explosive material, the youths told police.

Something Is Cooking In Cuba, Exiles Say

By BEN F. MEYER

Washington (AP)—Many Cuban exiles who once dreamed of toppling Fidel Castro by invading their homeland now say it is Castro's own military that will turn on and destroy him

There seems to be a new feeling of hope among Cuban exiles in Washington, Miami, New York and elsewhere.

"Algo se esta cocinando en Cuba," they say—something is cooking in Cuba.

Castro was hailed as a conquering hero when his revolution swept him into power in January 1959, but now grumbling is audible at times when he makes his three hour speeches.

The bearded Communist mentions with increasing frequency and bitterness the problem of guerrillas inside Cuba. And in characteristic Castro fashion he insists they have been stamped out

Military Loyalty

Another problem to which he refers obliquely at times is that of the loyalty of his army and militia forces. Experts here say disaffection has increased enormously within these forces in recent months with the spread of discontent among Cubans at their plight under Communist masters.

Castro still controls Cuba. His military forces and sophisticated weapons are the most powerful in all Latin America. The great hope of the exiles is that this power will be turned on the Castro government.

Some exiles insist there have been at least three attempts in recent months to assassinate the Cuban prime minister. U.S. officials say they have nothing to confirm such reports.

Exiles and U.S. officials often have disagreed about some aspects of the situation inside Cuba. Cuban refugees concede they may be influenced at times by wishful thinking, but say U.S. intelligence in Cuba has been deficient at times—as in the missile crisis of 1962.

Agree On Some Points

But there are a number of things on which U.S. experts and the Cuban exiles do agree:

—Cuba's economy and international finance is in chaos.

—Castro's theory that below-cost prices for Cuba's bumper sugar crop will be offset by profits in other production is nonsense.

—The Cuban army and people's militia is heavily infiltrated by anti-Castro forces. There have been numerous purges and arrests of military men, and weapons have been taken away from various units.

—Hatred for the Communist regime is spreading among the populace.

—Imprisonment, firing-squad executions and other measures aimed at stamping out dissenters are producing additional defections throughout all elements of the population.

Lots Of Griping

—Grumbling against rationing, shortages and repressive measures is widespread. One report says that when Castro told people in the vicinity of Nuevitas, a key port city on Cuba's north coast, they were better off than ever before, the crowd chorused denials so vehemently they drowned out the loudspeakers. The next day army men moved into the town, confiscated dozens of businesses, dragged off dozens to prisons.

Despite Castro's claims, it is prudent to assume he has not eliminated all antigovernment guerrilla groups. These are not large in numbers, their activities are restricted by fear of reressive measures, but they operate all over Cuba, except perhaps in Havana itself.

As if all these problems were not enough, the Cuban economy is in chaos, its international finances in crisis.

Even a bumper crop is not expected to help Castro because of the collapse of prices on the world market due to enormous overproduction of sugar in many areas.

Moscow-Peking Feud

And Castro, an unruly figure in the Communist world, is caught up in the struggle between Moscow—which props up Cuba's security, economy and military might at an estimated cost of $1 million a day—and Peking, whose more belligerent ideology Castro prefers.

There have been increasing signs that Nikita Khrushchev's successors in the Kremlin, with problems of their own,are impatient with the loquacious and unpredictable fellow in Havana.

But with all of these problems, there still exists a big question in the minds of those who would like to see Castro toppled from power. It is:

Just how, when and whether the forces working against Castro will mesh into a coordinated internal struggle to rid Cuba of its Communist tyrants.

So far, there have been no signs of coordination in guerrilla activities, in strategic sabotage or in plans for any general uprising against the Havana regime.

Revolt Possible Anytime

U.S. experts say this is understandable under the harsh and extraordinarily tight antisubversion measures in force in Cuba today. They add that bitterness at such measures, coupled with growing hatred of Cubans of the Communist regime, could well up into national revolt anytime.

U.S. policy, meanwhile, remains the same: economic, moral and diplomatic pressure on Cuba, but no permission for exiles to launch their raids from U.S. soil.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., long a close observer of Cuban affairs, says, "There is today in Cuba a state of disenchantment and open rebellion against the Castro regime that bears a striking similarity to the situation that existed in Hungary before the great popular revolution of October 1956." Dodd says the United States "must embark on a crash program to help Cuban people liberate themselves."

Kuchel Won't Run For Governor Nod

. . . ASSAILS 'NEO-FASCISTS'

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's decision not to enter a bruising primary fight for California's governorship brightened the political hopes of actor Ronald Reagan Monday and cheered Democrats who feared Kuchel's vote-getting appeal.

His long-awaited announcement in Washington left Reagan—who hasn't officially declared his candidacy—as the Republican primary front runner in early polls. Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown is expected to be his party's choice for a try at a third term.

But Kuchel's statement added fuel to a bitter election fight between the party's conservatives—many of whom backed Reagan—and the moderates, who had hoped Kuchel would run.

Tragic Fact

In words sure to draw fire from party conservatives who never liked him, Kuchel said:

"The tragic fact is that within our California Republican Party is a fanatical, neo-Fascist political cult overcome by a strange mixture of corrosive and sickening fear, recklessly determed to control our party or destroy it.

"They should be and will be repudiated by our party if the choice is clear and made clear to all California Republicans."

In a seeming attempt to ask those friendly to him to unite behind a single candidate, he warned against loading the June primary ballot with "several candidates sharing essentially the same views."

Unruh Reacts

Reaction was mixed. Jesse M. Unruh of Los Angeles, powerful Democratic speaker of the state assembly, said it "certainly increased the Democratic chances of keeping the governorship in 1966."

Unruh, from time to time, has been spoken of as a candidate, but he declined to elaborate on his remarks. Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles, might also oppose Brown.

State assembly minority leader Robert T. Monagan, a Kuchel supporter, said, "It is disappointing that one of our strongest vote getters has taken himself out of the race."

'Electrical College Picks President'

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—. "Where there's a ways, there's a means," schoolgirl Tessa Tracy once philosophized.

At other times she has observed:

"She's a bladder-mouth."

"The heartburn of it, he doesn't know I exist."

"He's nothing but a liar and a prefabricator."

"The president is elected by the electrical college" and—

"It's so rheumatic to eat by candlelight."

Tessa, now 17, has been saying things in her own highly original way since she was 3, to the delight of family and friends.

Giddy, Witty Blonde

She's a slender, attractive blonde with hazel green eyes and enthusiasm for surfing, tennis, ballet dancing, painting and drawing. A student at Marymount Girls School, she is, her mother says, "a girl of profound contrasts—gay, giddy and witty, yet so philosophical she makes her elders wonder."

Mrs. Elena Tracy has long been collecting her daughter's brighter sayings.

Tessa's father, Arthur Park Tracy, is head of the proofreading department at the Santa Barbara News-Press. Recently he brought the paper a selection.

Born Malapropist

The News-Press presented, "in their first publication anywhere, the collected sayings of Miss Tessa Tracy . . . a born malapropist . . . we agree with (her parents') decision that it just isn't right not to share them with the world":

"The place sounded like an unsane assail 'em."

"She's just a rubble-raiser."

"I always get the brunt end of the stick."

"She's a needlenose—always prying."

"I like those Spanish flamingo dancers."

"He got a C-average by the nick of his teeth."

"I dreamt he died and was taken to the moratorium, and there were big headlights in the paper."

"He came in with a grudge on his shoulder."

"That man is just a war mongrel."

"I'm sending it by partial post."

"He was going like a hurricane on fire."

"I just couldn't mustard the energy."

"Shes a pestimist."

"Grandpa used to smoke a corn-pone pipe."

"I f[illegible] so inaqueduct."

"They live in the pandemonium (condominium) apartments."

"Polyunsaturated means a parrot that isn't wet."

Mrs. Tracy says her daughter is used to being kidded about her phrase-mangling. Yet after the paper published the list she feigned outrage to her parents:

"You have besmirked my image. Now everyone will look upon me with condensation."

Czech Cardinal Argues For Religious Liberty

Vatican City (AP)—A once-imprisoned cardinal from Communist Czechoslovakia urged Monday adoption of a Roman Catholic declaration on religious liberty, but there were signs of moves to block the document in the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

A vote on the document—widely expected Monday—did not take place. Rumors sprang up of a new behind-the-scenes delaying offensive by conservative prelates.

The 12-cardinal presiding committee of the council met in secret amid reports they were discussing the vote procedure.

Undoubted Majority

Josef Cardinal Beran of Prague, who spent 16 years in communist confinement before his release to Rome last February, spoke for an undoubted majority of the 2,200 council prelates when he asked for a positive stand on religious liberty. He said the church's current suffering in his homeland might well be because of past repression of Protestantism there.

But the day passed without a vote.

There were still many bishops wanting to debate the declaration, and it was possible that council directors simply wanted everyone to have his say before calling for the vote.

The Rev. John Courtney Murray, American theologian who was a chief drafter of the text, said he was hopeful the vote would come Wednesday.

"I have good reason to believe that the holy father himself wishes a vote to be taken and that the holy father himself is in full agreement with the declaration's principles," he said.

First Speech

The appeal by Cardinal Beran, 77, his first speech to the council, brought ringing applause from his fellow prelates assembled in the central nave of St. Peter's Basilica.

He told the council his own experience confirmed that every man has the right to worship according to his conscience.

"From the very moment in which freedom of conscience was radically restricted in my country, I witnessed the grave temptation, which under such conditions, confront so many," he said.

Curran Wants So. Viet Nam Cargoes On U.S.-Flag Ships

Washington (UPI)—The National Maritime Union asked for a federal court order Monday to require Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to ship all U.S. military cargoes to Viet Nam in American-flag vessels.

Union President Joseph Curran charged in a complaint filed at U.S. District Court that attempts to use foreign-flag ships for war cargoes have delayed delivery.

Curran cited a 1904 law that requires the use of ships flying the U.S. flag for transporting supplies for the armed forces unless the president finds that their rates are excessive or unreasonable.

Despite this law, Curran said, U.S. government officials tried to send military cargo on three foreign-flag ships last month. In one case, he said in the complaint, the Mexican government refused to permit a Mexican ship to sail to South Viet Nam.

The foreign crews of two Greek-flag ships also refused to carry military cargo for the United States.

Curran said the efforts to use foreign-flag vessels have delayed the shipments and affected military actions in South Viet Nam.

Red Congress Put Off

Moscow (AP)—The deadline for calling a Soviet Communist Party congress, fixed by party statutes, passed Monday without any public announcement of such a meeting This could indicate division among Soviet leaders.

Under party rules, a congress should be called every four years The last—the 22nd—was in October 1961. The rules require that a congress must be announced at least six weeks in advance

An important party central committee session is scheduled next week,but informed sources say the congress—theoretically the party's supreme ruling body of some 5,000 delegates—probably will be postponed until the spring of 1966.

Western diplomats read into the postponement signs of indecision and possibly even sharp division at the top of the Soviet hierarchy over policies and leadership personnel.

CARDINAL BERAN . . . leaves St. Peter's.

Czech Cardinal Argues For Religious Liberty

Vatican City (AP)—A once-imprisoned cardinal from Communist Czechoslovakia urged Monday adoption of a Roman Catholic declaration on religious liberty, but there were signs of moves to block the document in the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

A vote on the document—widely expected Monday—did not take place. Rumors sprang up of a new behind-the-scenes delaying offensive by conservative prelates.

The 12-cardinal presiding committee of the council met in secret amid reports they were discussing the vote procedure.

Undoubted Majority

Josef Cardinal Beran of Prague, who spent 16 years in communist confinement before his release to Rome last February, spoke for an undoubted majority of the 2,200 council prelates when he asked for a positive stand on religious liberty. He said the church's current suffering in his homeland might well be because of past repression of Protestantism there.

But the day passed without a vote.

There were still many bishops wanting to debate the declaration, and it was possible that council directors simply wanted everyone to have his say before calling for the vote.

The Rev. John Courtney Murray, American theologian who was a chief drafter of the text, said he was hopeful the vote would come Wednesday.

"I have good reason to believe that the holy father himself wishes a vote to be taken and that the holy father himself is in full agreement with the declaration's principles," he said.

First Speech

The appeal by Cardinal Beran, 77, his first speech to the council, brought ringing applause from his fellow prelates assembled in the central nave of St. Peter's Basilica.

He told the council his own experience confirmed that every man has the right to worship according to his conscience.

"From the very moment in which freedom of conscience was radically restricted in my country, I witnessed the grave temptation, which under such conditions, confront so many," he said.

Curran Wants So. Viet Nam Cargoes On U.S.-Flag Ships

Washington (UPI)—The National Maritime Union asked for a federal court order Monday to require Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to ship all U.S. military cargoes to Viet Nam in American-flag vessels.

Union President Joseph Curran charged in a complaint filed at U.S. District Court that attempts to use foreign-flag ships for war cargoes have delayed delivery.

Curran cited a 1904 law that requires the use of ships flying the U.S. flag for transporting supplies for the armed forces unless the president finds that their rates are excessive or unreasonable.

Despite this law, Curran said, U.S. government officials tried to send military cargo on three foreign-flag ships last month. In one case, he said in the complaint, the Mexican government refused to permit a Mexican ship to sail to South Viet Nam.

The foreign crews of two Greek-flag ships also refused to carry military cargo for the United States.

Curran said the efforts to use foreign-flag vessels have delayed the shipments and affected military actions in South Viet Nam.

Red Congress Put Off

Moscow (AP)—The deadline for calling a Soviet Communist Party congress, fixed by party statutes, passed Monday without any public announcement of such a meeting This could indicate division among Soviet leaders.

Under party rules, a congress should be called every four years The last—the 22nd—was in October 1961. The rules require that a congress must be announced at least six weeks in advance

An important party central committee session is scheduled next week,but informed sources say the congress—theorctically the party's supreme ruling body of some 5,000 delegates—probably will be postponed until the spring of 1966.

Western diplomats read into the postponement signs of indecision and possibly even sharp division at the top of the Soviet hierarchy over policies and leadership personnel.

Five Persons Face Charges In Mead Theft

. . . Probe Continuing

Wahoo (AP)—Saunders County Attorney Robert E. Sullivan filed charges against five persons, including two penitentiary guards, Monday as the outgrowth of an incident in which three inmates were discovered carrying foodstuffs from the penitentiary's farm station at Mead.

Sullivan said he had filed escape charges in District Court against Floyd Craig, 35, and had filed charges in County Court against Craig and two other inmates involved in the incident accusing them of petty larceny. The other two are Thomas McLaughlin, 47, and Chester Lee. McLaughlin and Lee also were charged with assisting Craig to escape.

Two Guards Charged

The county attorney said he had filed petit larceny charges against guards John Flagle of Yutan and Robert Chester of Ithaca, who were assigned to the Mead farm station. The charges involved the theft of foodstuffs and some copper stripping material belonging to the state which had been sold.

No date has been set for arraignments. Sullivan said the investigation is continuing

The thefts came to light last Wednesday when Craig, McLaughlin and Lee fled but were retaken shortly. They were found carrying foodstuffs taken from the farm's kitchen.

Ten prison personnel and about 35 inmates are stationed at the farm, a satellite detail designed to provide inmates with vocational training in agriculture.

In Lincoln state penal complex Warden Maurice Sigler disclosed that the two guards had been suspended last Thursday pending the outcome of the investigation Flagle had been a guard since June and Chester had been on the staff since September, 1964.

Nebraska's Enrollment Tops 15,100; Up 2,200

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin greeted Cornhusker faculty members Monday evening with news that the University of Nebraska this fall has enrolled a few more than 15,100 students, 2,200 more than last year and an all-time record.

While declaring the new increase may be the largest the university will experience in a single year for some time to come, the chancellor said the aim is "to come out of this decade a better university and not just a larger one."

He thanked faculty members for "the extraordinary effort so many of you have made during these past several weeks in order that we might disappoint as few students as possible" as classes were hurriedly enlarged to accommodate the great wave of new enrollments.

Faculty Dinner

The chancellor spoke at the university's annual faculty homecoming dinner attended by more than 500 teaching staff members at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

An enrollment growth of almost 5,000 students in three years, such as the university has experienced, is exciting and produces both problems and opportunities, he said.

University planning must receive great emphasis now and in the immediate future, the chancellor said. In the process, he said, "providing a learning opportunity of excellence for the undergraduate continues to be our largest responsibility, and it must command our best efforts "

Chancellor Hardin said he believes the university is now regarded as one that takes a special interest in the individual student and hopes that it "will continue to merit this kind of appraisal."

He asked that departmental members continue to give full recognition to good teaching along with research and publishing in drafting their recommendations for faculty promotions and salary adjustments.

The chancellor said the university still hopes to win substantial federal support for a program of development in the physical sciences and engineering and intends to seek also increased support for the biological sciences, social sciences, and humanities.

Planning Continues

He reported that the College of Medicine in proceeding with plans for a new hospital and clinic, new facilities for the basic sciences, and for a new library building.

"All of us," he said, "should be heartened by the action of the 1965 Nebraska legislature in approving the six-year program for capital improvements.

"Beyond the matter of specific dollars, I think all of us felt that there was a greater over-all appreciation (by the legislature) of the role of the university and the importance of the university to the development of Nebraska than we have ever known before."

Youth Drinking, Taxation Major Problems–Rockne

Omaha (AP)—Teen-age drinking and taxation are two major problems which continue to perplex the liquor industry, a regional supervisor of the Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., said Monday.

This observation was made by Lloyd Rockne of Minneapolis, who spoke to the Nebraska Beverage Association Monday.

Rockne said the association takes no stand on teen-age drinking because of the variance of state laws.

On taxes, he said from 51 to 52% of the shelf price goes to state and federal governments. He said that during the coming year, the tax revenue would be in excess of $5 billion, second only to corporate and income taxes.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff was on the program as banquet speaker Monday. New state officers wer installed at the banquet session.

Uniform Poll-Closing Time In Presidential Elections Urged

Omaha (AP)—Sen Carl T. Curtis R-Neb, called Monday for a uniform poll-closing time across the nation when a president and vice president are being elected

The Nebraska senator said in a luncheon address at the 32nd annual convention of the Nebraska Broadcasters Association he plans to introduce legislation next year calling for a uniform time for closing the polls in all 50 states in presidential elections.

Curtis said there is a distinction between reporting a campaign and reporting election results, and he contends broadcasting early returns from the eastern part of the United States, projected by the use of computers, wrongfully influences voting in the West and far West

"I firmly believe in the right of candidates and political parties to campaign, to carry their story to the people through all media of communications," he said "But election returns are something else Broadcasting election returns is purely a news reporting service It is reporting the results of the campaign and the election as distinguished from that which is intended to determine the results. "

Curtis said that when early returns from the East and projections are broadcast "What should be the objective reporting of an election becomes a broadcast that has many of the aspects of campaigning"

He said the answer does not lie in requiring news media to withhold news in their possession, but in fixing a uniform time for closing the polls.

He declared the Federal Communications Act itself recognizes broadcasting as part of the nation's press, protected by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

Beaver Dies; Ex-Speaker Of Legislature

Lincoln Star Special

Columbus — John Beaver, 69, of Columbus, former speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, died Monday in a Columbus hospital.

Mr. Beaver

Mr. Beaver is formerly from Beemer and served in the Unicameral from the twelfth district.

He is survived by his wife Adele.

Mr. Beaver was speaker of the Legislature in 1957 and served in the Unicameral from 1955 to 1959. From September, 1960, to January, 1961, he served as administrative assistant to former Gov. Dwight Burney.

Mr. Beaver also served as the 83rd Grand Master of the Nebraska Grand Lodge, AF&AM

A retired grocer, Mr. Beaver was first elected to the Legislature in 1951. He was graduated from Scribner High School and later served on the Ccribner Board of Education

A World War I veteran, he had served as commander and adjutant of the Beemer American Legion post. He had served on the Vilage Board at Beemer and was a former mayor of that town Affiliations also included the Lions Club

Services are pending.

Kaye Straight Bit Hard To Believe

San Francisco (AP)—Danny Kaye plans to conduct the San Francisco Symphony straight — pretty funny for a comedian.

"We will play the music straight," Kaye said Monday at a news conference. "No slopping through it But what comes between the numbers, well, it's not serious "

The comelian will perform with the symphony Dec. 5 at the War Memorial Opera House to raise money for the musicians' pension fund.

Citizens' School Group 'Worthwhile If Helpful'

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools were told Monday night that if the committee is helpful to disseminate information and satisfy parental requests for information," the school board considered it worthwhile

Lincoln Board of Education President Robert Wekesser offered the board's opinion at the advisory committee's meeting in which Supt. Steven Watkins announced that the board would "probably approve" elimination of an "approved photographers' list."

Watkins said that the recommendation to be submitted at the next Board of Education meeting, would "set up a few standards" which school pictures must meet, but would not involve a list of photographers for students to patronize

Discussion with school board members Wekesser and Dr. John Lux ranged from junior high physical education to determination of school policy but was dominated by communications problems

Often Quizzed

Advisory committee members, explaining that they were often quizzed about school policies and received numerous parental complaints, asked the board president and superintendent how information could be better publicized Members noted that they also needed to be better informed about background involved and specific points of policy decisions in order to answer questions

Watkins outlined the new school program coordinating and programming information for public use in Dr. Carroll Sawin's personnel office. He also suggested that advisory committee members, who represent junior high areas, familiarize themselves with the school policy manual.

He added that people should go to the administrative staff to find reasons for a policy and then go to the board if they want to object to it" it "

Questioned about the instigation of policy change Watkins indicated that policies start with requests from some interested groups Wekesser said that most of our ideas' come from administrative participation in professional conferences and other research

Tests Possible

The superintendent replied to committee members concern about participants in policy revisions saying you can't bring in everybody before a policy is determined" He added that plans and projects can be tested after they are put into effect

On other topics which were discussed

—Wekesser pointed out that the new junior high physical education policy was instituted to "allow more children to participate in athletics."

—Mrs I John Cooper president of Lincoln area Council PTA noted that since Wekesser became board president "discussions were more in the open and more background information was available "

In other business the Advisory committee set a new meeting date on the first Wednesday of each month and scheduled Oct 6 for listening to tapes on marriage, Nov 3 to study the junior high physical education program and Jan 5 to receive information from Ely Feistner and the Lincoln Education Association

FIRE LEVELS TENNESSEE STATE FAIR

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI) — Fire roared through the Tennessee State Fair, teeming with thousands of opening night visitors Monday night and reduced buildings, rides and sideshows to smoking embers

At least 10 persons were injured most of them victims of smoke inhalation

The fairgrounds is a complete loss," said Metro Fire Chief Russell Campbell. "There's no way to put a price on it "

Thousands of fairgoers were cleared from the grounds in south Nashville as orange smoke and flames that could be seen for miles billowed skyward.

Youth Drinking, Taxation Major Problems—Rockne

Omaha (AP)—Teen-age drinking and taxation are two major problems which continue to perplex the liquor industry, a regional supervisor of the Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., said Monday.

This observation was made by Lloyd Rockne of Minneapolis, who spoke to the Nebraska Beverage Association Monday.

Rockne said the association takes no stand on teen-age drinking because of the variance of state laws.

On taxes, he said from 51 to 52% of the shelf price goes to state and federal governments. He said that during the coming year, the tax revenue would be in excess of $5 billion, second only to corporate and income taxes.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff was on the program as banquet speaker Monday. New state officers wer installed at the banquet session.

British Firm To Leave

Amman, Jordan (AP) — The government has announced that the British-owned Cable & Wireless Co., which has run Jordan's international communications system for 17 years, will leave the country by the end of 1966. As a goodwill gesture, the company will train local employes and turn over its equipment to the Jordan government.

Uniform Poll-Closing Time In Presidential Elections Urged

Omaha (AP)—Sen Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb, called Monday for a uniform poll-closing time across the nation when a president and vice president are being elected

The Nebraska senator said in a luncheon address at the 32nd annual convention of the Nebraska Broadcasters Association he plans to introduce legislation next year calling for a uniform time for closing the polls in all 50 states in presidential elections.

Curtis said there is a distinction between reporting a campaign and reporting election results, and he contends broadcasting early returns from the eastern part of the United States, projected by the use of computers, wrongfully influences voting in the West and far West

"I firmly believe in the right of candidates and political parties to campaign, to carry their story to the people through all media of communications," he said "But election returns are something else. Broadcasting election returns is purely a news reporting service. It is reporting the results of the campaign and the election as distinguished from that which is intended to determine the results."

Curtis said that when early returns from the East and projections are broadcast "What should be the objective reporting of an election becomes a broadcast that has many of the aspects of campaigning"

He said the answer does not lie in requiring news media to withhold news in their possession, but in fixing a uniform time for closing the polls.

He declared the Federal Communications Act itself recognizes broadcasting as part of the nation's press, protected by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

Beaver Dies; Ex-Speaker Of Legislature

Lincoln Star Special

Columbus — John Beaver, 69, of Columbus, former speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, died Monday in a Columbus hospital.

Mr. Beaver

Mr. Beaver is formerly from Beemer and served in the Unicameral from the twelfth district.

He is survived by his wife Adele.

Mr. Beaver was speaker of the Legislature in 1957 and served in the Unicameral from 1955 to 1959. From September, 1960, to January, 1961, he served as administrative assistant to former Gov. Dwight Burney.

Mr. Beaver also served as the 83rd Grand Master of the Nebraska Grand Lodge, AF&AM.

A retired grocer, Mr. Beaver was first elected to the Legislature in 1951. He was graduated from Scribner High School and later served on the Ccribner Board of Education.

A World War I veteran, he had served as commander and adjutant of the Beemer American Legion post. He had served on the Vilage Board at Beemer and was a former mayor of that town. Affiliations also included the Lions Club.

Services are pending.

Kaye Straight Bit Hard To Believe

San Francisco (AP)—Danny Kaye plans to conduct the San Francisco Symphony straight — pretty funny for a comedian.

"We will play the music straight," Kaye said Monday at a news conference. "No slopping through it. But what comes between the numbers, well, it's not serious."

The comelian will perform with the symphony Dec. 5 at the War Memorial Opera House to raise money for the musicians' pension fund.

Citizens' School Group 'Worthwhile If Helpful'

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools were told Monday night that "if the committee is helpful to disseminate information and satisfy parental requests for information," the school board considered it worthwhile.

Lincoln Board of Education President Robert Wekesser offered the board's opinion at the advisory committee's meeting in which Supt. Steven Watkins announced that the board would "probably approve" elimination of an "approved photographers' list."

Watkins said that the recommendation, to be submitted at the next Board of Education meeting, would "set up a few standards" which school pictures must meet, but would not involve a list of photographers for students to patronize.

Discussion with school board members Wekesser and Dr. John Lux ranged from junior high physical education to determination of school policy, but was dominated by communications problems.

Often Quizzed

Advisory committee members, explaining that they were often quizzed about school policies and received numerous parental complaints, asked the board president and superintendent how information could be better publicized. Members noted that they also needed to be better informed about background involved and specific points of policy decisions in order to answer questions.

Watkins outlined the new school program coordinating and programming information for public use in Dr. Carroll Sawin's personnel office. He also suggested that advisory committee members, who represent junior high areas, familiarize themselves with the school policy manual.

He added that people should "go to the administrative staff to find reasons for a policy and then go to the board if they want to object to it." it."

Questioned about the instigation of policy change, Watkins indicated that "policies start with requests from some interested groups." Wekesser said that "most of our ideas" come from administrative participation in professional conferences and other research.

Tests Possible

The superintendent replied to committee members' concern about participants in policy revisions saying, "you can't bring in everybody before a policy is determined." He added that plans and projects can be "tested after they are put into effect."

On other topics which were discussed:

—Wekesser pointed out that the new junior high physical education policy was instituted to "allow more children to participate in athletics."

—Mrs. L. John Cooper, president of Lincoln area Council PTA, noted that since Wekesser became board president, "discussions were more in the open and more background information was available."

In other business the Advisory committee set a new meeting date on the first Wednesday of each month and scheduled Oct. 6 for listening to tapes on marriage, Nov. 3 to study the junior high physical education program and Jan. 5 to receive information from Ely Feistner and the Lincoln Education Association.

FIRE LEVELS TENNESSEE STATE FAIR

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI) — Fire roared through the Tennessee State Fair, teeming with thousands of opening night visitors, Monday night and reduced buildings, rides and sideshows to smoking embers.

At least 10 persons were injured, most of them victims of smoke inhalation.

"The fairgrounds is a complete loss," said Metro Fire Chief Russell Campbell. "There's no way to put a price on it."

Thousands of fairgoers were cleared from the grounds in south Nashville as orange smoke and flames that could be seen for miles billowed skyward.

What Will They Say?

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Council of Communities has what some people might think is a tough job. It is their task to improve the relationship between citizens and city government. Putting it another way it calls for happy taxpayers and those are hard to come by. Toward this end, the group of appointed citizens will be distributing a questionnaire asking the people of Lincoln what they think of their city government

What kind of answers will be returned to the council? You can bet that a great variety of subjects will be covered. No department of the city will be forgotten when all the answers are totaled up. There will be answers in high praise of city government and in violent denunciation. There will be answers that stem from fact and some that come from the imagination. Law enforcement, for instance, will come in for its share of comment. Some people like law enforcement so long as it isn't applied against them and if they haven't gotten a traffic or parking ticket lately may credit the police with doing a good job.

Answers Will Run Gamut

Still others will be sincere but will fail to understand that the Lincoln Police Department is undermanned and has been for a long period of years. And still others will demonstrate an appreciation of the difficult job of law enforcement, though they may or may not have suggestions for improvement.

A new feature of public life this summer has been the Lincoln Children's Zoo. This is not yet city government since it is still under the Lincoln Children's Zoo Association but it is commonly associated with city government and, probably before next summer's season, will be transferred from the association to the city.

Current status of the zoo will not discourage comments, however, and they will range from glowing to glowering. It is safe to say that anyone who understands the history of the development of the zoo will find nothing to criticize in the physical plant or exhibits. A remarkable job was done in opening the zoo this summer and the 61,440 people who have toured the premises have been amply rewarded. Only one fairly constant point of criticism has been heard—that relating to the price of admission. It costs 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults to enter the zoo. The facility is worth what it costs to get in and more but that isn't the whole story.

Some families still find it tough to scrape up the $2 admission fee for two adults and four children. Some people maintain that because of the cost of admission they and their families have yet to see the new zoo. Perhaps this would be the case if the tickets were pegged at half their current price but some unhappiness on this score has been registered. The purpose of admissions is to help pay the continuing cost of the operation as well as to discourage loitering in the area, particularly by children who could become a nuisance if they could come and go in the zoo as they please at no expense. Both reasons are valid and the admission price established, considering all things, would seem to be little, if any, out of line. It is hoped, however, that those associated with the project keep in mind that money making is not the idea of the zoo and its purpose is public enjoyment, even if that means some tax support.

Traffic is another subject apt to show up in the council questionnaire. We have seen some good things done in Lincoln since the city hired a traffic engineer and the fruits of this investment will show up more and more in the future. We are still a long way from home, however, in traffic matters.

Not all things that have been done are working, either, such as some of the turn movement encouraged through the use of painted lanes at important intersections. Left turns going south on 27th onto Capital Parkway are actually hindered by the lane arrangement enforced there with yellow lines. Traffic movement is needlessly slowed rather than improved.

Also, Lincoln persists in being far behind in the painting of lanes on four-lane arterials such as O St. Lane painting ought to be one of the least expensive and most productive traffic movement helps there is but it is doubtful if there is a city in the land more niggardly with paint than Lincoln. New signalization of many intersections, new street marker signs and miles of added sidewalk should produce words of praise. City parks would muster their share of criticism in any questionnaire, some of it constructive, some not. But the overall attitude on parks and recreation should reflect a program greatly accelerated in the past few years.

City Saves On Paint

Other comments received by the council will point up the strengths and weaknesses of the public relations attitude of various departments of the city. Even if he knows he is wrong, a citizen given short treatment by a public official is an unhappy citizen. Much of last year is now forgotten and if the questionnaire goes out soon enough citizens will have had no reminders of the good and bad points of snow removal and ice treatment.

Glass Company Gets Sugar Quota

Editor's Note. Drew Pearson is on a news-gathering tour of Africa. In his absence the column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — House Agriculture Chairman Harold Cooley, who has been curiously gullible to the sweet talk of the sugar lobbyists, has rammed through his committee a million-dollar sugar quota for the Owens-Illinois Glass Company

Technically, the committee voted a 10,000-ton quota for the Bahama Islands, but the entire windfall would go to Owens-Illinois — which is famous for its glass, paper and plastics but has never produced a pound of sugar in its corporate history.

Unless the House balks at Cooley's request, the American taxpayers will be compelled to shell out $1,000,000 a year to put Owens-Illinois in the sugar business.

Here are the amazing statistics:

Once the quota is granted, the taxpayers must pay 6.75 cents a pound for 10,000 tons of sugar which would sell on the world market for 1.75 cents a pound. In other words the taxpayers will be stuck for $100 a ton over the world price, which adds up to a cool $1,000,000-a-year giveaway for Owens-Illinois.

Several countries have been battling for a share of Uncle Sam's sugar money; some have hired high-priced lobbyists to plead their case before Cooley's committee. But the Bahama Islands didn't even put in a bid.

☆ ☆ ☆

The quota request came not from the government but from Owens-Illinois, which sent a company vice president, Hugh Laughlin, around to see committee members. He also made his pitch behind closed doors of the Agriculture Committee.

Though the world is producing too much sugar, Cooley cheerfully granted a 10,000-ton quota to a country which has yet to plant its first acre.

The entire production will be grown on greater Abaco Island, where Owens-Illinois has been cutting pulpwood. With the lumber about exhausted, the company has been looking around for another crop. Experts tested the soil, studied the climate, and suggested sugar.

Raymond Mulford, company president, explained to this column: "We are the largest employer in the Bahamas. We feel quite a responsibility for the 500 people we employ on Abaco. We have also installed an elaborate and excellent network of roads, docking facilities, power plants and a small hospital. We don't want all this to go back to jungle."

The question is whether the American taxpayers should pay $1,000,000 a year to keep Owens-Illinois in business in the Bahamas.

Note: Congressman Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., led the closed-door fight against the windfall. But he is a freshman without influence or seniority, no match for the powerful committee chairman.

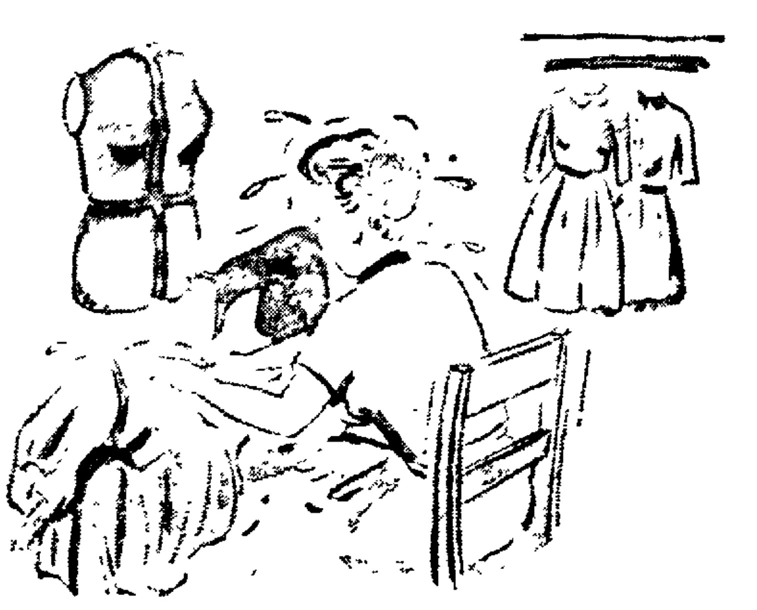
LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country



There is something different in the sky and air, of late. It tells us that summer days are gone. A flock of sparrows on the lawn were talking of this when I went out to pick marigolds this evening. Last night, being rather a chill evening, brought the first big flock of sparrows to the juniper trees for added warmth. I do not like sparrows but when I hear their chirps and sleepy good-night cheep-cheeping from the evergreen boughs, I lose all my scorn for them. I think of how they huddle together beneath the snow-laden boughs in winter, coming out into the wind only long enough to eat, then flitting back, shaking the snow from the branches. Their song is just as happy as it was last night when they selected the juniper tree.

I certainly cannot find anything to sing about in the dead of winter when I am out in the cold, blustery weather.

This afternoon when I took lunch to The Farmer in the field, I crossed the roadside ditch where the wild roses bloomed in summer. Now the bright red rose hips have replaced the flowers. Across the road, the hedge apples hang and the long brown pods of the locust trees rustle in the wind. The white clouds of fragrant wild plum blossoms that nodded to the warm breezes when The Farmer was just beginning to till the land for spring planting now hang heavy with ripening fruit.

The orchard has a subtle blend of scents . . . one of ripening pears mellowing in the warm sunlight . . . another of apples . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

Along about this time of year, I always find myself saying, "It can't be . . . autumn came too quickly . . . I scarcely had time to convince myself that summer had arrived. Always I plan so many things for summer when, who-o-o-sh, it's gone and I have to adjust my thinking to autumn. If I don't watch out, Christmas will be sneaking along and I will find myself saying, "It can't be . . . it just can't be."

Maybe the swift passage of time is peculiar to old age for it seems the older I get, the faster time flies.

Small children have no script writers, yet they can keep a regular flow of comic banter going with little effort. One such child was visiting her grandmother. When a fried chicken was brought to the table, she was asked if she would like a drumstick.

"I would rather have a wing and two necks," replied the little girl.

It has been many years since I was a little girl but my parents tell of the time when I was put to bed one night for my usual slumber. I had not been in bed long when I called to my father to come into the bedroom and light the lamp so I could see to go to sleep.

The Farmer has the combine ready for the milo harvest. He has decided to sow wheat before beginning the harvest, although several farmers in this area have started. They have dryers and can bring the moisture content down to a safe storage point. Much of the milo is going down which has hastened the cutting. When the heavy heads of grain fall to the ground, it makes cutting it an added chore. One neighbor has added the new snap-on combine attachments for getting milo that is down or leaning.

Many women sew all their clothes. Others find a dress pattern, buy the cloth and happily stitch their material together. They enjoy sewing and find it a form of relaxation. I, too, enjoy sewing, but mine becomes a job . . . a real frustrating task sometimes.

It has been ten years since I have made any of my clothes, mainly because I could not find the time. I decided it would be fun to take needle in hand, make darts and tucks once more. I have completed two dresses and am finishing the third. At the rate I am going on the last dress, I will be completing it for a long time. I am certain I will not need to wonder what "pick-up" work I have handy in the next couple of weeks.

I am back in the old groove of not having the time I had a short while ago. But I have convinced myself there is another spring coming, should I not finish the third dress this year. Fortunately it can be worn either season.

Erhard Wins

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democratic party proved again, in Sunday's elections, that it is the favorite of West Germany.

The Erhard administration was returned to power decisively with a total of 15,392,973 votes. Its only real rival was the Social Democratic party, supporting Berlin Mayor Willy Bandt. It got 12,711,726. These two parties got 81.5 per cent of the West German vote. This was sufficient to reduce Germany's three other political parties to the role of barely consequential splinter groups.

What does this mean to the United States? Mainly that the Christian Democrats, who first named Konrad Adenauer to the chancellorship in the reconstruction days after World War II, still holds the loyalty of the German people, now five elections later.

Despite changes which have taken place in Europe with increasing influence for nationalism, the close political friendship between Germany and the United States shows no signs of break. As with our friendship with Great Britain the German-American ties are firm. It is apt to remain so for an indefintie period.

Growing nationalism is usually accompanied by warlike attitudes. But we doubt that Germany will again fall prey to military ambition. In World War II it took an incredible flight from reality for a Germany of 70 million people to take on a collection of the world's most populous and productive nations, numbering in all more than a half billion people. The odds were never good enough to warrant thoughts of ultimate victory. How much less now with a Germany of 35 million.

Success Hoped On No. 9th

Every citizen should hope for the success of a recently announced venture of private enterprise. The venture involves negotiations now under way for the development of the northeast corner of 9th and R as a motel.

Now a motel is not the kind of industry about which a community does handsprings from a job point of view. It is a low volume employment industry considering some of the giants in the manufacturing business today.

But a motel is not to be sneezed at. The business is one that has changed substantially over the years. With the service, including food, that now goes with most motels such employment can be quite helpful to a community.

But more than that, if this venture goes through it will bring an improvement to an area of the city that has long been in a state of deterioration. The area is marked by one or two recent improvements and one or two long time operations that are an asset but much of its character is poor

Many empty structures are found in the area and many uses along 9th all the way through Lincoln are unappealing from an aesthetic point of view. The motel at 9th and R would be a stimulant to the improvement of the immediate environs as well as an even larger area.

This is just one of the results of the new Interstate that now skirts Lincoln on the north and will soon cross the entire state. The influence of this super highway will continue to be felt as the years go by.

What Is The Right Haircut?

School administrators and most of the adult population are at war again with youth. This time it is over the proper way to wear the hair.

We don't believe anyone will win in this piece of competition. And adults who assume they are so wise would best forebear. Youth is changeable and to a considerable degree non-conformist. The long hair craze among boys will end as quickly as it began, only to be replaced with something else that will inflame the adults.

What is the proper way to wear the hair? We do not know, nor do we believe anyone knows. Professor Einstein went through life with his long hair in wild disarray. Abraham Lincoln had an early type Beatle haircut, plus a beard, and we thought highly of both and never ventured a criticism. Certainly the original men had no rules on hair. It grew in profusion in all directions. George Washington and his generation wore great white wigs. Today you couldn't hire anyone but a low comic to don one.

And we advise the adults to get out the snap shots of 30 years ago and such clothes we wore! Try to get someone to wear the same things today. We are as guilty as anyone. But increasing age turns one more and more to conformity.

We have a feeling that back of these Beatle haircuts is something quite apart from the hair itself. It is a form of adult aggravation in which the new generation is trying to tell us that we haven't done nearly as good a job as we believe and that they see no point in doing exactly as we would have them do. And they are in part right. But a piece of impudence that arouses us is a successful piece. And once again we are playing into the hands of youth.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Poor Nations Grow Steadily Poorer

WASHINGTON—The rich lands are getting richer and the poor lands are getting poorer. That is the harsh reality that cannot be concealed by any amount of wishful talk put out by administration spokesmen.

This applies with special force to Latin America since the Alliance For Progress was to reverse the trend in this hemisphere. In country after country the gnawing ache of poverty, hunger, and the revolution of rising demands bring unrest and disorder. It is no answer, as Sen. J. William Fulbright noted in his speech on the Dominican crisis, to put this down to the machinations of a handful of communists. Communism will always try to exploit indigenous disorder.

A recent statement that got too little attention underwrites the reality about Latin America. Felipe Herrera, president of the Inter-American Development Bank, a Chilean with wide banking experience, in discussing the prospect of a common market for Latin America, made some personal observations about the present state of affairs. He said:

"The positive efforts undertaken internally by the Latin-American countries, especially since the establishment of the Alliance For Progress, to accelerate development and to achieve the necessary reforms in their economic and social structures have not yet substantially altered the current situation in Latin America. Two out of three inhabitants of the region still suffer from chronic malnutrition, per capita agricultural output is lower today than it was 30 years ago and two out of every five adults are illiterate.

"It is not surprising therefore that tensions of every sort are rising as a product of the interacting processes of inflation, substandard social conditions, urban pressures created by the mass movement of the rural population to the cities, frustration in the middle class and unrest in the countryside. This inevitably has forced governments to take emergency action on a stopgap basis and has made it difficult to undertake long term programs on a regional level."

Since 1961 the long term public capital supplied by the developed countries to countries struggling to get going has held at about the same level. This has been true even though the gross national product of the industrialized countries has increased during this period at a rate of 4 to 5 per cent a year, consequently, Herrera observed, the net official assistance from the industrialized countries represents a declining percentage of their national income.

For the underdeveloped countries this level of aid has meant a decreasing amount in per capita terms because of the population explosion. This is the simple arithmetic demonstrating that the rich are getting rich while the poor get poorer.

Value Considerations

Lincoln, Neb.

In the recent commotion about the assessments and value of a house purchased by the University, several important items have been overlooked. Nebraska law calls for assessments to be made on the basis of what the property is worth, not what the property costs.

Few people would care to argue that the property is worth more than the $99,500 quoted as the selling price even though the owner has a great deal more than that invested. Completely overlooked is the fact that the selling price could have been a great deal more or a great deal less without changing the actual value of the house a particle.

Every community has a practical ceiling on values. This accounts for the fact that a house in one town might sell for $20,000 while in another town the same house might bring only $5,000. For years in Lincoln, $75,000 has been the very top price paid for a dwelling even though many houses cost more than this amount to build. If construction cost is to determine value, the need for wholesale revisions in the assessments of farm property is evident. A forty-story office building in Wahoo would cost millions of dollars but it would be nearly valueless because of the lack of tenants. Should cost be the criterion?

Equally important is the fact that government quite regularly pays more for property than private individuals. Who wants assessments based on what the state generally pays for property of any kind? Who can say what the result might have been if the sale had been to a private individual?

Another significant thought comes to mind, too. Frequently property sells for less than the assessor's value. In one Lincoln instance the selling price was many thousands of dollars below the assessor's value. Why was there no publicity about this?

About all that can be said is that appraising real estate is not an exact science. Assessors and appraisers are going to be over and under selling prices and only rarely will they be within 10 percent. It is the average of all selling prices that is controlling. One sale is of no value in determining the level of assessments.

Self Help

Lincoln, Neb.

Amish men who refuse to send their children to public schools are now threatened with penalties, possibly even seizure of their properties.

The House Is Okay

Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Riley Green of Wauneta may be right in ascertaining that someone has a good deal going in the leasing of a home for the University of Nebraska chancellor.

Quick mathematics, as he terms it, ascertain that the house would cost $200,500. However, Mr. Green missed the boat when he said "or $7,500 a year." At that rate it would cost $263,500. I have come to the conclusion that I am glad that I don't have any money in his bank.

As Regent Clarence Swanson said, "It has been known for a long time that the University of Nebraska needed a chancellor's residence commensurate with the stature of the job."

It is very evident that the present residence does not meet this standard. In fact it is greatly outdated.

What Will They Say?

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Council of Communities has what some people might think is a tough job. It is their task to improve the relationship between citizens and city government. Putting it another way it calls for happy taxpayers and those are hard to come by. Toward this end, the group of appointed citizens will be distributing a questionnaire asking the people of Lincoln what they think of their city government.

What kind of answers will be returned to the council? You can bet that a great variety of subjects will be covered. No department of the city will be forgotten when all the answers are totaled up. There will be answers in high praise of city government and in violent denunciation. There will be answers that stem from fact and some that come from the imagination. Law enforcement, for instance, will come in for its share of comment. Some people like law enforcement so long as it isn't applied against them and if they haven't gotten a traffic or parking ticket lately may credit the police with doing a good job.

Answers Will Run Gamut

Still others will be sincere but will fail to understand that the Lincoln Police Department is undermanned and has been for a long period of years. And still others will demonstrate an appreciation of the difficult job of law enforcement, though they may or may not have suggestions for improvement.

A new feature of public life this summer has been the Lincoln Children's Zoo. This is not yet city government since it is still under the Lincoln Children's Zoo Association but it is commonly associated with city government and, probably before next summer's season, will be transferred from the association to the city.

Current status of the zoo will not discourage comments, however, and they will range from glowing to glowering. It is safe to say that anyone who understands the history of the development of the zoo will find nothing to criticize in the physical plant or exhibits. A remarkable job was done in opening the zoo this summer and the 61,440 people who have toured the premises have been amply rewarded. Only one fairly constant point of criticism has been heard—that relating to the price of admission. It costs 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults to enter the zoo. The facility is worth what it costs to get in and more but that isn't the whole story.

Some families still find it tough to scrape up the $2 admission fee for two adults and four children. Some people maintain that because of the cost of admission they and their families have yet to see the new zoo. Perhaps this would be the case if the tickets were pegged at half their current price but some unhappiness on this score has been registered. The purpose of admissions is to help pay the continuing cost of the operation as well as to discourage loitering in the area, particularly by children who could become a nuisance if they could come and go in the zoo as they please at no expense. Both reasons are valid and the admission price established, considering all things, would seem to be little, if any, out of line. It is hoped, however, that those associated with the project keep in mind that money making is not the idea of the zoo and its purpose is public enjoyment, even if that means some tax support.

Traffic is another subject apt to show up in the council questionnaire. We have seen some good things done in Lincoln since the city hired a traffic engineer and the fruits of this investment will show up more and more in the future. We are still a long way from home, however, in traffic matters.

Not all things that have been done are working, either, such as some of the turn movement encouraged through the use of painted lanes at important intersections. Left turns going south on 27th onto Capital Parkway are actually hindered by the lane arrangement enforced there with yellow lines. Traffic movement is needlessly slowed rather than improved.

Also, Lincoln persists in being far behind in the painting of lanes on four-lane arterials such as O St. Lane painting ought to be one of the least expensive and most productive traffic movement helps there is but it is doubtful if there is a city in the land more niggardly with paint than Lincoln. New signalization of many intersections, new street marker signs and miles of added sidewalk should produce words of praise. City parks would muster their share of criticism in any questionnaire, some of it constructive, some not. But the overall attitude on parks and recreation should reflect a program greatly accelerated in the past few years.

City Saves On Paint

Other comments received by the council will point up the strengths and weaknesses of the public relations attitude of various departments of the city. Even if he knows he is wrong, a citizen given short treatment by a public official is an unhappy citizen. Much of last year is now forgotten and if the questionnaire goes out soon enough citizens will have had no reminders of the good and bad points of snow removal and ice treatment.

Erhard Wins

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democratic party proved again, in Sunday's elections, that it is the favorite of West Germany.

The Erhard administration was returned to power decisively with a total of 15,392,973 votes. Its only real rival was the Social Democratic party, supporting Berlin Mayor Willy Bandt. It got 12,711,726. These two parties got 81.5 per cent of the West German vote. This was sufficient to reduce Germany's three other political parties to the role of barely consequential splinter groups.

What does this mean to the United States? Mainly that the Christian Democrats, who first named Konrad Adenauer to the chancellorship in the reconstruction days after World War II, still holds the loyalty of the German people, now five elections later.

Despite changes which have taken place in Europe with increasing influence for nationalism, the close political friendship between Germany and the United States shows no signs of break. As with our friendship with Great Britain the German-American ties are firm. It is apt to remain so for an indefintie period.

Growing nationalism is usually accompanied by warlike attitudes. But we doubt that Germany will again fall prey to military ambition. In World War II it took an incredible flight from reality for a Germany of 70 million people to take on a collection of the world's most populous and productive nations, numbering in all more than a half billion people. The odds were never good enough to warrant thoughts of ultimate victory. How much less now with a Germany of 35 million.

Success Hoped On No. 9th

Every citizen should hope for the success of a recently announced venture of private enterprise. The venture involves negotiations now under way for the development of the northeast corner of 9th and R as a motel.

Now a motel is not the kind of industry about which a community does handsprings from a job point of view. It is a low volume employment industry considering some of the giants in the manufacturing business today.

But a motel is not to be sneezed at. The business is one that has changed substantially over the years. With the service, including food, that now goes with most motels such employment can be quite helpful to a community.

But more than that, if this venture goes through it will bring an improvement to an area of the city that has long been in a state of deterioration. The area is marked by one or two recent improvements and one or two long time operations that are an asset but much of its character is poor.

Many empty structures are found in the area and many uses along 9th all the way through Lincoln are unappealing from an aesthetic point of view. The motel at 9th and R would be a stimulant to the improvement of the immediate environs as well as an even larger area.

This is just one of the results of the new Interstate that now skirts Lincoln on the north and will soon cross the entire state. The influence of this super highway will continue to be felt as the years go by.

What Is The Right Haircut?

School administrators and most of the adult population are at war again with youth. This time it is over the proper way to wear the hair.

We don't believe anyone will win in this piece of competition. And adults who assume they are so wise would best forebear. Youth is changeable and to a considerable degree non-conformist. The long hair craze among boys will end as quickly as it began, only to be replaced with something else that will inflame the adults.

What is the proper way to wear the hair? We do not know, nor do we believe anyone knows. Professor Einstein went through life with his long hair in wild disarray. Abraham Lincoln had an early type Beatle haircut, plus a beard, and we thought highly of both and never ventured a criticism. Certainly the original men had no rules on hair. It grew in profusion in all directions. George Washington and his generation wore great white wigs. Today you couldn't hire anyone but a low comic to don one.

And we advise the adults to get out the snap shots of 30 years ago and such clothes we wore! Try to get someone to wear the same things today. We are as guilty as anyone. But increasing age turns one more and more to conformity.

We have a feeling that back of these Beatle haircuts is something quite apart from the hair itself. It is a form of adult aggravation in which the new generation is trying to tell us that we haven't done nearly as good a job as we believe and that they see no point in doing exactly as we would have them do. And they are in part right. But a piece of impudence that arouses us is a successful piece. And once again we are playing into the hands of youth.

Glass Company Gets Sugar Quota

Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on a news-gathering tour of Africa. In his absence the column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — House Agriculture Chairman Harold Cooley, who has been curiously gullible to the sweet talk of the sugar lobbyists, has rammed through his committee a million-dollar sugar quota for the Owens-Illinois Glass Company.

Technically, the committee voted a 10,000-ton quota for the Bahama Islands, but the entire windfall would go to Owens-Illinois — which is famous for its glass, paper and plastics but has never produced a pound of sugar in its corporate history.

Unless the House balks at Cooley's request, the American taxpayers will be compelled to shell out $1,000,000 a year to put Owens-Illinois in the sugar business.

Here are the amazing statistics:

Once the quota is granted, the taxpayers must pay 6.75 cents a pound for 10,000 tons of sugar which would sell on the world market for 1.75 cents a pound. In other words the taxpayers will be stuck for $100 a ton over the world price, which adds up to a cool $1,000,000-a-year giveaway for Owens-Illinois.

Several countries have been battling for a share of Uncle Sam's sugar money; some have hired high-priced lobbyists to plead their case before Cooley's committee. But the Bahama Islands didn't even put in a bid.

☆ ☆ ☆

The quota request came not from the government but from Owens-Illinois, which sent a company vice president, Hugh Laughlin, around to see committee members. He also made his pitch behind closed doors of the Agriculture Committee.

Though the world is producing too much sugar, Cooley cheerfully granted a 10,000-ton quota to a country which has yet to plant its first acre.

The entire production will be grown on greater Abaco Island, where Owens-Illinois has been cutting pulpwood. With the lumber about exhausted, the company has been looking around for another crop. Experts tested the soil, studied the climate, and suggested sugar.

Raymond Mulford, company president, explained to this column: "We are the largest employer in the Bahamas. We feel quite a responsibility for the 500 people we employ on Abaco. We have also installed an elaborate and excellent network of roads, docking facilities, power plants and a small hospital. We don't want all this to go back to jungle."

The question is whether the American taxpayers should pay $1,000,000 a year to keep Owens-Illinois in business in the Bahamas.

Note: Congressman Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., led the closed-door fight against the windfall. But he is a freshman without influence or seniority, no match for the powerful committee chairman.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Poor Nations Grow Steadily Poorer

WASHINGTON—The rich lands are getting richer and the poor lands are getting poorer. That is the harsh reality that cannot be concealed by any amount of wishful talk put out by administration spokesmen.

This applies with special force to Latin America since the Alliance For Progress was to reverse the trend in this hemisphere. In country after country the gnawing ache of poverty, hunger, and the revolution of rising demands bring unrest and disorder. It is no answer, as Sen. J. William Fulbright noted in his speech on the Dominican crisis, to put this down to the machinations of a handful of communists. Communism will always try to exploit indigenous disorder.

A recent statement that got too little attention underwrites the reality about Latin America. Felipe Herrera, president of the Inter-American Development Bank, a Chilean with wide banking experience, in discussing the prospect of a common market for Latin America, made some personal observations about the present state of affairs. He said:

"The positive efforts undertaken internally by the Latin-American countries, especially since the establishment of the Alliance For Progress, to accelerate development and to achieve the necessary reforms in their economic and social structures have not yet substantially altered the current situation in Latin America. Two out of three inhabitants of the region still suffer from chronic malnutrition, per capita agricultural output is lower today than it was 30 years ago and two out of every five adults are illiterate.

"It is not surprising therefore that tensions of every sort are rising as a product of the interacting processes of inflation, substandard social conditions, urban pressures created by the mass movement of the rural population to the cities, frustration in the middle class and unrest in the countryside. This inevitably has forced governments to take emergency action on a stopgap basis and has made it difficult to undertake long term programs on a regional level."

Since 1961 the long term public capital supplied by the developed countries to countries struggling to get going has held at about the same level. This has been true even though the gross national product of the industrialized countries has increased during this period at a rate of 4 to 5 per cent a year, consequently, Herrera observed, the net official assistance from the industrialized countries represents a declining percentage of their national income.

For the underdeveloped countries this level of aid has meant a decreasing amount in per capita terms because of the population explosion. This is the simple arithmetic demonstrating that the rich are getting rich while the poor get poorer.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

There is something different in the sky and air, of late. It tells us that summer days are gone. A flock of sparrows on the lawn were talking of this when I went out to pick marigolds this evening. Last night, being rather a chill evening, brought the first big flock of sparrows to the juniper trees for added warmth. I do not like sparrows but when I hear their chirps and sleepy good-night cheep-cheeping from the evergreen boughs, I lose all my scorn for them. I think of how they huddle together beneath the snow-laden boughs in winter, coming out into the wind only long enough to eat, then flitting back, shaking the snow from the branches. Their song is just as happy as it was last night when they selected the juniper tree.

I certainly cannot find anything to sing about in the dead of winter when I am out in the cold, blustery weather.

☆ ☆ ☆

This afternoon when I took lunch to The Farmer in the field, I crossed the roadside ditch where the wild roses bloomed in summer. Now the bright red rose hips have replaced the flowers. Across the road, the hedge apples hang and the long brown pods of the locust trees rustle in the wind. The white clouds of fragrant wild plum blossoms that nodded to the warm breezes when The Farmer was just beginning to till the land for spring planting now hang heavy with ripening fruit.

The orchard has a subtle blend of scents . . . one of ripening pears mellowing in the warm sunlight . . . another of apples . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

Along about this time of year, I always find myself saying, "It can't be . . . autumn came too quickly . . . I scarcely had time to convince myself that summer had arrived. Always I plan so many things for summer when, who-o-o-sh, it's gone and I have to adjust my thinking to autumn. If I don't watch out, Christmas will be sneaking along and I will find myself saying, "It can't be . . . it just can't be."

Maybe the swift passage of time is peculiar to old age for it seems the older I get, the faster time flies.

Small children have no script writers, yet they can keep a regular flow of comic banter going with little effort. One such child was visiting her grandmother. When a fried chicken was brought to the table, she was asked if she would like a drumstick.

"I would rather have a wing and two necks," replied the little girl.

It has been many years since I was a little girl but my parents tell of the time when I was put to bed one night for my usual slumber. I had not been in bed long when I called to my father to come into the bedroom and light the lamp so I could see to go to sleep.

The Farmer has the combine ready for the milo harvest. He has decided to sow wheat before beginning the harvest, although several farmers in this area have started. They have dryers and can bring the moisture content down to a safe storage point. Much of the milo is going down which has hastened the cutting. When the heavy heads of grain fall to the ground, it makes cutting it an added chore. One neighbor has added the new snap-on combine attachments for getting milo that is down or leaning.

Many women sew all their clothes. Others find a dress pattern, buy the cloth and happily stitch their material together. They enjoy sewing and find it a form of relaxation. I, too, enjoy sewing, but mine becomes a job . . . a real frustrating task sometimes.

It has been ten years since I have made any of my clothes, mainly because I could not find the time. I decided it would be fun to take needle in hand, make darts and tucks once more. I have completed two dresses and am finishing the third. At the rate I am going on the last dress, I will be completing it for a long time. I am certain I will not need to wonder what "pick-up" work I have handy in the next couple of weeks.

I am back in the old groove of not having the time I had a short while ago. But I have convinced myself there is another spring coming, should I not finish the third dress this year. Fortunately it can be worn either season.

Value Considerations

Lincoln, Neb.

In the recent commotion about the assessments and value of a house purchased by the University, several important items have been overlooked. Nebraska law calls for assessments to be made on the basis of what the property is worth, not what the property costs.

Few people would care to argue that the property is worth more than the $99,500 quoted as the selling price even though the owner has a great deal more than that invested. Completely overlooked is the fact that the selling price could have been a great deal more or a great deal less without changing the actual value of the house a particle.

Every community has a practical ceiling on values. This accounts for the fact that a house in one town might sell for $20,000 while in another town the same house might bring only $5,000. For years in Lincoln, $75,000 has been the very top price paid for a dwelling even though many houses cost more than this amount to build. If construction cost is to determine value, the need for wholesale revisions in the assessments of farm property is evident. A forty-story office building in Wahoo would cost millions of dollars but it would be nearly valueless because of the lack of tenants. Should cost be the criterion?

Equally important is the fact that government quite regularly pays more for property than private individuals. Who wants assessments based on what the state generally pays for property of any kind? Who can say what the result might have been if the sale had been to a private individual?

Another significant thought comes to mind, too. Frequently property sells for less than the assessor's value. In one Lincoln instance the selling price was many thousands of dollars below the assessor's value. Why was there no publicity about this?

About all that can be said is that appraising real estate is not an exact science. Assessors and appraisers are going to be over and under selling prices and only rarely will they be within 10 percent. It is the average of all selling prices that is controlling. One sale is of no value in determining the level of assessments.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

LBJ Keeps Campaign Promises To Help Elders

By ROBERT PETERSON

President Johnson has come through with flying colors on his campaign promises to brighten the outlook for elders. Not only did he sign into law last July the long-fought-for Medicare plan, but that same month signed the Older Americans Act of 1965.

Everyone knows about the medical plan, but few are familiar with this act establishing a new agency in Washington, D.C., known as the Administration on Aging. Located in the Department of Health Education and Welfare, it's to be headed by a commissioner named by the President and approved by the Senate. The act was sponsored by Pat McNamara (D. Mich.), a leading power behind the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, and Rep. John E. Fogarty (D. R.I.).

This new agency will absorb most activities performed heretofore by the President's Council on Aging and the U.S. Office of Aging. The former has been largely a figurehead of official interest in older people, and the latter has been the government's coordinating agency and clearing house on matters of interest to the aged.

In signing the Older American Act, the President stated, "This act clearly affirms our nation's sense of responsibility toward the well-being of all elder citizens . . . it is the seed-corn that provides an orderly, intelligent and constructive program . . . every state and community can now move toward a coordinated program of services and opportunities for our older citizens . . . the grants under this law will be modest in dollars . . . but results will come where they are needed — always at the hometown level."

The new Administration on Aging has been given $6.5 million its first year to create greater interest in older folks at the hometown level. Most of these monies will be allocated to the commission on aging in each state — based on their numbers of elderly. New York, for instance, with nearly two million elders will get about $285,000, and Alaska with about 7,000 elders will get $50,000.

Will the state commissions be able to do whatever they wish with the funds? No. They'll be required to redistribute them to local communities which need funds to (1) conduct surveys on elders' needs, or plan demonstration projects, such as testing the feasibility of training older women as homemakers; (2) establish or expand programs for older people, such as helping create an arts and crafts program for elders; and (3) train special personnel for service to elders, such as nurses aides, recreation assistants and job counselors.

Won't recipients get the handout habit? Hopefully not. Grants are to be regarded as "seed" money, and will cover up to 75% of a project's cost the first year, up to 60% the second, and up to 50% the third. Thereafter, local financing must take over.

Does this sound like a good program? Yes — one that is both practical and realistic. Most of us dislike seeing the government do things for others on a permanent basis which they should be doing themselves. But Uncle Sam does play a needed role in jolting local communities from their lethargy into launching constructive new programs for elders which will hopefully be continued thereafter by local efforts.

If you would like a booklet "How to Start a Golden Age Club" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Court Is Asked To Affirm ETV Dispute Ruling

The State Supreme Court was asked Monday to affirm a State Railway Commission ruling in a dispute over a contract to construct facilities for the statewide educational television network.

Attorneys for the state, Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. argued in a brief that the commission was correct in deciding it had no jurisdiction in the case.

They said the facilities in question will be used in interstate commerce and t s are under "the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission."

The Railway Commission in March dismissed a complaint lodged by the Hamilton County Telephone Co. of Aurora which contended the two major telephone firms had violated antitrust laws and Railway Commission regulations in bidding on the ETV contract.

The complaint was filed after the State ETV Commission accepted the joint bid of Lincoln and Northwestern Bell to furnish audio and visual channels to interconnect the seven proposed stations of the ETV network now under construction.

The Aurora company is appealing the Railway Commission's dismissal to the high court.

Death Of Father Will Cause Delay In Filing—Krall

Robert A. Krall, 26, of Lincoln had planned to file for the House of Representatives to represent the First Congressional District of Nebraska on Wednesday, but he said Monday the death of his father would cause a delay.

Krall, a former newsman, said his father, Robert August Krall, died Sunday afternoon at his Grand Island home of a heart attack. The elder Krall was 59.

Krall, who makes his home here, said he still planned to file for the congressional seat now held by Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb.

"I cannot vote for, nor support, this bill as currently written because I consider it improper, unnecessary and fiscally irresponsible to vote for a pay increase for myself," he said.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

LBJ Keeps Campaign Promises To Help Elders

By ROBERT PETERSON

President Johnson has come through with flying colors on his campaign promises to brighten the outlook for elders. Not only did he sign into law last July the long-fought-for Medicare plan, but that same month signed the Older Americans Act of 1965.

Everyone knows about the medical plan, but few are familiar with this act establishing a new agency in Washington, D.C., known as the Administration on Aging. Located in the Department of Health Education and Welfare, it's to be headed by a commissioner named by the President and approved by the Senate. The act was sponsored by Pat McNamara (D. Mich.), a leading power behind the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, and Rep. John E. Fogarty (D. R.I.).

This new agency will absorb most activities performed heretofore by the President's Council on Aging and the U.S. Office of Aging. The former has been largely a figurehead of official interest in older people, and the latter has been the government's coordinating agency and clearing house on matters of interest to the aged.

In signing the Older American Act, the President stated, "This act clearly affirms our nation's sense of responsibility toward the well-being of all elder citizens . . . it is the seed-corn that provides an orderly, intelligent and constructive program . . . every state and community can now move toward a coordinated program of services and opportunities for our older citizens . . . the grants under this law will be modest in dollars . . . but results will come where they are needed — always at the hometown level."

The new Administration on Aging has been given $6.5 million its first year to create greater interest in older folks at the hometown level. Most of these monies will be allocated to the commission on aging in each state — based on their numbers of elderly. New York, for instance, with nearly two million elders will get about $285,000, and Alaska with about 7,000 elders will get $50,000.

Will the state commissions be able to do whatever they wish with the funds? No. They'll be required to redistribute them to local communities which need funds to (1) conduct surveys on elders' needs, or plan demonstration projects, such as testing the feasibility of training older women as homemakers; (2) establish or expand programs for older people, such as helping create an arts and crafts program for elders; and (3) train special personnel for service to elders, such as nurses aides, recreation assistants and job counselors.

Won't recipients get the handout habit? Hopefully not. Grants are to be regarded as "seed" money, and will cover up to 75% of a project's cost the first year, up to 60% the second, and up to 50% the third. Thereafter, local financing must take over.

Does this sound like a good program? Yes — one that is both practical and realistic. Most of us dislike seeing the government do things for others on a permanent basis which they should be doing themselves. But Uncle Sam does play a needed role in jolting local communities from their lethargy into launching constructive new programs for elders which will hopefully be continued thereafter by local efforts.

Death Of Father Will Cause Delay In Filing—Krall

Robert A. Krall, 26, of Lincoln had planned to file for the House of Representatives to represent the First Congressional District of Nebraska on Wednesday, but he said Monday the death of his father would cause a delay.

Krall, a former newsman, said his father, Robert August Krall, died Sunday afternoon at his Grand Island home of a heart attack. The elder Krall was 59.

Krall, who makes his home here, said he still planned to file for the congressional seat now held by Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb.

Court Is Asked To Affirm ETV Dispute Ruling

The State Supreme Court was asked Monday to affirm a State Railway Commission ruling in a dispute over a contract to construct facilities for the statewide educational television network.

Attorneys for the state, Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. argued in a brief that the commission was correct in deciding it had no jurisdiction in the case.

They said the facilities in question will be used in interstate commerce and thus are under "the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission."

The Railway Commission in March dismissed a complaint lodged by the Hamilton County Telephone Co. of Aurora which contended the two major telephone firms had violated antitrust laws and Railway Commission regulations in bidding on the ETV contract.

The complaint was filed after the State ETV Commission accepted the joint bid of Lincoln and Northwestern Bell to furnish audio and visual channels to interconnect the seven proposed stations of the ETV network now under construction.

The Aurora company is appealing the Railway Commission's dismissal to the high court.

Rep. Martin Against Federal Salary Increase Bill

Washington — Rep. Dave Martin said he cannot support a bill which would increase salaries of Post Office and Civil Service employes, as well as judges, executive employes and members of Congress.

"I cannot vote for, nor support, this bill as currently written because I consider it improper, unnecessary and fiscally irresponsible to vote for a pay increase for myself," he said.

More Study Set On Floods, Housing

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday decided to give further study to a resolution which would discourage the urban development of lands subject to flooding.

The resolution would prohibit the creation of special assessment districts for utilities, paving sidewalks or ornamental lighting for lands which are designated by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers as "100-year flood areas."

It also provides that within the flood areas no private connections will be permitted to public water and power lines, or sanitary sewer lines which were constructed to serve lands outside the flood area.

The City-County Planning Commission has recommended approval of the resolution.

Not Blanket Prohibition

The council asked Planning Director Douglas Brogden to re-word the resolution so that its effect would not mean a blanket prohibition of urban development in the 100-year flood plain.

Brogden was also asked to work out a method whereby the resolution could be repealed as it would relate to lands now designated as 100-year flood areas but subsequently proved not to be subject to flooding.

Councilman John Comstock commented that the Corps study is "not enough to substantiate whether these areas are subject to 100-year floods."

Brogden said that the resolution would "bolster" any future flood plain zoning.

He also called for eventual public ownership of 100-year flood plain land and told the council that "only a limited percentage of the land" is now under urban development.

The resolution would apply to lands running along Salt Creek, Haines Branch and Beals Slough in addition to other creeks and tributaries in the Lincoln area.

Teen Dances

The council approved an ordinance which will allow persons licensed by the City to hold public dances for teenagers between the ages of 14 and 19.

Under the ordinance, the applicant must meet the same city requirements as persons holding other public dance licenses, and is responsible for excluding from the premises all persons under 14 and 19 or over.

The ordinance also requires city-approved adult supervision.

Councilman John Mason said he introduced the ordinance because young people who didn't belong to membership organizations or various teen-age clubs do not have a place to dance.

Action on resolutions requesting that sidewalks be built on certain state, county and public school properties within the city was deferred.

Bolivia In State Of Siege After Tin Miners' Uprising

La Paz, Bolivia (AP)—Bolivia's military junta declared a nationwide state of siege Monday night after reporting 11 persons killed and an undisclosed number injured in an armed uprising of tin miners earlier in the day.

The government said security forces crushed the revolt, which broke out at the Catavi-Siglo Veinte mines high in the Andes southwest of Lima. The area has long been known a hotbed of followers of Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Reports said the violence began with a protest against similar violence last Saturday in which four persons were said to have been killed. Two of the dead were miners and two were police, reports said.

Attack Radio

The angry miners attacked Radio Comibol, voice of the state mining monopoly, the national security guard barracks and other property, the government said. Another target of the miners was the Pope Pius XII radio station.

Security forces immediately went into action to restore order. By sunset, the disorders had been quelled, the government said.

Under a state of siege, a measure short of martial law, public meetings are forbidden, individual liberties are suspended and the preservation of public order is entrusted to the armed forces. A 45-day state of siege ended Aug. 6 following unrest in the mines earlier this year.

Seven Civilians

The government said two army men and two members of the national guard were killed in the disorders. The other casualties were civilian.

Gen. Rene Barrientos, co-president of the junta, said the armed forces were protecting the country from extremist elements seeking to disrupt the nation's life. The government went into an emergency meeting during the afternoon at which it decided to declare the state of siege.

"In the next few days, it will be known whether extremism or law rules the country," said Col. Juan Lechin Oquendo, president of the Comibol state mining corporation.

Finance Minister Col. Alcoreza Melgaredjo, who had been scheduled to leave on an official visit to the United States, called the events in the mines "open subversion" and said the army had the duty to crush the rebels.

Uneasy Truce

An uneasy truce has prevailed between the government and the leftist-led tin miners since a strike last May turned into eight days of bloodshed that cost at least 70 lives and hundreds wounded. The miners walked out after the junta shipped their boss, former Vice President Juan Lechin, into exile in Paraguay.

Many leftist union leaders and agitators were jailed in the government's effort to restore peace to the tin mines. They account for more than 80% of Bolivia's income, but they have verged close to bankruptcy since the government began nationalizing them 13 years ago.

After the strike, the junta ordered belt-tightening measures to make the mines pay their way and tried to reduce union control. The drastic overhaul included some layoffs, transfers, forced retirements and pay reductions.

Mason Again Asks Check Of Gambling In Lincoln

City Councilman John Mason has again asked for an investigation of possible gambling activities in the city.

Mason said Monday that since he asked for an investigation seven weeks ago he has had no report "on the gambling problem and what needs to be done about it."

"I have anonymous information," he said, "that although they (gamblers) closed down after we raised the question in the middle of the summer, they have opened back up again with the advent of football season."

The councilman said he wants Public Safety Director Emmett Junge to order police inquiry into the possibility of bookie operations.

He also wants a report from the law department "as soon as they can put it together," on the possible need for new city legislation to cover gambling.

In July Mason asked for a determination of whether present ordinances can be adequately enforced, or whether there is a need for additional legislation.

At that time he mentioned the possible use of wire-tapping and photographing persons entering or leaving suspicious establishments.

O Street Area Will Be Closed On Wednesday

O St. in the area of the Rock Island Railroad depot will be closed Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger said that the railroad will rebuild its O St. crossing.

The announcement prompted Councilman John Comstock to ask why the city doesn't order the different railroads to improve all crossings that need it at their own expense.

"I don't think the city should have to pay for the work," said Comstock.

Mrs. Dow Re-Elected By Library

Mrs. David Dow was re-elected president of the Lincoln City Library Foundation at its first annual meeting Monday night at Bennett Martin Library.

Other officers: Jan Folsom, vice president, and George Holyoke, treasurer.

About 120 persons make up the foundation. Those attending the meeting toured the library, seeing new additions to it, including the new technical processing department in the basement.

The library system is tax-supported, but, according to Mrs. Dow, its activities are greatly enhanced by voluntary contributions of the foundation.

Public thanks were given to all persons who have contributed to the library.

BUG SPRAY STOPS U.S. INVASION

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union said Monday it has won a summer-long air battle with invaders from America—Colorado beetles.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the hordes of insects which invaded Latvia, Lithuania and the Kaliningrad area along the Baltic Sea have been wiped out by chemical spray. Izvestia said it took workers a month to do the job.

Early this summer, the Soviet press reported that Colorado beetles had covered the sky in the Baltic area, threatening crops.

Monday's Izvestia account made no mention of crop damage.

The beetle influx this year was blamed on hurricane winds.

Mason said Monday that since he asked for an investigation seven weeks ago he has had no report "on the gambling problem and what needs to be done about it."

"I have anonymous information," he said, "that although they (gamblers) closed down after we raised the question in the middle of the summer, they have opened back up again with the advent of football season."

The councilman said he wants Public Safety Director Emmett Junge to order police inquiry into the possibility of bookie operations.

He also wants a report from the law department "as soon as they can put it together," on the possible need for new city legislation to cover gambling.

In July Mason asked for a determination of whether present ordinances can be adequately enforced, or whether there is a need for additional legislation.

At that time he mentioned the possible use of wire-tapping and photographing persons entering or leaving suspicious establishments.

O Street Area Will Be Closed On Wednesday

O St. in the area of the Rock Island Railroad depot will be closed Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger said that the railroad will rebuild its O St. crossing.

The announcement prompted Councilman John Comstock to ask why the city doesn't order the different railroads to improve all crossings that need it at their own expense.

"I don't think the city should have to pay for the work," said Comstock.

Mrs. Dow Re-Elected By Library

Mrs. David Dow was re-elected president of the Lincoln City Library Foundation at its first annual meeting Monday night at Bennett Martin Library.

Other officers: Jan Folsom, vice president, and George Holyoke, treasurer.

About 120 persons make up the foundation. Those attending the meeting toured the library, seeing new additions to it, including the new technical processing department in the basement.

The library system is tax-supported, but, according to Mrs. Dow, its activities are greatly enhanced by voluntary contributions of the foundation.

Public thanks were given to all persons who have contributed to the library.

BUG SPRAY STOPS U.S. INVASION

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union said Monday it has won a summer-long air battle with invaders from America—Colorado beetles.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the hordes of insects which invaded Latvia, Lithuania and the Kaliningrad area along the Baltic Sea have been wiped out by chemical spray. Izvestia said it took workers a month to do the job.

Early this summer, the Soviet press reported that Colorado beetles had covered the sky in the Baltic area, threatening crops.

Monday's Izvestia account made no mention of crop damage.

The beetle influx this year was blamed on hurricane winds.

Bolivia In State Of Siege After Tin Miners' Uprising

La Paz, Bolivia (AP)—Bolivia's military junta declared a nationwide state of siege Monday night after reporting 11 persons killed and an undisclosed number injured in an armed uprising of tin miners earlier in the day.

The government said security forces crushed the revolt, which broke out at the Catavi-Siglo Veinte mines high in the Andes southwest of Lima. The area has long been known a hotbed of followers of Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Reports said the violence began with a protest against similar violence last Saturday in which four persons were said to have been killed. Two of the dead were miners and two were police, reports said.

Attack Radio

The angry miners attacked Radio Comibol, voice of the state mining monopoly, the national security guard barracks and other property, the government said. Another target of the miners was the Pope Pius XII radio station.

Security forces immediately went into action to restore order. By sunset, the disorders had been quelled, the government said.

Under a state of siege, a measure short of martial law, public meetings are forbidden, individual liberties are suspended and the preservation of public order is entrusted to the armed forces. A 45-day state of siege ended Aug. 6 following unrest in the mines earlier this year.

Seven Civilians

The government said two army men and two members of the national guard were killed in the disorders. The other casualties were civilian

Gen. Rene Barrientos, co-president of the junta, said the armed forces were protecting the country from extremist elements seeking to disrupt the nation's life. The government went into an emergency meeting during the afternoon at which it decided to declare the state of siege.

"In the next few days, it will be known whether extremism or law rules the country," said Col. Juan Lechin Oquendo, president of the Comibol state mining corporation.

Finance Minister Col. Alcoreza Melgaredjo, who had been scheduled to leave on an official visit to the United States, called the events in the mines "open subversion" and said the army had the duty to crush the rebels.

Uneasy Truce

An uneasy truce has prevailed between the government and the leftist-led tin miners since a strike last May turned into eight days of bloodshed that cost at least 70 lives and hundreds wounded. The miners walked out after the junta shipped their boss, former Vice President Juan Lechin, into exile in Paraguay.

Many leftist union leaders and agitators were jailed in the government's effort to restore peace to the tin mines. They account for more than 80% of Bolivia's income, but they have verged close to bankruptcy since the government began nationalizing them 13 years ago.

After the strike, the junta ordered belt-tightening measures to make the mines pay their way and tried to reduce union control. The drastic overhaul included some layoffs, transfers, forced retirements and pay reductions.

State To Expand Present Parks First

Two State Game Commission officials said Monday Nebraska "eventually will have a major state park within reasonable driving distance of every resident in the state."

But they said Nebraska's five present state parks will have to be expanded before any new state parks are established.

Game Commission Director Mel Steen said his staff is examining the state park potential of the Sand Hills in north central Nebraska and the Wildcat Hills in the Panhandle but "there's no plans for more parks in the immediate future."

Instead, the commission's parks program will emphasize development of the present parks—Chadron, Ponca, Niobrara, Fort Robinson and Indian Cave.

Jack Strain, head of the commission's parks division, said Ponca State Park, located in northeastern Nebraska, will be expanded to at least 900 acres from its present 500 acres.

He said "systematic development plans" have been mapped for the Chadron and Niobrara state parks, located in northwestern and northeastern Nebraska, respectively.

The 1965 legislature cleared the way for land acquisition at the new Indian Cave State Park in southeastern Nebraska by passing a bill giving the Game Commission condemnation powers on 2,000 acres at the site.

Steen said there is no question Fort Robinson will be developed into a major park, but, still undecided is whether the state or federal government will do the developing.

Once these parks are developed sufficiently, Steen said, the Game Commission will consider other state park sites.

"It appears the Wildcat Hills of Scotts Bluff, Banner and Morrill counties have the necessary characteristics of typography, size and vegetation for development as a major state park," he said. "In addition, the Sand Hills region of north central Nebraska provides an opportunity to develop a unique grasslands park in an area of natural lakes and varied topography."

South Korean Universities Yield, Open

Seoul, Korea (AP)—Two South Korean universities, closed two weeks ago, were allowed after they yielded to government demands to expel students and professors responsible for recent student demonstrations. The unrest had been in opposition to the Japan-South Korea amity treaty.

Education Minister Kwon Oh-byung said the government was satisfied with recent punishment of students and professors by Korea and Yonsei Universities.

Korea University fired three professors, expelled seven students and suspended seven other students. Yonsei dismissed two professors and two students and indefinitely suspended five other students.

High Court Hears Cop Firing Case

State Sureme Court judges were told Monday former Omaha vice squad undercover agent Michael Brown was "unqualified and unfit" to be a member of the police department and his firing in December, 1963, should be sustained.

Omaha attorney John Samson said the evidence shows that Brown perjured himself while testifying before the Omaha City Council about a fight at an Omaha tavern on the night of Nov. 7, 1963.

However, Omaha attorney S. J. Albracht, representing Brown, said the record does not indicate that Brown perjured himself. He asked the high court to uphold Douglas County District Judge James P. O'Brien's ruling that Brown should be reinstated.

Brown was fired because he allegedly lied to city councilmen about his activities prior to the fight at Frederico's Lounge in which he was beaten.

The city personnel board upheld the firing, but Brown appealed to the District Court which ordered his reinstatement and payment of back pay.

R. R. Larson, an Omaha taxpayer, then carried the case to the Supreme Court after city officials decided not to appeal the district court decision.

Samson claimed that the tavern fight was "precipitated by Brown when he grabbed a waitress around the hip and made a pass at her."

3 Reorganization Proposals OK'd By School Unit

The State School District Reorganization Committee reported Monday it has approved three reorganization proposals, disapproved another and deferred action on two others.

Approved were the following plans, by county:

Dakota-Dixon-Thurston: dissolve District 52 in Dixon County and attach territory to the Emerson District and the Allen District.

Saline-Seward: dissolve a portion of the Milford District and attach territory to the Crete School District.

Pawnee: attach certain portions of District 20 to the Pawnee City District.

The committee rejected a Cedar County plan calling for the dissolving of District 35 and attachment of the territory to District 19.

The commission held for further study an Arthur County plan to form a Class 2 District by dissolving the Class One School Districts of 1, 4, 7, 8, 9, 12, 27, 32, 33, and 55, with the dissolving of the Arthur County Class 4 District.

Also held for further study was a reorganization plan for Richardson and Nemaha counties.

House Endorses Using Force To Block Reds

. . . IN HEMISPHERE TAKEOVER ATTEMPTS

Washington (AP)—By a 312-52 margin, the House approved Monday a resolution calling for the use of force by any American nation if necessary to prevent a Communist takeover in any hemisphere country.

Voting for the resolution were 195 Democrats anl 117 Republicans while it was opposed by 49 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who led a small band of opponents, said the resolution is very badly worked and perpetuates an image of the United States as a nation favoring "clumsy, heavy-handed intervention" in other countries' affairs.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., sponsor of the resolution, acknowledged the State Department questioned some of the resolution's language and asked him to make clear that it is not intended to say "that a mere threat of subversion, standing alone justifies the unilateral use of armed force—to make clear that the House does not intend to depart from existing inter-American treaties and resolutions on the subject."

Withdrew Objections

Selden said when he assured the department he would make this clear, it "withdrew whatever objections it might have had."

But Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., said President Johnson has not called for passage of the resolution and the State Department took an "ambiguous posture."

He said he talked with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top officials and "If there was any enthusiasm for this . . . it certainly escaped me."

Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., said if the resolution means to restate the collective security pronouncements of the Organization of American States, it is unnecessary. If it goes further, he said, "it will be used by the enemies of our country."

Gives All Sanction

The opponents said as it is worded it gives sanction to intervention by any hemisphere country in any other one if there is a Communist subversive threat, regardless of whether the affected country asks assistance.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, supported the resolution but he said he thinks the report accompanying the measure is badly written.

The resolution is solely in an expression of the sense of the House, and does not have any binding effect on American policy. It does not require Senate action.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., said, "The soft underbelly of this nation is Central and South America."

STRIKES . . .

Thousands Of Miners Leave Pits In Dispute

Powhatan Point, Ohio (AP)—Coal miners left their jobs by the thousands Monday to join a mushrooming wildcat strike over the firing of six union employes.

An estimated 5,100 left the pits at 13 mines in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, bringing to about 10,700 the total idled in the unusual dispute. About 5,600 walked out previously.

Officials of the United Mine Workers and the companies issued appeals and demands for a return to work, but they went unheeded and it appeared the walkout might spread beyond this area's tri-state coal fields.

Thus far, there has been but little picketing and no violence. "The men are just staying off the job," a union official said.

The walkout resulted from the dismissal Sept. 7 of six employes of the Hanna Coal Co. mine at Moundsville, W. Va., for alleged participation in an unauthorized walkout the week before. The dismissed workers included Karl Kafton, president of UMW Local 1110, who called the firings "unjustified and groundless."

Kafton denied that he and the other men participated in picketing of the Hanna mine, adding, "We stayed well off company property. We were there to observe the picket area which is completely within the scope and authority of union officials." He called company charges that they participated in the strike "a complete fabrication."

Omaha Attorney Named To Defend Redistricting Act

State Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer announced Monday he has selected Omahan Cecil Johnson to defend the last reapportionment act passed by the Nebraska Legislature.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has challenged the act in a suit filed with the State Supreme Court.

The court, which reconvened for the 1965-66 term, must decide whether to accept original jurisdiction.

Meyer believes the reapportionment act violates the state constitution, which he says prohibits the crossing of county lines in fashioning new districts.

The act crosses county lines in seven instances.

Johnson, a private attorney employed by the Swanson Co. of Omaha, is regarded as a student of legislative apportionment. He had urged the lawmakers to cross county lines in setting forth a new act.

Peace-Seeker Delays Guild, Times Talks

New York (AP) — Peace talks in the New York Times strike were recessed Monday until Wednesday morning, after the newspaper and the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild accused each other of stalling.

Mediator Theodore Kheel announced the temporary suspension of negotiations. He said a cooling-off period was decided on to keep both sides from becoming "too firm and frozen."

Earlier, Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president and publisher of the Times, expressed dismay at what he termed the slow negotiating pace of the guild.

In reply, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the local guild, claimed it was the Times that was dragging its feet. He said the union only now was beginning to get data to which it was entitled and which it had asked of the Times nine months ago.

Machinists Cut Lines At Cape Under Orders

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI)—Acting under government orders, striking Boeing Co. machinists Monday reduced their picket lines and eased the eighth major building tie-up to hit this moonport in 20 months.

The Army Corps of Engineers, overseer of the Cape's $204 million worth of construction, reported work on four key projects still was hampered but that over-all building was returning to normal.

The reduced picketing cleared the way for the return to work by hundreds of construction laborers. The corps said about 3,005 workers reported to work and 621 stayed away.

Pakistani Bombs Level Cathedral Of St. Paul's

Ambala, India (AP)—A once lovely cathedral paid the wartime price Monday for standing too close to an air base and military cantonment.

A Pakistani B57 roared in early Monday morning and let go a whole stick of bombs on St. Paul's, the 100-year-old Anglican cathedral which has served as the episcopal see for India, Pakistan Burma and Ceylon.

The Cahtedral was ruined.

The Rt. Rev. K. D. Anand, titular bishop of Amritsar Diocese, said the bomber was down to only about 300 feet when it dropped its load.

Clergy Horrified

Rooftop tin was scattered around a 100-yard radius. The bishop and staff priests were horrified and said they had no idea how they ever will replace the edifice.

"It's difficult to say the pilot was not aiming for us," one of his parish priests commented. But the bishop intervened: "The air force base is, after all, only two furlongs (one quarter mile) away and other military installations are on the other side of this park. We are, unfortunately, exactly in the middle."

Ambala, 110 miles north of New Delhi, is a big Indian army and air force base. It has been under air raid attack a dozen times. The church was hit once before by a light burst. A military hospital caught a big one and eight persons were killed.

St. Paul's is the headquarters of about 20,000 Anglican Christians in its diocese.

It was built by the British when they ruled the Indian subcontinent.

Holds Significance

The bishop said the cathedral is used now for religious services by only 200 Anglican Church members in this particular area, but "it holds a big significance for all of us in this part of the world."

In New Delhi, newsmen asked a government briefing officer if he thought Pakistani bombers were striking civilian targets on purpose.

"No, I don't think so," he said. "It's just bad marksmanship."

Then he added: "I do think they could be more careful about it. On the way back home they just sort of drop them (bombs) anywhere."

Successful Erhard Expected To Visit LBJ In November

Washington (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, now confirmed on his own right as West Germany's head of government, is expected to visit President Johnson sometime in November.

The vote of confidence gathered by Erhard in Sunday's election unquestionably impressed official Washington. Though there were few here who believed that Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's Socialists would defeat the present coalition the general expectation had been that Erhard's Christian Democrats would lose some seats in the German parliament and not gain as they did.

Campaign speeches were carefully read in Washington and officials were gratified to note that Erhard was in complete agreement with the Johnson administration's position on such major issues as Viet Nam, the need for a broader Common Market, an effective Kennedy round of trade talks, and a stronger Atlantic Alliance.

The expectation now is that Erhard's victory will silence voices within his own party critical of American policies and thus enable the chancellor to bring some forward-moving activity on a number of dormant European issues.

This does not mean high hopes in Washington that Erhard can persuade French President Charles de Gaulle to change his rigid views on any of the vital questions now pending.

The administration, in a major change of course, decided in December last year to let the Europeans struggle with their problems and to advise only if asked.

This, they said, is valid also in connection with the question of a nuclear force for the European allies. The administration had been marking time until after the German election on plans to establish some kind of a European nuclear force. But officials now see not much ground for hope that the current talks on the so-called working level can be elevated to the political level in the foreseeable future.

On the other hand, officials note with satisfaction that the working-level talks in Paris have achieved considerable progress, especially in bringing German and British differences over the London-proposed Atlantic nuclear force.

There is no doubt that Erhard, when he meets with Johnson, will push hard for an end to the deadlock on this issue.

House OKs Servicemen Insurance

Washington (AP)—The House unanimously approved Monday a group life insurance plan that would allow servicemen to buy $10,000 policies for an estimated $2 a month.

The bill was sent to the Senate on a 360 to 0 vote, carrying the strong praise of Democrats and Republicans alike.

Rep. Charles M. Tague, R-Calif., called the proposal "a splendid example of cooperation between private enterprise and the government."

The program would be handled by commercial insurance firms with the premiums deducted automatically from the pay of those participating. The federal government would pay the extra hazard costs.

The plan covers all members of the uniformed services.

The House was told that premium rates are expected to be $2 a month for $10,000 and $1 a month for $5,000.

One purpose of the measure is to fill a hole in present compensation programs which pay benefits only to wives, children and dependent parents.

The proposed program would allow the servicemen to designate any beneficiary he wishes, including parents that are not dependents.

Sugar Crop Recruits

Havana (AP)—The Castro regime says it will recruit at least 60,000 "volunteers" to harvest next year's sugar crop. This compares with 50,000 "mancheteros" or cane cutters employed this year to take in Cuba's biggest harvest since Fidel Castro seized power six years ago.

High Court Asked To Reverse Quinn Case Conviction

The attorney for Roy E. Quinn, a 49-year-old former school teacher convicted of shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim a woman he later married, asked the State Supreme Court Monday to overturn the conviction.

Attorney John McArthur said in a brief that the fact the victim, then Mrs. Twila R. Quincy, "promptly married the defendant is utterly inconsistent with a belief on her part that he attempted to or did shoot her."

Mrs. Quincy and the accused "testified positively that the shooting was accidental while Twila alone had hold of the gun and while she was trying to do a back flip to place the gun out of defendant's reach," McArthur said.

The woman was shot in the foot.

A Lancaster District Court jury convicted Quinn in connection with the disturbance at Mrs. Quincy's house in Lincoln on Oct. 25 of last year.

The two were married Dec. 18.

McArthur contended the prosecution failed to provide sufficient circumstantial evidence to support the verdict.

House Endorses Using Force To Block Reds

. . . IN HEMISPHERE TAKEOVER ATTEMPTS

Washington (AP)—By a 312-52 margin, the House approved Monday a resolution calling for the use of force by any American nation if necessary to prevent a Communist takeover in any hemisphere country.

Voting for the resolution were 195 Democrats anl 117 Republicans while it was opposed by 49 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who led a small band of opponents, said the resolution is very badly worked and perpetuates an image of the United States as a nation favoring "clumsy, heavy-handed intervention" in other countries' affairs.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., sponsor of the resolution, acknowledged the State Department questioned some of the resolution's language and asked him to make clear that it is not intended to say "that a mere threat of subversion, standing alone, justifies the unilateral use of armed force—to make clear that the House does not intend to depart from existing inter-American treaties and resolutions on the subject."

Withdrew Objections

Selden said when he assured the department he would make this clear, it "withdrew whatever objections it might have had."

But Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., said President Johnson has not called for passage of the resolution and the State Department took an "ambiguous posture."

He said he talked with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top officials and "if there was any enthusiasm for this . . . it certainly escaped me."

Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., said if the resolution means to restate the collective security pronouncements of the Organization of American States, it is unnecessary. If it goes further, he said, "it will be used by the enemies of our country."

Gives All Sanction

The opponents said as it is worded it gives sanction to intervention by any hemisphere country in any other one if there is a Communist subversive threat, regardless of whether the affected country asks assistance.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, supported the resolution but he said he thinks the report accompanying the measure is badly written.

The resolution is solely in an expression of the sense of the House, and does not have any binding effect on American policy. It does not require Senate action.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., said, "The soft underbelly of this nation is Central and South America."

STRIKES . . .

Thousands Of Miners Leave Pits In Dispute

Powhatan Point, Ohio (AP)—Coal miners left their jobs by the thousands Monday to join a mushrooming wildcat strike over the firing of six union employes.

An estimated 5,100 left the pits at 13 mines in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, bringing to about 10,700 the total idled in the unusual dispute. About 5,600 walked out previously.

Officials of the United Mine Workers and the companies issued appeals and demands for a return to work, but they went unheeded and it appeared the walkout might spread beyond this area's tri-state coal fields.

Thus far, there has been but little picketing and no violence. "The men are just staying off the job," a union official said.

The walkout resulted from the dismissal Sept. 7 of six employes of the Hanna Coal Co. mine at Moundsville, W. Va., for alleged participation in an unauthorized walkout the week before. The dismissed workers included Karl Kafton, president of UMW Local 1110, who called the firings "unjustified and groundless."

Kafton denied that he and the other men participated in picketing of the Hanna mine, adding, "We stayed well off company property. We were there to observe the picket area which is completely within the scope and authority of union officials." He called company charges that they participated in the strike "a complete fabrication."

Omaha Attorney Named To Defend Redistricting Act

State Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer announced Monday he has selected Omahan Cecil Johnson to defend the last reapportionment act passed by the Nebraska Legislature.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has challenged the act in a suit filed with the State Supreme Court.

The court, which reconvened for the 1965-66 term, must decide whether to accept original jurisdiction.

Meyer believes the reapportionment act violates the state constitution, which he says prohibits the crossing of county lines in fashioning new districts.

The act crosses county lines in seven instances.

Johnson, a private attorney employed by the Swanson Co. of Omaha, is regarded as a student of legislative apportionment. He had urged the lawmakers to cross county lines in setting forth a new act.

Peace-Seeker Delays Guild, Times Talks

New York (AP) — Peace talks in the New York Times strike were recessed Monday until Wednesday morning, after the newspaper and the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild accused each other of stalling.

Mediator Theodore Kheel announced the temporary suspension of negotiations. He said a cooling-off period was decided on to keep both sides from becoming "too firm and frozen."

Earlier, Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president and publisher of the Times, expressed dismay at what he termed the slow negotiating pace of the guild.

In reply, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the local guild, claimed it was the Times that was dragging its feet. He said the union only now was beginning to get data to which it was entitled and which it had asked of the Times ine months ago.

Machinists Cut Lines At Cape Under Orders

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI)—Acting under government orders, striking Boeing Co. machinists Monday reduced their picket lines and eased the eighth major building tie-up to hit this moonport in 20 months.

The Army Corps of Engineers, overseer of the Cape's $204 million worth of construction, reported work on four key projects still was hampered but that over-all building was returning to normal.

The reduced picketing cleared the way for the return to work by hundreds of construction laborers. The corps said about 3,005 workers reported to work and 621 stayed away.

Pakistani Bombs Level Cathedral Of St. Paul's

Ambala, India (AP)—A once lovely cathedral paid the wartime price Monday for standing too close to an air base and military cantonment.

A Pakistani B57 roared in early Monday morning and let go a whole stick of bombs on St. Paul's, the 100-year-old Anglican cathedral which has served as the episcopal see for India, Pakistan Burma and Ceylon.

The Cahtedral was ruined.

The Rt. Rev. K. D. Anand, titular bishop of Amritsar Diocese, said the bomber was down to only about 300 feet when it dropped its load.

Clergy Horrified

Rooftop tin was scattered around a 100-yard radius. The bishop and staff priests were horrified and said they had no idea how they ever will replace the edifice.

"It's difficult to say the pilot was not aiming for us," one of his parish priests commented. But the bishop intervened: "The air force base is, after all, only two furlongs (one quarter mile) away and other military installations are on the other side of this park. We are, unfortunately, exactly in the middle."

Ambala, 110 miles north of New Delhi, is a big Indian army and air force base. It has been under air raid attack a dozen times. The church was hit once before by a light burst. A military hospital caught a big one and eight persons were killed.

St. Paul's is the headquarters of about 20,000 Anglican Christians in its diocese.

It was built by the British when they ruled the Indian subcontinent.

Holds Significance

The bishop said the cathedral is used now for religious services by only 200 Anglican Church members in this particular area, but "it holds a big significance for all of us in this part of the world."

In New Delhi, newsmen asked a government briefing officer if he thought Pakistani bombers were striking civilian targets on purpose.

"No, I don't think so," he said. "It's just bad marksmanship."

Then he added: "I do think they could be more careful about it. On the way back home they just sort of drop them (bombs) anywhere."

Successful Erhard Expected To Visit LBJ In November

This does not mean high hopes in Washington that Erhard can persuade French President Charles de Gaulle to change his rigid views on any of the vital questions now pending.

The administration, in a major change of course, decided in December last year to let the Europeans struggle with their problems and to advise only if asked.

This, they said, is valid also in connection with the question of a nuclear force for the European allies. The administration had been marking time until after the German election on plans to establish some kind of a European nuclear force. But officials now see not much ground for hope that the current talks on the so-called working level can be elevated to the political level in the foreseeable future.

On the other hand, officials note with satisfaction that the working-level talks in Paris have achieved considerable progress, especially in bridging German and British differences over the London-proposed Atlantic nuclear force.

There is no doubt that Erhard, when he meets with Johnson, will push hard for an end to the deadlock on this issue.

House OKs Servicemen Insurance

Washington (AP)—The House unanimously approved Monday a group life insurance plan that would allow servicemen to buy $10,000 policies for an estimated $2 a month.

The bill was sent to the Senate on a 360 to 0 vote, carrying the strong praise of Democrats and Republicans alike.

Sugar Crop Recruits

Havana (AP)—The Castro regime says it will recruit at least 60,000 "volunteers" to harvest next year's sugar crop. This compares with 50,000 "mancheteros" or cane cutters employed this year to take in Cuba's biggest harvest since Fidel Castro seized power six years ago.

High Court Asked To Reverse Quinn Case Conviction

The attorney for Roy E. Quinn, a 49-year-old former school teacher convicted of shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim a woman he later married, asked the State Supreme Court Monday to overturn the conviction.

Attorney John McArthur said in a brief that the fact the victim, then Mrs. Twila R. Quincy, "promptly married the defendant is utterly inconsistent with a belief on her part that he attempted to or did shoot her."

Mrs. Quincy and the accused "testified positively that the shooting was accidental while Twila alone had hold of the gun and while she was trying to do a back flip to place the gun out of defendant's reach," McArthur said.

The woman was shot in the foot.

A Lancaster District Court jury convicted Quinn in connection with the disturbance at Mrs. Quincy's house in Lincoln on Oct. 25 of last year.

The two were married Dec. 18.

McArthur contended the prosecution failed to provide sufficient circumstantial evidence to support the verdict.

BRIDE
at candlelight service

Clusters of lighted white candles decorated the chancel of the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Callaway, Saturday evening, Sept. 4, for the wedding of Miss Donna Lea Van Cleave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlen Van Cleave of Callaway, and Jerry L. Glendy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Glendy of Oconto. The double ring service was solemnized by the Rev. Richard Urbach, and Mrs. Sopha Weiland, organist, played the wedding music. The vocal soloist was Bob Estergard.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Jerri Ann Van Cleave, and the bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Brink, Denver, and Mrs. Dean Spangler, Oconto. The attendants were frocked in royal blue brocade, and each carried a single, large white chrysanthemum.

Gary Glendy served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Jim Bryan, Vaughn Helberg, Jim Stockham, Dale Estergard, John Peck and Edward Oxford.

The bride's princess gown was fashioned of white delustered satin. Vertical panels of jeweled lace accented the fitted bodice, which was designed with a rounding neckline and long sleeves, and the panels continued to the hem of the slender skirt, completed by a panel train of the satin. A crown of pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendy will live in Lincoln, where both are students at the University of Nebraska.

Dancing Parties

From all indications including the varied and festive party themes which are in the planning stage, the year promises to be an interesting one for members of Lincoln dancing clubs.

Terpsichorean Club members are anticipating a Halloween party for their first dance of the year on Saturday, Oct. 2, in the Terrace Room of the Hotel Lincoln.

In charge of arrangements for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Aksamit, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pidcock and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wendelin.

Club officers are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reger, co-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. John Capron, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rhoden, secretaries; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meisinger, treasurers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Tyrell are co-presidents of the Saturday Night Dancing Club which will begin its series of five dances Saturday evening, Oct. 16, with a party at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Also club officers are Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Lamphere, secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, treasurers; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cunningham, board members.

New members of the Four Seasons Dancing Club were introduced Saturday evening when the members met for their first dance of the year at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Hosts and hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mozer, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shamberg, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Misle and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Misle.

Directing the activities of the club, which will hold three other parties this year on Jan. 15, March 26, and June 4, are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pocras, co-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hill, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, secretaries; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Grant, treasurers.

We Hear That

And we heard this morning that Miss Elizabeth Tierney and her sister, Mrs. John G. Maher, are back in town. Miss Tierney and Mrs. Maher, who returned from Mrs. Maher's Switzerland home, in Lausanne, last spring, have been spending the past several months in New York City.

NEWS
of the suburban areas

This is Tuesday morning in case you're not sure, and this is officially the first day of fall.

It is the season of school lunches, homework, football games, school plays and parties.

And, this fall season already has begun with a swing and everyone seems to be chiming right in to the 'A GO GO" scene, or in the adult world, the "party" scene. For what's new from around and about let's read on into this mornings social news.

FIENE HEIGHTS

There is birthday news coming from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Sherman. It was a week ago this past Friday that Scott Sherman turned two years old and in celebration of the occasion, a group of relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman for an evening dinner and some socializing.

On hand for the evening of fun were Scott's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Riddle, Lincoln; and Mrs. Fred Sherman of Loup City; his mother's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray of Norfolk; and let us not forget to mention Scott's sister, Jodi.

Just back from a vacation trip to the west coast are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hewitt. The couple sent two of the three vacation weeks in California where Mr. Hewitt took part in active duty training at Fort Hueneme while Mrs. Hewitt visited relatives.

Her first stop was in San Diego, Calif. where she was the houseguest of Mr. Hewitt's sister, Mrs. Faye Froggatte. From San Diego, Mrs. Hewitt motored to Reseda, Calif., for a brief visit with her sister, Mrs. Milton Harrall.

On the return trip home, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt stopped off at Yellowstone National Park and Grand Teton National Park. The visits to the national parks were preceded by a boat trip to Catalina Island and a venture out in a smaller boat for some sea fishing before the couple left California.

Weekend travelers to the western part of the state were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watt and their two children, Josanne and Jerry. The four were houseguests of Mrs. Watt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sands. The three-day venture to Ogallala included a Sunday family picnic —that actually ended up indoors because of rainy weather.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

One birthday celebrant in the Lincoln Heights area this past week was John Eidswick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eidswick. John was five on Tuesday, Sept. 14. In honor of the occasion, he invited friends for an ice_cream-and-cake celebration.

Miss Gretchen Fuenning, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Fuenning, is attending school this fall at the Colorado Women's College in Denver. While there, she plans to major in psychology. Dr. Fuenning and Miss Fuenning left last weekend for Colorado. Her next trip home will be for Thanksgiving, when she will be accompanied by a guest—her roommate from Hawaii.

SKYLINE TERRACE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jensen had a house full last week and weekend. Visiting Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Russel Jensen of Worthington, Minn. This was the first time in Lincoln for the Russel Jensens, who are Mr. Jensen's cousins and who stopped overnight on their way to Denver, Colo.

Sunday the Jensens were host and hostess at a dinner for several out-of-town friends. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leffer of Otoe; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haverman of Avoca, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schreiner of Lincoln.

ABBY

face the music

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for three years. My wife and I work different shifts so we don't see very much of each other. A while back I started seeing a girl who works my shift. One thing led to another and now she tells me that she is going to have a baby and I am the father. She has been divorced a full year so there's no pinning this on her ex husband. She thinks I love her just because I told her I did, but what else does a guy say in a situation like that?

Anyway, I don't love her that much and I would rather stay with the wife I have. This girl says if I don't divorce my wife and marry her fast, she will take me to court. Can she? Maybe I should just pack up and leave town. What do you recommend?

JACK

DEAR JACK: (And I hope you have plenty of it.) Get yourself a lawyer. I suggest you stay where you are and face the music. They're playing YOUR arrangements.

DEAR ABBY: When you informed a young woman, who had been married by a Justice of the Peace, that her own clergyman would perform the marriage a second time under more auspicious circumstances, I think you goofed.

It may be that there are some denominations that have a special regulation on second ceremonies. It is even conceivable that there are pastors in my own denomination who would consent to such a request. However, if I interpret my church's teachings correctly, we are obliged to recognize a civil marriage as valid and inviolate. I would, in some sort of church ceremony, offer the church's blessings on such a marriage, but I would not perform the marriage ceremony the second time.

Sincerely yours,

Richard C. RIFE, Pastor
St. Paul's Lutheran Church
Morgantown, W. Virginia

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I sent his niece and nephew a check for $100 for their wedding gift. When all the gifts were displayed, our check was in a sealed envelope on which was written $100 check," but our name was nowhere in sight. There were other checks in envelopes marked "$25" and several "$10" and one "$50." (Ours was the only $100 gift.) Why did they not display the checks so their friends and relatives could see who gave how much? I was so put out about this I told my husband that we should stop payment on that check and buy them something for around ten dollars. What is your opinion?

PUT OUT

DEAR PUT OUT: Sorry, but your niece displayed her gifts properly. According to the etiquette experts, checks should be displayed so that the donor's name is not in evidence.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

There are some falsecards one has to make simply as a matter of self-survival. The opportunity for such plays, known as mandatory falsecards, seldom arises, but when it does, it is virtually suicidal to fail to falsecard.

Here is a typical situation. East, the hero of this piece, is defending against four hearts and West wins the first two tricks with the Q-J of spades. East takes the next trick with the ace of spades and elects to return a club, which South wins in dummy with the queen.

Declarer now plays a low heart, and our hero, East, plays the king, not the ten. When South wins the king with the ace and returns a low heart, West following low, South is faced with a very difficult decision.

If he assumes that the king was a singleton, he must play the nine in order to prevent West from making a trump trick with his supposed holding of the 10-8-7-2. It would certainly not be abnormal for South to come to this conclusion and finesse the nine—and go down.

However, if South guesses the situation correctly, he goes up with the jack, catches the ten, and thus makes the contract.

The all-important point is that if East plays the ten when the four is led from dummy, South is bound to finesse the queen and make the contract as a result. East has no chance of defeating four hearts if he plays the ten.

But if East falsecards with the king, he presents declarer with a genuine problem which he might well fine insoluble. By falsecarding and pretending he was dealt the singleton king, East creates a problem for South which would not exist if East played the ten. East must play the king if he is to give his side a chance of defeating the contract. It is a mandatory falsecard.

Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pfeiff are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Harry Edward Coe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edward Coe of Omaha. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock, Saturday evening, Sept. 18, at the First Methodist Church, by Dr. Carl M. Davidson.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Susan Diffenderfer.

Dale Brockemeier served as best man, and seating the guests were Dennis Curran, Bill Brinkman and Charles Churchill.

For her wedding, the bride wore a softly tailored suit of beige wool. She carried an arrangement of Fuji chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe, who will make their home in Omaha, are former students at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Chi Omega, and Mr. Coe's fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for three years. My wife and I work different shifts so we don't see very much of each other. A while back I started seeing a girl who works my shift. One thing led to another and now she tells me that she is going to have a baby and I am the father. She has been divorced a full year so there's no pinning this on her ex husband. She thinks I love her just because I told her I did, but what else does a guy say in a situation like that?

Anyway, I don't love her that much and I would rather stay with the wife I have. This girl says if I don't divorce my wife and marry her fast, she will take me to court. Can she? Maybe I should just pack up and leave town. What do you recommend?

JACK

DEAR JACK: (And I hope you have plenty of it.) Get yourself a lawyer. I suggest you stay where you are and face the music. They're playing YOUR arrangements.

DEAR ABBY: When you informed a young woman, who had been married by a Justice of the Peace, that her own clergyman would perform the marriage a second time under more auspicious circumstances, I think you goofed.

It may be that there are some denominations that have a special regulation on second ceremonies. It is even conceivable that there are pastors in my own denomination who would consent to such a request. However, if I interpret my church's teachings correctly, we are obliged to recognize a civil marriage as valid and inviolate. I would, in some sort of church ceremony, offer the church's blessings on such a marriage, but I would not perform the marriage ceremony the second time.

Sincerely yours,

Richard C. RIFE, Pastor
St. Paul's Lutheran Church
Morgantown, W. Virginia

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I sent his niece and nephew a check for $100 for their wedding gift. When all the gifts were displayed, our check was in a sealed envelope on which was written $100 check," but our name was nowhere in sight. There were other checks in envelopes marked "$25" and several "$10" and one "$50." (Ours was the only $100 gift.) Why did they not display the checks so their friends and relatives could see who gave how much? I was so put out about this I told my husband that we should stop payment on that check and buy them something for around ten dollars. What is your opinion?

PUT OUT

DEAR PUT OUT: Sorry, but your niece displayed her gifts properly. According to the etiquette experts, checks should be displayed so that the donor's name is not in evidence.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

There are some falsecards one has to make simply as a matter of self-survival. The opportunity for such plays, known as mandatory falsecards, seldom arises, but when it does, it is virtually suicidal to fail to falsecard.

Here is a typical situation. East, the hero of this piece, is defending against four hearts and West wins the first two tricks with the Q-J of spades. East takes the next trick with the ace of spades and elects to return a club, which South wins in dummy with the queen.

Declarer now plays a low heart, and our hero, East, plays the king, not the ten. When South wins the king with the ace and returns a low heart, West following low, South is faced with a very difficult decision.

If he assumes that the king was a singleton, he must play the nine in order to prevent West from making a trump trick with his supposed holding of the 10-8-7-2. It would certainly not be abnormal for South to come to this conclusion and finesse the nine—and go down.

However, if South guesses the situation correctly, he goes up with the jack, catches the ten, and thus makes the contract.

The all-important point is that if East plays the ten when the four is led from dummy, South is bound to finesse the queen and make the contract as a result. East has no chance of defeating four hearts if he plays the ten.

But if East falsecards with the king, he presents declarer with a genuine problem which he might well fine insoluble. By falsecarding and pretending he was dealt the singleton king, East creates a problem for South which would not exist if East played the ten. East must play the king if he is to give his side a chance of defeating the contract. It is a mandatory falsecard.

Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pfeiff are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Harry Edward Coe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edward Coe of Omaha. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock, Saturday evening, Sept. 18, at the First Methodist Church, by Dr. Carl M. Davidson.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Susan Diffenderfer.

Dale Brockemeier served as best man, and seating the guests were Dennis Curran, Bill Brinkman and Charles Churchill.

For her wedding, the bride wore a softly tailored suit of beige wool. She carried an arrangement of Fuji chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe, who will make their home in Omaha, are former students at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Chi Omega, and Mr. Coe's fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

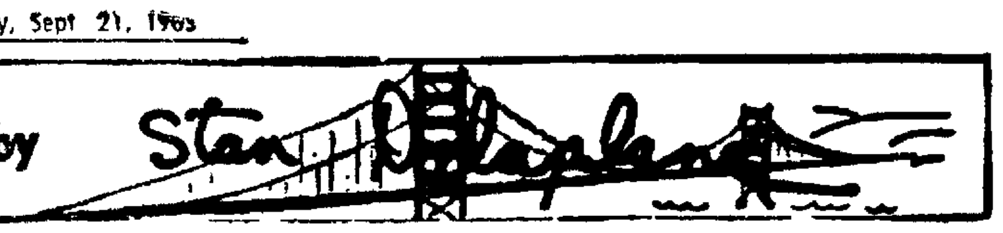
POSTCARD by



The smoky autumn afternoons are upon us And when I drove down to the store (why do people go out and shop and forget butter?)—the playing field was green and full of splendid young men in bright jerseys

I hope our school has a good team this year. A team with tricky plays I recall that we had a tricky play when I was doing or dying for old Sweet U Normal

People are certainly rude when I explain my football career

"It was a kind of hidden ball play. And who do you think hid the ball? Your father!"

That is an interesting revelation.

"Have you seen that blue sweater I left here? I put it in your closet "

My oldest chick drops in from time to time To drop a suitcase of clothing Or pick up a suitcase of clothing

She will be sorry she didn't listen to my hidden ball play.

The best thing about this tricky play—we called it "Old 47"—was that the ball got so hidden nobody on our team knew exactly where it was.

"In those days, dear hearts, we didn't go into a huddle and all that sneaky stuff We called the signals in code. When 47 was called, it was a signal that we would do that play "

I have forgotten all the details It involved ducking—as though you had a stomach ache And the ball was passed around most cleverly in the backfield.

Often enough, it seemed to get passed to one of the opposing players who then ran to a touchdown

It was a great play but frustrating

In those golden autumn days, there was a series of football books with tricky titles: "Left End Edwards" and "Right Tackle Thayer." The author went through all 11 positions in a tricky, alliterative way.

In the books, some traitor stole the signal Gave them to the opposing team

Well, Left End Edwards was getting clobbered but good

How could this happen?

Left End Edwards did not know but we did The opposition was reading the signals. They were waiting for him. Crunch!

In the last half, Left End Edwards discovered the dastardly plot. He called time out and changed the signals. One minute to play. Away he went to the winning touchdown.

With such fodder, we had an enormous security system (I wish people would listen when I explain these things How can I tell the story when somebody says, "Oh dear. I forgot the butter Would you mind running down to the store?")

The young men on the practice field probably don't know about Old 47 A play as good today as it was then

If our team needs a good play, they can come up to the house and I'll diagram it.

We had an unbeaten record—I mean the record was unbeaten, not us. The record was that we lost every single game! Every one.

I don't know how it happened, for we had a lot of school spirit.

RFK Calls Present Immigration Quota System 'Absurd'

Washington (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., called the present system of immigration quotas absurd Monday, and advocated its repeal.

Kennedy urged passage of an administration-backed bill which would end what he termed the discriminatory national-origins system, imposed in 1924.

Noting that under this system more than half of the annual quota numbers are assigned to England and Ireland, Kennedy told the Senate:

"Thaddeus Kosciuszko and Casimir Pulaski built liberty for all Americans—and America says to their descendants, 'You are less desirable than Englishmen or Irishmen.'

"Arturo Toscanini built a symphonic and operatic tradition on these shores, and Enrico Fermi built weapons to save our sons' lives—and America says to their countrymen, 'You are less welcome here than Swedes or Germans.' "

Kennedy said that at present "a maid, or an unskilled laborer from a Northern European country can enter this country within a matter of weeks, while scientists or doctors or other highly skilled persons from less favored countries wait for months and years."

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., also urged passage of the bill. The measure cleared the House on Aug. 25.

Hemisphere Limit

Javits said he is disturbed by a provision inserted by the Senate Judiciary Committee which would place a 120,000 annual quota on immigrants from the Western Hemisphere. Saltonstall termed the provision "realistic and equitable."

Fong told the Senate the present quota system involves racial discrimination.

"Besides Orientals, Polynesians and Negroes, the present law also discriminates against persons of Eastern European, Middle Eastern and Mediterranean origins by allotting them disproportionately smaller quotas than other European areas," he said.

"Arturo Toscanini built a symphonic and operatic tradition on these shores, and Enrico Fermi built weapons to save our sons' lives—and America says to their countrymen, 'You are less welcome here than Swedes or Germans.' "

Kennedy said that at present "a maid, or an unskilled laborer from a Northern European country can enter this country within a matter of weeks, while scientists or doctors or other highly skilled persons from less favored countries wait for months and years."

Sens Jacob K Javits, R-N.Y., Hiram L. Fong. R-Hawaii. and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass , also urged passage of the bill. The measure cleared the House on Aug. 25

Hemisphere Limit

Javits said he is disturbed by a provision inserted by the Senate Judiciary Committee which would place a 120,000 annual quota on immigrants from the Western Hemisphere Saltonstall termed the provision "realistic and equitable."

Fong told the Senate the present quota system involves racial discrimination.

"Besides Orientals, Polynesians and Negroes the present law also discriminates against persons of Eastern European Middle Eastern and Mediterranean origins by allotting them disproportionately smaller quotas than other European areas," he said.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Sports Editor, The Star

Molding Another

If Air Force coach Ben Martin ever finds a quarterback in his freshman ranks whom he can keep at quarterback, there's no telling what the Falcons might do.

But until that bonafide quarterback comes along, Martin is doing the next best thing. He takes a non-quarterback type, pours him into the molder and Bingo—he's a quarterback.

The two most successful quarterbacks to go through this molding process were Rich Mayo and Terry Isaacson. This season Martin is working on another convert—Paul Stein—who will be quarterbacking the Falcons against Nebraska Saturday at the Air Force plant.

Stein will go into Martin's recipe book as the third cadet he has mechanically fashioned into a "Flexible T" quarterback.

Started With Mayo

The process started in Martin's first season at the Academy when he pulled Mayo out of the halfback corps and made the skinny sophomore into a first class gunner.

All Mayo did was lead that first team to an unbeaten season and a trip to the 1959 Cotton Bowl.

Martin had to go it with a true quarterback for a couple of years until he found Isaacson wandering around in the halfback ranks where he was No. 1 as a sophomore. At the Air Force Academy, No. 1 halfbacks become quarterbacks the next season and Isaacson was shoved into the Martin vat to be molded into a quarterback.

Because Isaacson was trying to learn to pilot a jet plane at the same time, it took him until his senior year to develop into a passing whiz.

But when he did come out of the Martin teaching process, Issacson set 15 Falcon offensive records and Nebraskans will remember him as the fellow who casually lofted a pass into the arms of Fritz Greenlee in 1963 at Memorial Stadium, knocking the Huskers from the unbeaten ranks.

Now Comes Stein

And now comes Stein, a quarterback who Nebraska coach John Melton describes as "a lot like Isaacson. He can scramble pretty good and he can throw the ball."

Stein's progress chart reads like a planned course toward oblivion. Stein started at the Air Force with a slim bit of overconfidence and was immediately relegated to the No. 3 spot on the freshman team.

From there he:

—Fooled around with the junior varsity as a sophomore when he was unable to make the varsity team.

—Earned a defensive safety job going into his junior year but then tangled with a motorboat propeller while water skiing and was cut severely on the heel.

—Having lost his defensive job to Lloyd Duncan, Stein hobbled around on his made foot and studied Martin's offensive patterns. After the injury heeled, he was made an understudy to quarterback Tim Murphy.

Good Run, No Pass

Murphy could pass, but he couldn't run. Stein could run, but he couldn't pass. Figuring it was easier to teach a boy to throw than to run. Martin made Stein his No. 1 quarterback last spring despite the fact he couldn't throw the ball accurately more than 15 yards.

Stein spent the summer throwing between 250 and 300 passes daily. "He threw until his arm nearly went dead," Martin points out. "But this daily grind has paid off for him. I still give him a dose of 100 or more passes during our daily sessions and the improvement is gratifying."

Stein apparently has learned to throw the ball more than 15 yards. He completed a 56-yard TD pass against Wyoming Saturday while hitting 11 of 27 for 177 yards.

Maybe Chinese Do Care Whether Huskers Win

. . . DEVANEY GETS NOTE FROM CHING FU REGARDING CHINESE ATTITUDE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney admitted Monday that he may have underestimated the football interest of the Chinese.

"I have this note here from Ching Fu," Devaney told the luncheon audience at the Extra Point Club Quarterback meeting. "And he says, 'Us Chinese do care if you win. Besides we now have 900 million people'."

Devaney was referring to a statement made last week in which he said 800 million Chinese didn't care whether the Huskers win or lose.

The Husker coach had praise for nearly everyone who got into the game in Saturday's 34-14 win over Texas Christian. In the process of handing out praise, he exonerated a couple of players whom he had blamed for mistakes Saturday.

"I jerked Carel Stith quickly after one TCU run which I thought was his fault," Devaney mentioned. "But after checking the movies, I find that there were several others just as much to blame as Carel on this play.

"Carel will be right back in there this week, battling Richard Czap for that tackle spot."

The Husker coach also revised his thinking on defensive halfback Kaye Carstens. "Kaye allowed that one pass completion that went for a touchdown," Devaney noted, "And I pulled him out and chewed him out pretty good.

"But after studying the movies, I feel sort of bad about it because Kaye played a real fine defensive football game for us."

Devaney also was less critical of the defensive line Monday. "We were disappointed in the defensive team after the game Saturday," he pointed out. "But we now feel that they made some real good hits.

"Part of the trouble may have been that we anticipated more passing from Texas Christian and we were set up to stop their passing.

"After making some adjustments at halftime, the defensive unit allowed only about 40 yards on the ground compared to more than 100 in the first half."

Devaney also blamed part of the defensive problems on the unknown factors that go with a first game.

"We might have done a better job of setting up the defenses if we had been able to see them in a couple of games this season," he offered. "But it's always a little tougher when you have nothing to go on except what they did last season and what they choose to show you in their spring game.

"But the defense wasn't so far off that they didn't do a good job overall."

Noting that perhaps all the Huskers proved Saturday was that "we were better than TCU on Sept. 18 of this year," Devaney observed that the game could be looked at in two ways.

"You can look at it for the first two drives when we made very few mistakes and took the lead," he said.

"Or you could look at it another way and figure that maybe TCU was caught off guard a little and got off to a slow start," Devaney continued. "After our first two touchdowns, Texas Christian played us pretty tough.

"You can take the rest of our touchdowns and we don't look quite as good as we did on the first two. We got our third score on an intercepted pass.

Our fourth touchdown was helped along by a pass interference call and our final touchdown came against their second unit."

Look At Record

Assistant coach John Melton, who scouted the Air Force in its loss to Wyoming Saturday, warned Husker fans to check the NU record against the Air Force in the past eight years before feeling sorry for the Falcons.

In the only previous meeting between the two teams, the Air Force scored a 17-13 win over the Huskers, inflicting the only loss on the 1963 NU schedule

"Air Force trailed Wyoming only 14-7 at halftime and they were throwing into a typical Wyoming wind," Melton advised. "They will throw a lot and they have good receivers.

"Their quarterback, Paul Stein, is a lot like (Terry) Isaacson. He's a scrambler."

Melton pointed out Stein's favorite receivers as wingback Bill Manning, a 6-2, 200-pound senior, and end Mike Mueller, a 5-11 188-pound sophomore.

"They also have a fine middle guard in Don Heckert," Melton warned, "And their left linebacker, Clay Magee, is a good one.

"I'm definitely worried about this Air Force game," Melton chuckled, "And you would be too if you were working on a week to week contract like I am."

NU DROPS FROM NO. 1

...Notre Dame Grabs Top Spot In AP Poll

By Associated Press

Notre Dame, an impressive opening game winner over California, has been named the No. 1 college football team in the nation in the first regular season vote by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters for The Associated Press.

Nebraska, the preseason poll leader, also received solid support after running over Texas Christian 34-14, and finished a close-up second to the Irish.

Texas, No. 2 in preseason, also caught the eye of many with a 31-0 romp over Tulane. Michigan and Arkansas both got away fast and drew first place support.

Alabama was the only member of the preseason Top Ten to lose. Georiga upended Bear Bryant's Tide 18-17 with a borrowed play and a gambling two-point conversion. Georgia drew one first-place vote but didn't make the Top Ten.

Southern California, which has been No. 7, dropped out of the Top Ten after a 20-20 tie with Minnesota Friday night. Idle Ohio State also was passed over in the first voting.

Florida's triumph over Northwestern, 24-12, Syracuse's 14-6 opening success against Navy and Ketucky's 7-0 upset of Missouri put those three teams into the top group.

Ara Parseghian's Irish, trying to capture the crown that escaped them last year when they lost their final game to Southern California, crushed California 48-6. Notre Dame rolled up impressive yardage on a ground attack headed by Bill Wolski and Don Eddy, and threw only seven passes.

Bob Churchich, Nebraska quarterback, threw two touchdown passes to split end Freeman White for a 14-0 lead over TCU in the first 12 minutes. Texas rolled over Tulane with ease in a game transferred from New Orleans to Austin because of hurricane damage to Tulane's stadium.

Michigan downed North Carolina 31-24 and earned enough votes for No. 4 rating. Arkansas, a 28-14 winner over Oklahoma State, took over the No. 5 position.

Purdue, which meets Notre Dame Saturday in the only clash of Top Ten teams, moved up to sixth place after a 38-0 romp over Miami of Ohio.

Louisiana State took over seventh place after beating Texas A&M 10-0 and Florida, Syracuse and Kentucky followed in order.

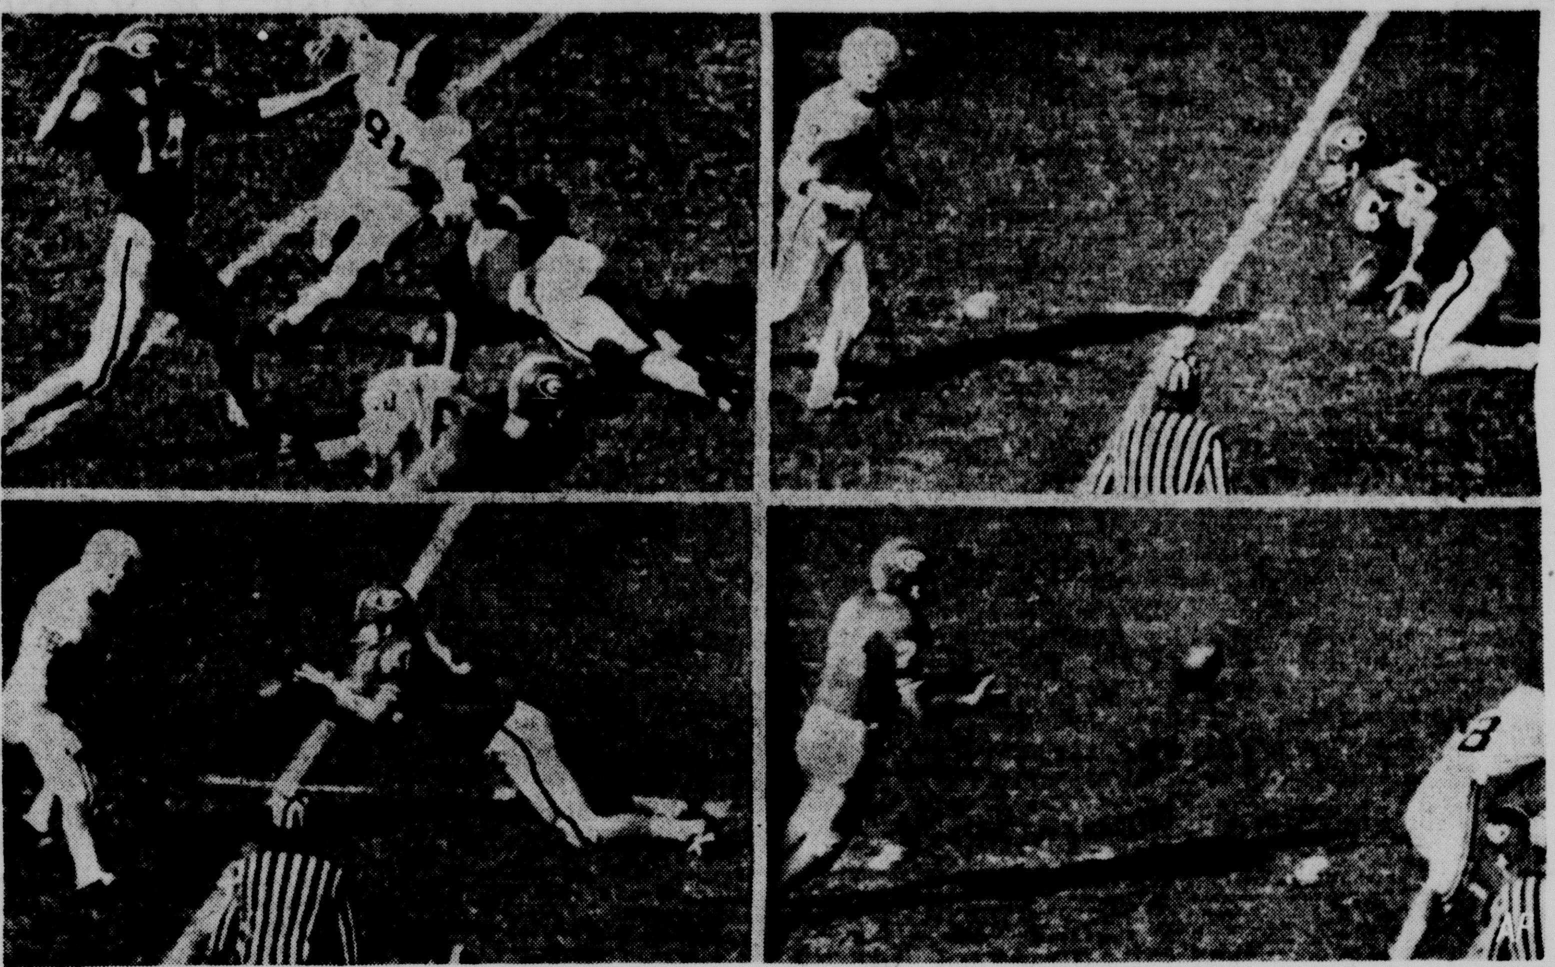
The pairings involving the Top Ten this week include:

Notre Dame-Purdue, Nebraska-Air Force, Texas-Texas Tech, Michigan-California, Arkansas-Tulsa, LSU-Rice, Florida-Mississippi State, Syracuse Miami of Florida and Kentucky-Mississippi.

The vote with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis and first place ballots in parentheses:

1. Notre Dame (24) 1-0		472
2. Nebraska (16)	1-0	429
3. Texas (7)	1-0	376
4. Michigan (2)	1	289
5. Arkansas (4)	1 0	280
6. Purdue	1-0	208
7. Louisiana State	1-0	164
8. Florida	1-0	95
9. Syracuse	1-0	84
10. Kentucky	1-0	78

Other teams receiving votes included: Georgia, Iowa, Michigan State, Minnesota, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Ohio State, Oregon State, Penn State, Southern California, STanford, Tennessee, Texas Tech, West Virginia, Wyoming.



DISPUTED PLAY . . . Photos show disputed play with Georgia quarterback Kirby Moore (14) throwing to end Pat Hodgson (87) who appears to be on his knees in top right photo before pitching back to halfback Bob Taylor (24) who ran for touchdown that gave Georgia 18-17 win over Alabama Saturday.

Alabama May Have Lost On Illegal TD

. . . PHOTOS SHOW LATERAL MADE FROM KNEELING POSITION

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—The Birmingham News said Monday that Georgia beat Alabama Saturday with an illegal touchdown.

"Officials blew the play which gave Georgia the touchdown which won it an 18-17 victory still being celebrated . . ." Wrote Alf Van Hoose, the assistant sports editor.

The touchdown came with two minutes left and Alabama ahead 17-10.

The play started on the Georgia 27 with a pass from quarterback Kirby Moore to end Pat Hodgson. Hodgson lateraled to halfback Bob Taylor, who made the touchdown. The Bulldogs went for the two-point conversion, and Moore connected with Hodgson in the end zone.

Van Hoose said that sequence pictures show that Hodgson's knees were on the ground after he caught the pass and before he tossed the ball to Taylor.

The rule book says that "the ball becomes dead and the down is ended when a runner allows any part of his person other than hand or foot to touch the ground."

Alabama Coach Paul Bryant "knows they (the officials) know that too," Van Hoose wrote. "But he has shrugged it off. He will not protest. He will not try to get the score erased—but he will not be happy about it."

Van Hoose said that Bryant detected the infraction when checking films before his television replay of the game Sunday. But Bryant made no mention of any irregularity on the show.

"It happened so fast," Van Hoose quoted Bryant as saying, "that I couldn't tell when that end was down or not.

"If I had known then, what I know now, though, I'd still be on that field arguing.

"But it's too late to do anything now. You don't win games in movies, on Monday. You win them on the field.

"As far as I am concerned, the game is over. Georgia won it."

—WISNER, WAKEFIELD RANK 1-2 IN CLASS C—

Holdrege Is Class B Prep Leader

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

There's a new look in Class B, but no change at the top in Class C in the initial Nebraska Prep Football Ratings.

Holdrege, a 3-6 club in 1964, has a solid grip on the No. 1 spot in Class B while Wisner and Wakefield, which finished 1-2 last year, are leading the Class C pack.

Gothenburg, the 1964 Class B champion, fails to appear on the opening chart after two straight losses, but five other members of last year's top ten have returned.

West Point Central Catholic, seventh in 1964, takes the No. 2 spot on the first chart after disposing of Columbus Scotus and Oakland.

Cozad, the No. 10 club in 1964, takes the third position after stopping Aurora and Ogallala.

Laurel, boasting a 21-game win skein, returns at the No. 5 position, followed by Crete (second in 1964) and Valentine (ninth in 1964).

Fourth-ranked Schuyler, eighth-ranked York, ninth-ranked Minden and tenth-ranked West Point join Holdrege as newcomers to the top ten.

Holdrege opened impressively by blanking McCook, 18-0, and followed with a 26-0 whitewash of Ord, which had stopped Gothenburg in its opener.

Wisner prevailed again in its early showdown with Wakefield, winning the season opener by the narrow margin of an extra point, 7-6.

Wayne Arnold's top-ranked club then emphasized its claim on the No. 1 spot with a 32-0 rout of Class B Wayne while Wakefield bounced back with a 42-6 romp over Emerson-Hubbard.

Right behind the leaders is Bertrand, a veteran club which was impressive in its only test—a 40-6 win over Blue Hill. The win picked up significance when Blue Hill came back in the second week to trip Red Cloud, 15-6.

Back of the first three come three returnees from the 1964 top ten—Hebron, Scribner and Grant.

Hebron, which finished No. 5 a year ago, grabs the No. 4 spot. Scribner, seventh in 1964, opens at No. 5 this time following an opening 18-0 win over Pender. Bill Olson's club rested the second week and gets a serious test this week as it goes against West Point, tenth on the Class B chart.

Grant had its unbeaten string snapped at 35 games by Holyoke, Colo., 18-13, but takes the No. 6 spot on the initial chart on the strength of its opening 6-0 win over Class B Ogallala.

Waverly, still untested after whipping Gretna and Valley, gets the No. 7 spot with Oakland taking the eighth position. Oakland's loss was a 39-13 whipping at the hands of West Point Central Catholic.

Wahoo Neumann, which may outgrow the Class C ranks this year, and Ceresco are knotted for the ninth and tenth positions.

Nebraska Prep Ratings

By Don Forsythe

Class B

1—Holdrege (2-0)
2—West Point C.C. (2-0)
3—Cozad (2-0)
4—Schuyler (2-0)
5—Laurel (2-0)
6—Crete (1-1)
7—Valentine (1-1)
8—York (1-0-1)
9—Minden (2-0)
10—West Point (2-0)

Comment — Holdrege firmly entrenched in No. 1 spot, but from that point on there are still many questions to be answered. Losses suffered by Crete and Valentine have been at hands of Class A teams. York's tie also came in Class A ranks.

Class C

1—Wisner (2-0)
2—Wakefield (2-0)
3—Bertrand (1-0)
4—Hebron (2-0)
5—Scribner (1-0)
6—Grant (1-1)
7—Waverly (2-0)
8—Oakland (1-1)
9-10—Wahoo Neumann (1-0-1)
9-10—Ceresco (1-0-1)

Comment—Wisner and Wakefield are taking up right where they finished last year. Bertrand flashed power in its only test to date. Big shuffle likely when new NSAA classification figures come out.

Molding Another

If Air Force coach Ben Martin ever finds a quarterback in his freshman ranks whom he can keep at quarterback, there's no telling what the Falcons might do.

But until that bonafide quarterback comes along, Martin is doing the next best thing. He takes a non-quarterback type, pours him into the molder and Bingo—he's a quarterback.

The two most successful quarterbacks to go through this molding process were Rich Mayo and Terry Isaacson. This season Martin is working on another convert—Paul Stein—who will be quarterbacking the Falcons against Nebraska Saturday at the Air Force plant.

Stein will go into Martin's recipe book as the third cadet he has mechanically fashioned into a "Flexible T" quarterback.

Started With Mayo

The process started in Martin's first season at the Academy when he pulled Mayo out of the halfback corps and made the skinny sophomore into a first class gunner.

All Mayo did was lead that first team to an unbeaten season and a trip to the 1959 Cotton Bowl.

Martin had to go it with a true quarterback for a couple of years until he found Isaacson wandering around in the halfback ranks where he was No. 1 as a sophomore.

At the Air Force Academy, No. 1 halfbacks become quarterbacks the next season and Isaacson was shoved into the Martin vat to be molded into a quarterback.

Because Isaacson was trying to learn to pilot a jet plane at the same time, it took him until his senior year to develop into a passing whiz.

But when he did come out of the Martin teaching process, Issacson set 15 Falcon offensive records and Nebraskans will remember him as the fellow who casually lofted a pass into the arms of Fritz Greenlee in 1963 at Memorial Stadium, knocking the Huskers from the unbeaten ranks.

Now Comes Stein

And now comes Stein, a quarterback who Nebraska coach John Melton describes as "a lot like Isaacson. He can scramble pretty good and he can throw the ball."

Stein's progress chart reads like a planned course toward oblivion. Stein started at the Air Force with a slim bit of overconfidence and was immediately relegated to the No. 3 spot on the freshman team.

From there he

—Fooled around with the junior varsity as a sophomore when he was unable to make the varsity team

—Earned a defensive safety job going into his junior year but then tangled with a motorboat propeller while water skiing and was cut severely on the heel.

—Having lost his defensive job to Lloyd Duncan, Stein hobbled around on his made foot and studied Martin's offensive patterns. After the injury heeled, he was made an understudy to quarterback Tim Murphy.

Good Run, No Pass

Murphy could pass, but he couldn't run. Stein could run, but he couldn't pass. Figuring it was easier to teach a boy to throw than to run. Martin made Stein his No. 1 quarterback last spring despite the fact he couldn't throw the ball accurately more than 15 yards.

Stein spent the summer throwing between 250 and 300 passes daily. "He threw until his arm nearly went dead," Martin points out. "But this daily grind has paid off for him. I still give him a dose of 100 or more passes during our daily sessions and the improvement is gratifying."

Stein apparently has learned to throw the ball more than 15 yards. He completed a 56-yard TD pass against Wyoming Saturday while hitting 11 of 27 for 177 yards.

Holdrege Is Class B Prep Leader

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

There's a new look in Class B, but no change at the top in Class C in the initial Nebraska Prep Football Ratings.

Holdrege, a 3-6 club in 1964, has a solid grip on the No. 1 spot in Class B while Wisner and Wakefield, which finished 1-2 last year, are leading the Class C pack.

Gothenburg, the 1964 Class B champion, fails to appear on the opening chart after two straight losses, but five other members of last year's top ten have returned.

West Point Central Catholic, seventh in 1964, takes the No. 2 spot on the first chart after disposing of Columbus Scotus and Oakland.

Cozad, the No. 10 club in 1964, takes the third position after stopping Aurora and Ogallala.

Laurel, boasting a 21-game win skein, returns at the No. 5 position, followed by Crete (second in 1964) and Valentine (ninth in 1964).

Fourth-ranked Schuyler, eighth-ranked York, ninth-ranked Minden and tenth-ranked West Point join Holdrege as newcomers to the top ten.

Holdrege opened impressively by blanking McCook, 18-0, and followed with a 26-0 whitewash of Ord, which had stopped Gothenburg in its opener.

Wisner prevailed again in its early showdown with Wakefield, winning the season opener by the narrow margin of an extra point, 7-6.

Wayne Arnold's top-ranked club then emphasized its claim on the No. 1 spot with a 32-0 rout of Class B Wayne while Wakefield bounced back with a 42-6 romp over Emerson-Hubbard.

Right behind the leaders is Bertrand, a veteran club which was impressive in its only test—a 40-6 win over Blue Hill. The win picked up significance when Blue Hill came back in the second week to trip Red Cloud, 15-6.

Back of the first three come three returnees from the 1964 top ten—Hebron, Scribner and Grant.

Hebron, which finished No. 5 a year ago, grabs the No. 4 spot. Scribner, seventh in 1964, opens at No. 5 this time following an opening 18-0 win over Pender. Bill Olson's club rested the second week and gets a serious test this week as it goes against West Point, tenth on the Class B chart.

Grant had its unbeaten string snapped at 35 games by Holyoke, Colo., 18-13, but takes the No. 6 spot on the initial chart on the strength of its opening 6-0 win over Class B Ogallala.

Waverly, still untested after whipping Gretna and Valley, gets the No. 7 spot with Oakland taking the eighth position. Oakland's loss was a 39-13 whipping at the hands of West Point Central Catholic.

Wahoo Neumann, which may outgrow the Class C ranks this year, and Ceresco are knotted for the ninth and tenth positions.

Class B

1—Holdrege (2-0)
2—West Point C.C. (2-0)
3—Cozad (2-0)
4—Schuyler (2-0)
5—Laurel (2-0)
6—Crete (1-1)
7—Valentine (1-1)
8—York (1-0-1)
9—Minden (2-0)
10—West Point (2-0)

Comment — Holdrege firmly entrenched in No. 1 spot, but from that point on there are still many questions to be answered. Losses suffered by Crete and Valentine have been at hands of Class A teams. York's tie also came in Class A ranks.

Class C

Giants Boost Lead To Four

. . . A'S SLOW TWINS

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants, getting sterling relief pitching from Masanori Murakami and clutch hitting from Tom Haller, defeated Cincinnati 4-0 Monday night and increased their National League lead to four games.

The Giants' 17th victory in the last 18 games dropped idle second-place Los Angeles another half-game back to four and the third-place Reds 5½ back.

Murakami relieved Bob Bolin with two on and none out in the sixth inning, retired the next three batters and held the Reds to one hit the rest of the way. Haller singled across two runs for the Giants, the first off Jim Maloney, who was seeking his 20th victory.

In the American League race, the Kansas City Athletics delayed Minnesota's rush to the pennant by whipping the Twins 8-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Catfish Hunter and John Wyatt.

Meanwhile, Baltimore scored a 4-2 victory over California, leaving the Twins' pennant-clinching number at three. It will take a combination of three Minnesota victories and Baltimore losses totaling three to give the Twins their first league championship.

It could all be over within the next couple of days—the Orioles take on the front-runners at Minneapolis-St. Paul Tuesday and Wednesday.

Only 537, the smallest turnout in the Twins' five seasons, were on hand to see the A's beat 19-game winner Jim Grant. They scored three times off the right-hander in the first inning, and Larry Stahl tagged him for a homer in the fifth. Don Mincher homered twice for Minnesota's runs.

The Orioles scored their four runs in the sixth inning against Jim McGlothlin, making his major league debut. Steve Barber won his fourth straight and ran his record to 14-9, with relief help from Stu Miller. A crowd of 945 watched the Orioles-Angels game at Chavez Ravine.

Another record low crowd — 812 — was at Milwaukee, where the Philadelphia Phillies cashed in on Wade Blasingame's wildness for four first-inning runs and beat the fading Braves 4-1. Tony Taylor's single, a walk, an error and three more talks finished Blasingame, then Pat Corrales capped the Phils' first with a two-run single off Clay Carroll.

Ray Culp scattered 10 Milwaukee hits, including Hank Aaron's 32nd homer, as the Braves lost for the seventh time in their last nine games.

The crowd was the smallest in 13 National League seasons for Milwaukee, which will be deserted by the Braves in favor of Atlanta after this year.

Cleveland edged Detroit 5-4 as Max Alvis led off the 14th inning with a single, his fourth hit of the game, and scored on Chico Salmon's pinch-hit, bases-loaded single.

Tommy Sisk pitched a two-hitter as Pittsburgh clobbered the New York Mets 10-0. Donn Clendenon drove in three runs for the Pirates with singles in the three-run fourth inning and the six-run fifth.

Casale Sentenced To Six Months On Fix Attempt

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—Leo Casale, 24, Chicago night club operator convicted of trying to fix the point spread in a university basketball game, was sentenced Monday to serve six months in jail.

U.S. District Judge William J. Lindberg imposed a three-year term, suspended all but six months and placed Casael on probation for the remainder of the term.

The time will be served in a "jail type institution" to be designated by the Federal Board of Prison Terms and Paroles.

Drinkers Smash Teetotalers, 20-1

. . . BRITISH SOCCER TEST

London (AP) — Larry Simpson—whose team of non-drinking soccer players was crushed by a team of revellers—drowned his sorrows in milk Monday.

"I had no idea that people who drank could be so fit and so fast," said 30-year-old Simpson. "Let's put it this way—the boys from the pub were too good for us."

That was the understatement of Britain's new soccer season.

Simpson's teetotalers were swamped 20-1.

The match was arranged after Jimmy Page, 26, pub keeper of the Oddfellows Arms at nearby Luton, issued a challenge to any amateur team of abstainers.

The challenge was accepted by Simpson, who lives in London's colorful Elephant and Castle area.

"I wanted to prove that some drinkers can be just as fit as teetotalers," said Page. "I rounded up a group of my regular customers and to put them to the surpreme test. We set the game for a Sunday."

It was too much of a test for a pair of the revellers.

Two of Page's pub patrons turned up a bit unsteady.

"They were frank with me," said the pub keeper. "They said they didn't get home from a late night party until after 8 o'clock in the morning. I had to make two last minute substitutions, but I stuck to the conditions. I called on two more of my regular customers."

"The game proved this," Page said. "You can drink and remain fit, but you can't party all night long and be fit. I'll have to concede that."

Senate Approves Board To Settle Amateur Dispute

Washington (AP)—A resolution authorizing Vice President Hubert H Humphrey to appoint a special board to arbitrate the bitter jurisdictional feud disrupting U.S. track and field affairs received Senate approval Monday.

It passed by voice vote, without a word of debate.

There was no indication from Humphrey as to when he might appoint the five member peace-making team. The members will be allowed neither salary nor expenses under the resolutions terms.

Both the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which rules college track and field affairs, and the Amateur Athletic Union, with jurisdiction over non-collegiate meets, have agreed in principle to accept binding arbitration of their dispute.

COACH KEEPS PROMISE, BUT A LITTLE LATE

St. George, Utah (AP)—Dixie High School football Coach Walter Broooks has kept his word, although he was a little late.

One of his players, Leif Turner, 17, of Washington, Utah, suffered a torn ligament in his knee in a game at Henderson, Nev., Friday night.

Brooks promised he would visit Turrner Sunday at 7 p.m.

He fell from a horse, and at 7:30 p.m. hospital attendants carried Brooks in on a stretcher and put him in a bed next to Turner for treatment of a possible fractured hip.

AP Tabs Garrison Top Big Eight Back

. . . GAINS 146 YARDS

By Associated Press

Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison, the league's defending rushing champ, is the Big Eight Back of The Week by a close margin over Vic Castillo, Kansas State quarterback, and Dick Anderson, Colorado safety.

Garrison, a 200-pounder with break-away quickness, had a 146-yard day against sixth-ranked Arkansas, winner of 13 straight games. He had 74 yards rughing in 18 carries, caught five passes for 72 yards and scored both OSU touchdowns in a 28-14 defeat.

Phil Cutchin, OSU coach, said: "He was outstanding for us in a poorly played game on our part He's our best football player and would be our best linebacker if he played defense."

Castillo, a talented little sophomore with excellent side vision, completed 20 of 43 passes for 241 yards and had four intercepted in K-States 19-7 loss at Indiana. He broke five school records.

His total is eighth best in league history. He's the first league player to make the 200-yard list in his first varsity game and the first sophomore to make it since Missouri's Tony Scardino in 1951.

Anderson was unexpectedly forced into the role of punter for Colorado, because of injuries, in his first varsity game. The cool, 200-pound rookie kicked for the first time from deep in his end zone out of bounds on the Wisconsin 47. His next punt went 60 yards, out of bounds on the Wisconsin 1-yard line, reversing the game's complexion.

Coach Eddie Crowder, in a rare bit of high praise, said Anderson played a near flawless defensive game at strong side safety.

Several other league backs turned in top games.

Missouri's Charlie Brown raced for 84 yards in 14 trips against rugged Kentucky, although he had almost no fall contact after a spring knee injury. Ron Kirkland, al-Nebraska ripped TCU for 93 yards in 12 trips and scored on a 11-yarder in which he spun away from three men.

Mike Johnson of Kansas had a strong all-around game as he caught five passes for 68 yards, blocked strongly, ran for 11 yards and quick kicked 47 and 41 yards in a rain and wind storm against Texas Tech.

Iowa State's Gary King tied a league record with a 95-yard punt return against Drake, and showed a lot of poise for a sophomore, in the words of coach Clay Stapleton. Oklahoma was idle.

Traveled 12,600 Miles

The University of Minnesota's second Gopher Goodwill Tour took athletic staff members 12,600 miles this summer. They conducted meetings in 92 northland cities and towns.

Jayhawks' Mitchell Finally Takes Hint

. . . WAVES PLAYERS OFF FIELD

Kansas City, Mo. (AP)—Jack Mitchell, Kansas football coach, said Monday the tornado-shortened game with Texas Tech was played under unbelievable weather conditions "on the biggest hill in Lubbock, Tex."

Mitchell said the Tech field has "a beautiful growth of Bermuda grass—it must have been six inches thick—and a real fine crown. The whole place was a lake except for the crown of that field.

"I could hardly see our players on the other side," he said. "One time I thought I saw one of our players down—thought maybe he was hit by lightning. I went out on the field, but the referee assured me everything was fine.

"They announced the tornadoes late in the second quarter amd told the people to leave. I kept waiting for them to say something about the players and the coaches leaving.

"Finally I got the drift—I was supposed to make a move, I was supposed to quit. So I just waved everybody to the dressing room — both teams. All they needed was one word.

"We opened the doors of the Kansas dressing room, and the people packed inside, filling the showers, men, women and children. Most of our players just had towels aroun them."

The game was called in the first minutes of the last quarter. Texas Tech won 26-7.

Kansas went ahead 7-3 on a 97-yard touchdown pass, longest in Big Eight history, from rookie quarterback Bill Fenton to split end Willie Ray Smith. Mitchell said they should have called the game then.

"Fenton brought a dry ball in with him, on first down. The ref wrapped a towel around it, and the center put his hands under it. You might say it was obvious we wanted to throw the ball."

"Smith actually had to come back a little to get it and tipped it with one hand. He made a great catch."

CYCLONES DROP BAKER TO NO. 2

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa State coach Clay Stapleton Monday dropped a minor bombshell in the Cyclone camp by demoting fullback Tony Baker and promoting sophomore Willie Robinson to the No. 1 squad.

Baker, a junior and regular starter all last season, gained 123 yards in 13 carries including a 77-yard touchdown in the Cyclones 21-0 victory over Drake Saturday.

However, Stapleton said, "Baker didn't throw a good block all afternoon." Robinson was promoted to the starting lineup against University of Pacific here Saturday on the strength of his blocking game.

Rain, Snow Put Buff Gridders In Fieldhouse

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's football team worked out in the fieldhouse Monday as rain and snow pelted the area for the second straight day.

Coach Eddie Crowder said the only player injured in Colorado's 0-0 tie with Wisconsin was fullback John Marchiol who suffered a bruised ankle.

Crowder said he expected the full squad to be ready for Fresno State's visit Saturday in the Buffalos' home opener.

Giants Boost Lead To Four

. . . A'S SLOW TWINS

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants, getting sterling relief pitching from Masanori Murakami and clutch hitting from Tom Haller, defeated Cincinnati 4-0 Monday night and increased their National League lead to four games.

The Giants' 17th victory in the last 18 games dropped idle second-place Los Angeles another half-game back to four and the third-place Reds 5½ back.

Murakami relieved Bob Bolin with two on and none out in the sixth inning, retired the next three batters and held the Reds to one hit the rest of the way. Haller singled across two runs for the Giants, the first off Jim Maloney, who was seeking his 20th victory.

In the American League race, the Kansas City Athletics delayed Minnesota's rush to the pennant by whipping the Twins 8-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Catfish Hunter and John Wyatt.

Meanwhile, Baltimore scored a 4-2 victory over California, leaving the Twins' pennant-clinching number at three. It will take a combination of three Minnesota victories and Baltimore losses totaling three to give the Twins their first league championship.

It could all be over within the next couple of days—the Orioles take on the front-runners at Minneapolis-St. Paul Tuesday and Wednesday.

Only 537, the smallest turnout in the Twins' five seasons, were on hand to see the A's beat 19-game winner Jim Grant. They scored three times off the right-hander in the first inning, and Larry Stahl tagged him for a homer in the fifth. Don Mincher homered twice for Minnesota's runs.

The Orioles scored their four runs in the sixth inning against Jim McGlothlin, making his major league debut. Steve Barber won his fourth straight and ran his record to 14-9, with relief help from Stu Miller. A crowd of 945 watched the Orioles-Angels game at Chavez Ravine.

Another record low crowd — 812 — was at Milwaukee, where the Philadelphia Phillies cashed in on Wade Blasingame's wildness for four first-inning runs and beat the fading Braves 4-1. Tony Taylor's single, a walk, an error and three more talks finished Blasingame, then Pat Corrales capped the Phils' first with a two-run single off Clay Carroll.

Ray Culp scattered 10 Milwaukee hits, including Hank Aaron's 32nd homer, as the Braves lost for the seventh time in their last nine games.

The crowd was the smallest in 13 National League seasons for Milwaukee, which will be deserted by the Braves in favor of Atlanta after this year.

Cleveland edged Detroit 5-4 as Max Alvis led off the 14th inning with a single, his fourth hit of the game, and scored on Chico Salmon's pinch-hit, bases-loaded single.

Tommy Sisk pitched a two-hitter as Pittsburgh clobbered the New York Mets 10-0. Donn Clendenon drove in three runs for the Pirates with singles in the three-run fourth inning and the six-run fifth.

Casale Sentenced To Six Months On Fix Attempt

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—Leo Casale, 24, Chicago night club operator convicted of trying to fix the point spread in a university basketball game, was sentenced Monday to serve six months in jail.

U.S. District Judge William J. Lindberg imposed a three-year term, suspended all but six months and placed Casael on probation for the remainder of the term.

The time will be served in a "jail type institution" to be designated by the Federal Board of Prison Terms and Paroles.

Drinkers Smash Teetotalers, 20-1

. . . BRITISH SOCCER TEST

London (AP) — Larry Simpson—whose team of non-drinking soccer players was crushed by a team of revellers—drowned his sorrows in milk Monday.

"I had no idea that people who drank could be so fit and so fast," said 30-year-old Simpson. "Let's put it this way—the boys from the pub were too good for us."

That was the understatement of Britain's new soccer season.

Simpson's teetotalers were swamped 20-1.

The match was arranged after Jimmy Page, 26, pub keeper of the Oddfellows Arms at nearby Luton, issued a challenge to any amateur team of abstainers.

The challenge was accepted by Simpson, who lives in London's colorful Elephant and Castle area.

"I wanted to prove that some drinkers can be just as fit as teetotalers," said Page. "I rounded up a group of my regular customers and to put them to the surpreme test. We set the game for a Sunday."

It was too much of a test for a pair of the revellers.

Two of Page's pub patrons turned up a bit unsteady.

"They were frank with me," said the pub keeper. "They said they didn't get home from a late night party until after 8 o'clock in the morning. I had to make two last minute substitutions, but I stuck to the conditions. I called on two more of my regular customers."

"The game proved this," Page said. "You can drink and remain fit, but you can't party all night long and be fit. I'll have to concede that."

Senate Approves Board To Settle Amateur Dispute

Washington (AP)—A resolution authorizing Vice President Hubert H Humphrey to appoint a special board to arbitrate the bitter jurisdictional feud disrupting U.S. track and field affairs received Senate approval Monday.

It passed by voice vote, without a word of debate.

There was no indication from Humphrey as to when he might appoint the five member peace-making team. The members will be allowed neither salary nor expenses under the resolutions terms.

Both the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which rules college track and field affairs, and the Amateur Athletic Union, with jurisdiction over non-collegiate meets, have agreed in principle to accept binding arbitration of their dispute.

COACH KEEPS PROMISE, BUT A LITTLE LATE

St. George, Utah (AP)—Dixie High School football Coach Walter Broooks has kept his word, although he was a little late.

One of his players, Leif Turner, 17, of Washington, Utah, suffered a torn ligament in his knee in a game at Henderson, Nev., Friday night.

Brooks promised he would visit Turrner Sunday at 7 p.m.

He fell from a horse, and at 7:30 p.m. hospital attendants carried Brooks in on a stretcher and put him in a bed next to Turner for treatment of a possible fractured hip.

AP Tabs Garrison Top Big Eight Back

. . . GAINS 146 YARDS

By Associated Press

Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison, the league's defending rushing champ, is the Big Eight Back of The Week by a close margin over Vic Castillo, Kansas State quarterback, and Dick Anderson, Colorado safety.

Garrison, a 200-pounder with break-away quickness, had a 146-yard day against sixth-ranked Arkansas, winner of 13 straight games. He had 74 yards rushing in 18 carries, caught five passes for 72 yards and scored both OSU touchdowns in a 28-14 defeat.

Phil Cutchin, OSU coach, said: "He was outstanding for us in a poorly played game on our part He's our best football player and would be our best linebacker if he played defense."

Castillo, a talented little sophomore with excellent side vision, completed 20 of 43 passes for 241 yards and had four intercepted in K-States 19-7 loss at Indiana. He broke five school records.

His total is eighth best in league history. He's the first league player to make the 200-yard list in his first varsity game and the first sophomore to make it since Missouri's Tony Scardino in 1951.

Anderson was unexpectedly forced into the role of punter for Colorado, because of injuries, in his first varsity game. The cool, 200-pound rookie kicked for the first time from deep in his end zone out of bounds on the Wisconsin 47. His next punt went 60 yards, out of bounds on the Wisconsin 1-yard line, reversing the game's complexion.

Coach Eddie Crowder, in a rare bit of high praise, said Anderson played a near flawless defensive game at strong side safety.

Several other league backs turned i top games.

Missouri's Charlie Brown raced for 84 yards in 14 trips against rugged Kentucky, although he had almost no fall contact after a spring knee injury. Ron Kirkland, al-Nebraska ripped TCU for 93 yards in 12 trips and scored on a 11-yarder in which he spun away from three men.

Mike Johnson of Kansas had a strong all-around game as he caught five passes for 68 yards, blocked strongly, ran for 11 yards and quick kicked 47 and 41 yards in a rain and wind storm against Texas Tech.

Iowa State's Gary King tied a league record with a 95-yard punt return against Drake, and showed a lot of poise for a sophomore, in the words of coach Clay Stapleton. Oklahoma was idle.

Jayhawks' Mitchel Finally Takes Hint

. . . WAVES PLAYERS OFF FIEL

Kansas City, Mo. (AP)—Jack Mitchell, Kansas football coach, said Monday the tornado-shortened game with Texas Tech was played under unbelievable weather conditions "on the biggest hill in Lubbock, Tex."

Mitchell said the Tech field has "a beautiful growth of Bermuda grass—it must have been six inches thick—and a real fine crown. The who place was a lake except the crown of that field.

"I could hardly see o players on the other side," said. "One time I though saw one of our players dow thought maybe he was hit lightning. I went out on field, but the referee assu me everything was fine.

"They announced the tor does late in the second qu ter amd told the people leave. I kept waiting for th to say something about players and the coaches le ing.

CYCLONES DROP BAKER TO NO. 2

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa State coach Clay Stapleton Monday dropped a minor bombshell in the Cyclone camp by demoting fullback Tony Baker and promoting sophomore Willie Robinson to the No. 1 squad.

Baker, a junior and regular starter all last season, gained 123 yards in 13 carries including a 77-yard touchdown in the Cyclones 21-0 victory over Drake Saturday.

However, Stapleton said, "Baker didn't throw a good block all afternoon." Robinson was promoted to the starting lineup against University of Pacific here Saturday on the strength of his blocking game.

Rain, Snow Put Buff Gridders In Fieldhouse

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's football team worked out in the fieldhouse Monday as rain and snow pelted the area for the second straight day.

Coach Eddie Crowder said the only player injured in Colorado's 0-0 tie with Wisconsin was fullback John Marchiol who suffered a bruised ankle.

Crowder said he expected the full squad to be ready for Fresno State's visit Saturday in the Buffalos' home opener.

Kearney Gets Top Play From Ends, Halfbacks

. . . FIGURED TO BE WEAK SPOTS

If Kearney could get some good end and halfback play, coach Al Zikmund figured before the season, the 1964 Nebraska College Conference champions would be even better.

Well, if that's the situation, it looks like Kearney again.

For Zikmund handed first praise for Saturday night's 40-14 win over Washburn to those "weak" ends and halfbacks and, of course, Neil Kaup, the quarterback throwing for 219 yards.

"We got going with passes in the third quarter." Zikmund said, "and even though the ball was wet, our receivers were holding onto the Minnick's vacancy.

Doing much of the snagging were Gary Dubbs and Joe Inselman, usually on defense but shifted to offense just a week ago to fill injured Joe Minnick's vacancy.

Jim Richardson filled Inselman's hole and along with John Torczon drew first plaudits for the defensive play from Zikmund.

"We were a little disappointed in giving up 207 yards," Zikmund said. "But when you take away those 94 yards (by Myron Myricks for a TD), the figure is right down there where it ought to be."

He said the halfbacks were developing into a dependable lot with Jerry Stuckert and Dick Harr on one side and Dave Backes and Lannie Shelmadine on the other. All are sophomores.

It was the Kaup who had the Antelopes running wild the fourth quarter to four touchdowns, clinching down a second victory.

"Everything just got rolling," Zikmund said. "We had the passing going and sometimes when one thing starts, everything does. Our backs really started running that last quarter."

Nebraska Wesleyan opened its season triumphantly, 19-6, over Midland with the big help coming from Dwight Tietjen's seven catches — three receptions and four interceptions.

Benny Congrove's two successful conversions provided the margain in Hastings' 14-13 win over Colorado Mines, which missed an 18-yard field goal attempt with just 24 seconds left.

Concordia lost the yardage dual but mustered up a second quarter scoring drive to whip Simpson College in Iowa, 6-0 for a 1-0 record. Peru got to Lincoln University's (in Missouri) three-yard line but couldn't take it in to lose its second game of the season, 6-0, without a win.

Omaha U.'s Marlin Briscoe ran for one touchdown and passed for another in the fourth quarter to give the Indians a 26-14 opening game triumph over Idaho State. Briscoe hit 17 of 21 passes for 201 yards.

Wayne lost 87 yards via penalties Saturday night, giving Northwest Missouri the chances it needed for two fourth quarter touchdowns and a 14-7 win. Wayne is now 0-1.

Doane lost four of 10 fumbles and gained only 26 yards on the ground in losing to Yankton (S.D.) College, 32-0, for a 0-1 mark. Dana lost five fumbles—one to stop a last quarter drive while down by seven points—and dropped a 19-6 opener to Tarkio (Mo.) College.

Chadron State gained only 60 total yards while losing to Colorado College, 23-0.

Kearney Gets Top Play From Ends, Halfbacks

. . . FIGURED TO BE WEAK SPOTS

If Kearney could get some good end and halfback play, coach Al Zikmund figured befor the season, the 1964 Nebraska College Conference champions would be even better.

Well, if that's the situation, it looks like Kearney again

For Zikmund handed first praise for Saturday night's 40-14 win over Washburn to those "weak" ends and halfbacks and, of course, Neil Kaup, the quarterback throwing for 219 yards.

"We got going with passes in the third quarter," Zikmund said, "and even though the ball was wet, our receivers were holding onto the Minnick's vacancy.

Doing much of the snagging were Gary Dubbs and Joe Inselman, usually on defense but shifted to offense just a week ago to fill injured Joe Minnick's vacancy.

Jim Richardson filled Inselman's hole and along with John Torczon drew first plaudits for the defensive play from Zikmund.

"We were a little disappointed in giving up 207 yards," Zikmund said. "But when you take away those 94 yards (by Myron Myricks for a TD), the figure is right down there where it ought to be."

He said the halfbacks were developing into a dependable lot with Jerry Stuckert and Dick Harr on one side and Dave Backes and Lannie Shelmadine on the other. All are sophomores.

It was the Kaup who had the Antelopes running wild the fourth quarter to four touchdowns, clinching down a second victory.

"Everything just got rolling," Zikmund said. "We had the passing going and sometimes when one thing starts, everything does. Our backs really started running that last quarter."

Nebraska Wesleyan opened its season triumphantly, 19-6, over Midland with the big help coming from Dwight Tietjen's seven catches — three receptions and four interceptions.

Benny Congrove's two successful conversions provided the margain in Hastings' 14-13 win over Colorado Mines, which missed an 18-yard field goal attempt with just 24 seconds left.

Concordia lost the yardage dual but mustered up a second quarter scoring drive to whip Simpson College in Iowa, 6-0 for a 1-0 record.

Peru got to Lincoln University's (in Missouri) three-yard line but couldn't take it in to lose its second game of the season, 6-0, without a win.

Omaha U.'s Marlin Briscoe ran for one touchdown and passed for another in the fourth quarter to give the Indians a 26-14 opening game triumph over Idaho State. Briscoe hit 17 of 21 passes for 201 yards.

Wayne lost 87 yards via penalties Saturday night, giving Northwest Missouri the chances it needed for two fourth quarter touchdowns and a 14-7 win. Wayne is now 0-1.

Doane lost four of 10 fumbles and gained only 26 yards on the ground in losing to Yankton (S.D.) College, 32-0, for a 0-1 mark. Dana lost five fumbles—one to stop a last quarter drive while down by seven points—and dropped a 19-6 opener to Tarkio (Mo.) College.

Chadron State gained only 60 total yards while losing to Colorado College, 23-0.

Bird Rides Three Madison Winners

Madison — Jockey Larry Bird rode three winners at Madison Downs here Monday to move into third place in the jockey standings behind Don Stauffer and Charles Greenberg.

Bird scored wins aboard Maude B in the fourth, Good Cow in the featured eighth and Quid in the ninth. All three horses were short-priced favorites of the crowd of 1,277 who braved a steady rain to watch the horses run on a sloppy track.

The win was the second for Good Cow here and Quid won by eight lengths in the ninth race.

Today is the final day of racing at Madison this season

Platte Carrying 'Raw Grease'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi told the Nebraska Board of Health Monday that the Platte River is "carrying a high percentage of raw grease."

"Omaha may not be the only cause of the downstream problem for St. Joseph and other Missouri River towns," Filipi said. "A sampling near Plattsmouth shows a build-up of 800 pounds of grease for every one million gallons of water."

Filipi said a comprehensive study is being made of the Platte and its tributaries such as the Salt and Elkhorn to find the "source or sources of the grease."

Meanwhile, Filipi said Omaha officials are working with packing house representatives to prevent discharge of paunch manure into the Missouri River.

Promise

Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen has promised the city will be treating all sewage by Jan. 1, 1967.

The U.S. Public Health Service has stressed that the packing plant discharges must be abated.

Filipi also said efforts are underway to devise a master sewage treatment plan for the Papillion Creek valley.

"Some 250 sewer districts are now located in the area in a 'pot-shot' manner. Some aren't operating and there's no way to compel them under law."

Filipi said the master plan study might be eligible for a federal demonstration grant and would require state enabling legislation.

Allocation OKd

The health board also ratified the allocation of $1,311,301 in federal funds to 31 cities and towns for sewage treatment facilities.

The largest grant went to North Platte, which was allocated $225,000 for a sewage treatment plant. The projects and allocations had been recommended earlier by the State Water Pollution Council.

Other grants included:

Grand Island, $182,700; Omaha, $168,803; Lincoln, $141,620; Columbus, $113,350; Gering, $76,140; Auburn, $52,170; Gothenburg, $79,500; Oakland, $26,160; Scribner, $17,750; Lyons, $17,670; Laurel, $22,710; Spencer, $19,920; Burwell, $24,300; Neuman Grove, $11,460; Winside, $7,620; Silver Creek, $5,100; Dannebrog, $6,600; Boelus, $11,040; Dunbar, $8,494; Palmer, $6,840; Hadar, $7,275; Wilsonville, $10,394; Bee, $5,471; Chambers, $14,000; Malmo, $9,150; Roca, $6,592; Herman, $6,540; Sutton, $10,012; Mullen, $13,020, and Emerson, $6,600.

In other action, the board:

—Named Dr. Louis W. Gilbert of Lincoln as board chairman, replacing Dr. Earl F. Leninger of McCook, who resigned. Dr. Howard Yost of Grand Island was made vice chairman suceeding Dr. Gilbert.

—Was advised that a water fluoridation facility is being installed at the Beatrice State Home under a $2,500 federal grant and that community fluoridation plans have been adopted by Neligh and Rushville.

—Appointed a committee headed by Charles Fowler of Lincoln to work with the Capitol Building Commission in planning for the $640,000 state laboratory building on the University of Nebraska's East Campus. The laboratory facilities will be used by the health and agriculture departments and the University's veterinary services.

—Heard from Keith Beilby, hospital division engineer, that 923 skilled-care nursing home beds were constructed and licensed during the past year and a similar number probably would be constructed during the coming year. "Ninety per cent or more should qualify under the new Medicare program," he said.

'Primary Responsibility' For Schools Is States'

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

States have the "primary responsibility" of education with "full authority except for some federally protected rights of an individual which the state cannot violate," Nebraska school board members were told Monday.

August W. Steinhilber of the U.S. Office of Education said that education is a reserved power of the states based on the 10th Amendment to the Constitution. But he added that "Congress has the power to tax and spend for the general welfare" so the federal government can support education.

Further power to control education with the 1964 Civil Rights Law is based on the 14th Amendment which courts have interpreted as assuring the "right to a non-discriminatory education," Steinhilber explained.

Steinhilber, consultant on state law for the U.S. office, addressed the third annual workshop of the Nebraska State Association of School Boards here. Discussing the relationship between local, state and federal responsibility for education, he emphasized that school boards are "creatures of state legislatures and therefore can be altered by state legislatures.

Only What It's Given

"The local school district and board has what power the state gives it."

Some 70 representatives attending the conference expressed concern in another session of the participation of married students in extra-curricular activities.

Steinhilber pointed out that early court decisions allowed school boards to adopt rules prohibiting married student participation, but more recent rulings determined boards could not on the grounds such activities were "necessary for good educational programs."

Stanley Hawley, deputy commissioner of education, State Board of Education, declared that school boards in Nebraska were barring married students from participating on the grounds extra-curricular activities were a privilege, not a right. He added there had been no court tests in the state.

Participation Urged

Implications of recent federal and state legislation were voiced by three Nebraska educators at the conference. Each urged district participation in programs to improve availability and educational quality in the state.

Cecil Stanley, director of vocational education in the Nebraska Deartment of Education, declared that the state had "never had a Legislature which showed so much interest in vocational education or which appropriated so much money."

Outlining department activities, he expressed hope that the Sidney vocational-technical school in the Sioux Army depot would be "ready to start in January."

Jack Kreuger, director of the National Defense Elucation Act and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in the Nebraska Department of Education, outlined the federal programs and estimated amounts of money available in the state.

LB301, providing for supplementary educational services which local school boards are unable to furnish, was explained to the conference by Dr. Rosalie Farley of the University of Nebraska. Supplementary services include guidance, health, special education, library centers, vocational and adult education.

Tuesday Meet Set

Dr. Freeman Decker, coordinator of state colleges, addressed the association on the Nebraska school law.

Tuesday, elementary and secondary administrators, including several at the school board conference, will meet in Lincoln to map plans for implementation of the sweeping federal school aid bill. Tentative application forms, guidelines and state plans will be discussed.

Hungarian Talk Part Of Moscow Satellite Series

Moscow (AP)—Premier Gyula Kallai of Hungary called on Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Monday in another of the series of visits that have brought a long list of Communist leaders to Moscow.

Tass, reporting the visit, said Kallai, who was appointed premier this summer to take over part of the job of Janos Kadar, had a friendly talk with the Soviet leader.

Leaders from Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Poland and Romania have met with Soviet leaders in recent weeks.

Judge Pleads With Jury To End Nightrider Fear

Laurel, Miss. (UPI) — A circuit judge warned a grand jury Monday it must bring nightriders to justice even though to do so might bring violent retaliation.

"Make no mistake, they may shoot in your windows or attempt to burn your house if you indict them," Judge Lunsford Casey told the jury.

"But unless you have the guts to put a stop to such criminal activities, there will come a day when lawlessness will take over our country and fear will be in every heart.

"Strike now," the judge said, "before it is too late."

In other racial developments:

A six-foot-tall burning cross was extinguished by police at the home of John P. Reading, a factory worker who is scheduled to be installed as a grand dragon of the Klan in ceremonies Saturday night.

At Mobile, a federal grand jury went back into session to investigate Justice Department charges of police brutality in the treatment of civil rights demonstrators in Selma and Marion, Ala.

Negro attorneys filed suit at Mobile seeking dismissal of a federal court restraining order banning demonstrations or picketing near Marion public schools. Gov. George C. Wallace obtained the order.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund filed motions in 16 criminal cases seeking dismissal of prosecution of 1,456 persons arrested during demonstrations in Alabama's Black Belt counties.

At least one known case of nightriding was to come before the Laurel, Miss., jury. A white factory worker is charged with firing into the home of Dr. B. E. Murph, a local civil rights leader.

Melvin (Pete) Martin Jr., 31, was arrested last week and charged with a felony after shots were fired into Murph's home. This was one of a number of such incidents in this southwest Mississippi city.

STRONG WIND PILES UP PLANES

A strong wind piled up several small planes against a Cessna Aircraft Co. hangar in southeast Wichita, Kan., Monday. Two women in a house trailer were slightly injured in the storm. The bad weather stretched along an arc from the Texas Panhandle, where up to 10 inches of rain fell, to the Great Lakes. The Weather Bureau said tornadoes were reported on the southern edge of Wichita; near Strong City, Okla.; near Bethany, Marshall and St. Joseph, Mo., and near Elkhart, Ind., one of the cities hardest hit in the terrible Palm Sunday tornadoes. Torrential rains continued in Oklahoma and Texas and were blamed for at least four deaths.

Courthouse Walls Won't Fall In Bishop's Campaign Rally

Chattanooga, Tenn. (UPI)—Bishop Bill Rogers of the Church of God opened his 1968 presidential bid Monday by walking around the Hamilton County Courthouse seven times.

"America, look to the Lord and live," Rogers shouted from the steps of the courthouse.

He likened his march to that of Joshua around the walls of Jericho but he said, "I don't really expect the courthouse to come down."

It didn't.

However, Rogers, who described himself as a member of the Church of God, said he hoped the walls of opposition "to righteousness would fall."

He predicted the Theocratic Party eventually would elect a governor of Tennessee—the Church of God was founded near Cleveland, Tenn.—and that Cleveland probably would supply the first Theocratic mayor.

Rogers ran for vice president last year. The presidential candidate was Bishop Homer Tomlinson, a native of Cleveland. Tomlinson's branch has its headquarters at Queens Villeage, N.Y. Rogers is from Fulton, Mo.

Rogers said, "Any nation that won't turn to the principles of the Theocratic Party will be destroyed."

He said these nations would be faced with great droughts.

"Mr. Johnson (President Lyndon Johnson) may think he'll be able to pump water out of the ocean but he will be blocked."

Rogers said he hoped to march around every courthouse in the nation.

"That's a lot of courthouses, but we'll get 'em before it's over," he said.

French Must Command U.S. Bases In France

. . . DE GAULLE REPORTEDLY SAID

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle has told the United States that French generals must be in over-all command of U.S. bases in France or the U.S. military must leave, it was reported Monday night.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune carried a story by correspondent Ronald Koven saying de Gaulle made the demand in talks three weeks ago with U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball.

The dispatch said the demand would not be made officially until after the French presidential elections Dec. 5.

"The French are understood to assume that Gen. de Gaulle's demand will be unacceptable to Washington and that U.S. bases and supply lines in France will be shifted elsewhere," Koven said.

He said France has objected to some U.S. and U.N. operations, such as intervention in the Congo, which used U.S. bases in France as staging points.

A French commander at the U.S. bases presumably could veto such uses.

Such an order would seriously disrupt the military deployment within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), but it is understood been worked out in event the that contingey plans have bases are closed.

New Chrysler Prices Mixed; Most Go Up

Detroit (AP)—Chrysler Corp., first of the auto makers to disclose 1966 car prices, made numerous changes Monday—most of them upward—over comparable 1965 prices.

Chrysler's suggested retail price list for its 1966 line included what the company said were adjustments for items made standard on 1966 models and which were listed as optional on the 1965 models.

The Chrysler price lists thus offered no immediate sign as to whether the auto industry will be successful in its previously announced hopes of holding the price line for the seventh straight model year.

In the Chrysler-Plymouth division, for example, of 59 prices listed, 47 represented increases over last year in amounts ranging up to $55. The other eight were down as much as $152.00. Four others are new models out for the first time.

The big problem in trying to set an upward or downward price schedule on the announced listings came in the reshuffling of standard equipment and optional equipment.

Chrysler, in its official announcement of prices, said:

"Suggested retail prices for the 1966 models and suggested retail prices for the 1965 models, effective as of June 22, 1965, are adjusted for optional equipment in 1965 that has been made standard in 1966."

Police Investigate Sculpture Theft

Montreal (AP)—Police reported Monday they are investigating the theft Friday night from the Queen Elizabeth Hotel here of six works by world-famous sculptors valued at a reported $23,750

The theft included works by Henry Moore, Auguste Rodin, Jean (Hans) Arp, Mirko Basaldella, and Marino Marini.

The busts were stolen from a special display cabinet in the hotel.

Colored Decision

Milwaukee, Wis. (AP)—Sign in a suburban paint store: "Husbands choosing colors must have notes from their wives."

AFL-CIO Pushing To Stop Filibuster

New York (UPI) — The AFL-CIO, confident it has President Johnson's backing, called on the Senate Monday to break a Republican-led filibuster if necessary to repeal state laws banning the union shop.

The executive council of the 15 million-member labor federation charged that a move by Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois to conduct a filibuster against repeal would be a "flagrant perversion of the Democratic process."

In Washington, Dirksen said Monday he has the votes to force the administration to defer a final showdown until next year. He said backers of the bill "will not even get a majority" to block his filibuster plans. It was his strongest claim to date.

Dirksen said Sunday there had been "feelers" that the administration might dump the repeal bill this year. The inference was that this might be in exchange for an understanding he would let the bill reach a vote in January.

The Illinois Republican quickly added that he would "talk against it at length" next year unless he knew had the votes to defeat it.

A statement adopted at the AFL-CIO council's fall meeting expressed confidence that Congress would abolish "right to work" laws in 19 states at this session.

The House already approved such a measure and it could come up in the Senate next week or early in October.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, was asked whether Johnson was still solidly behind organized labor's drive to wipe the controversial statute off the books in 1965.

"I have no doubt of it," Meany told newsmen.

"Once that is done," he said, the AFL-CIO wants Congress to consider a general overhaul of the Taft-Hartley Act." He said organized labor favored new provisions for emergency dispute controls on union activity and National Labor Relations Board procedures.

Some senators have advocated a delay in action on repealing state laws barring the union shop until other changes in labor law have been made.

Third Storm Carol Heading North At Sea

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Carol, third tropical storm of the season, whirled on a northerly path far out in the Atlantic Monday night and posed no threat to any land areas for the next day or two.

Air Force reconnaissance planes located Carol Monday night some 2,600 miles east southeast of Miami, moving toward the north-northwest at about 10 miles per hour.

The center was about 1,600 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico, late Monday night.

Highest winds were estimated at 85 miles per hour near the center and gales reached out about 200 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Miami Weather Bureau said some increase in intensity was expected Tuesday, but no material change in size.

Gordon Dunn, chief tropical meteorologist, said earlier Carol appeared to be turning steadily toward the north and that this "certainly decreases significantly" the possibility that it might strike land. But he added cautiously:

"It appears to be turning steadily to the north," Dunn said, "but its current track is north-northwest and we expect this to continue for at least 12 hours."

Judge Pleads With Jury To End Nightrider Fear

Laurel, Miss. (UPI) — A circuit judge warned a grand jury Monday it must bring nightriders to justice even though to do so might bring violent retaliation.

"Make no mistake, they may shoot in your windows or attempt to burn your house if you indict them," Judge Lunsford Casey told the jury.

"But unless you have the guts to put a stop to such criminal activities, there will come a day when lawlessness will take over our country and fear will be in every heart.

"Strike now," the judge said, "before it is too late."

In other racial developments:

A six-foot-tall burning cross was extinguished by police at the home of John P. Reading, a factory worker who is scheduled to be installed as a grand dragon of the Klan in ceremonies Saturday night.

At Mobile, a federal grand jury went back into session to investigate Justice Department charges of police brutality in the treatment of civil rights demonstrators in Selma and Marion, Ala.

Negro attorneys filed suit at Mobile seeking dismissal of a federal court restraining order banning demonstrations or picketing near Marion public schools. Gov. George C. Wallace obtained the order.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund filed motions in 16 criminal cases seeking dismissal of prosecution of 1,456 persons arrested during demonstrations in Alabama's Black Belt counties.

At least one known case of nightriding was to come before the Laurel, Miss., jury. A white factory worker is charged with firing into the home of Dr. B. E. Murph, a local civil rights leader.

Melvin (Pete) Martin Jr., 31, was arrested last week and charged with a felony after shots were fired into Murph's home. This was one of a number of such incidents in this southwest Mississippi city.

STRONG WIND PILES UP PLANES

A strong wind piled up several small planes against a Cessna Aircraft Co. hangar in southeast Wichita, Kan., Monday. Two women in a house trailer were slightly injured in the storm. The bad weather stretched along an arc from the Texas Panhandle, where up to 10 inches of rain fell, to the Great Lakes. The Weather Bureau said tornadoes were reported on the southern edge of Wichita; near Strong City, Okla.; near Bethany, Marshall and St. Joseph, Mo., and near Elkhart, Ind., one of the cities hardest hit in the terrible Palm Sunday tornadoes. Torrential rains continued in Oklahoma and Texas and were blamed for at least four deaths.

Courthouse Walls Won't Fall In Bishop's Campaign Rally

Chattanooga, Tenn. (UPI)—Bishop Bill Rogers of the Church of God opened his 1968 presidential bid Monday by walking around the Hamilton County Courthouse seven times.

"America, look to the Lord and live," Rogers shouted from the steps of the courthouse.

He likened his march to that of Joshua around the walls of Jericho but he said, "I don't really expect the courthouse to come down."

It didn't.

However, Rogers, who described himself as a member of the Church of God, said he hoped the walls of opposition "to righteousness would fall."

He predicted the Theocratic Party eventually would elect a governor of Tennessee—the Church of God was founded near Cleveland, Tenn.—and that Cleveland probably would supply the first Theocratic mayor.

Rogers ran for vice president last year. The presidential candidate was Bishop Homer Tomlinson, a native of Cleveland. Tomlinson's branch has its headquarters at Queens Villeage, N.Y. Rogers is from Fulton, Mo.

Rogers said, "Any nation that won't turn to the principles of the Theocratic Party will be destroyed."

He said these nations would be faced with great droughts.

"Mr. Johnson (President Lyndon Johnson) may think he'll be able to pump water out of the ocean but he will be blocked."

Rogers said he hoped to march around every courthouse in the nation.

"That's a lot of courthouses, but we'll get 'em before it's over," he said.

French Must Command U.S. Bases In France

. . . DE GAULLE REPORTEDLY SAID

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle has told the United States that French generals must be in over-all command of U.S. bases in France or the U.S. military must leave, it was reported Monday night.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune carried a story by correspondent Ronald Koven saying de Gaulle made the demand in talks three weeks ago with U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball.

The dispatch said the demand would not be made officially until after the French presidential elections Dec. 5.

"The French are understood to assume that Gen. de Gaulle's demand will be unacceptable to Washington and that U.S. bases and supply lines in France will be shifted elsewhere," Koven said.

He said France has objected to some U.S. and U.N. operations, such as intervention in the Congo, which used U.S. bases in France as staging points.

A French commander at the U.S. bases presumably could veto such uses.

Such an order would seriously disrupt the military deployment within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), but it is understood been worked out in event the that contingey plans have bases are closed.

New Chrysler Prices Mixed; Most Go Up

Detroit (AP)—Chrysler Corp., first of the auto makers to disclose 1966 car prices, made numerous changes Monday—most of them upward—over comparable 1965 prices.

Chrysler's suggested retail price list for its 1966 line included what the company said were adjustments for items made standard on 1966 models and which were listed as optional on the 1965 models.

The Chrysler price lists thus offered no immediate sign as to whether the auto industry will be successful in its previously announced hopes of holding the price line for the seventh straight model year.

In the Chrysler-Plymouth division, for example, of 59 prices listed, 47 represented increases over last year in amounts ranging up to $55. The other eight were down as much as $152.00. Four others are new models out for the first time.

The big problem in trying to set an upward or downward price schedule on the announced listings came in the reshuffling of standard equipment and optional equipment.

Chrysler, in its official announcement of prices, said:

"Suggested retail prices for the 1966 models and suggested retail prices for the 1965 models, effective as of June 22, 1965, are adjusted for optional equipment in 1965 that has been made standard in 1966."

Police Investigate Sculpture Theft

Montreal (AP)—Police reported Monday they are investigating the theft Friday night from the Queen Elizabeth Hotel here of six works by world-famous sculptors valued at a reported $23,750

The theft included works by Henry Moore, Auguste Rodin, Jean (Hans) Arp, Mirko Basaldella, and Marino Marini.

The busts were stolen from a special display cabinet in the hotel.

AFL-CIO Pushing To Stop Filibuster

New York (UPI) — The AFL-CIO, confident it has President Johnson's backing, called on the Senate Monday to break a Republican-led filibuster if necessary to repeal state laws banning the union shop.

The executive council of the 15 million-member labor federation charged that a move by Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois to conduct a filibuster against repeal would be a "flagrant perversion of the Democratic process."

In Washington, Dirksen said Monday he has the votes to force the administration to defer a final showdown until next year. He said backers of the bill "will not even get a majority" to block his filibuster plans. It was his strongest claim to date.

Dirksen said Sunday there had been "feelers" that the administration might dump the repeal bill this year. The inference was that this might be in exchange for an understanding he would let the bill reach a vote in January.

The Illinois Republican quickly added that he would "talk against it at length" next year unless he knew had the votes to defeat it.

A statement adopted at the AFL-CIO council's fall meeting expressed confidence that Congress would abolish "right to work" laws in 19 states at this session.

The House already approved such a measure and it could come up in the Senate next week or early in October.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, was asked whether Johnson was still solidly behind organized labor's drive to wipe the controversial statute off the books in 1965.

"I have no doubt of it," Meany told newsmen.

"Once that is done," he said, the AFL-CIO wants Congress to consider a general overhaul of the Taft-Hartley Act." He said organized labor favored new provisions for emergency dispute controls on union activity and National Labor Relations Board procedures.

Some senators have advocated a delay in action on repealing state laws barring the union shop until other changes in labor law have been made.

Third Storm Carol Heading North At Sea

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Carol, third tropical storm of the season, whirled on a northerly path far out in the Atlantic Monday night and posed no threat to any land areas for the next day or two.

Air Force reconnaissance planes located Carol Monday night some 2,600 miles east southeast of Miami, moving toward the north-northwest at about 10 miles per hour.

The center was about 1,600 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico, late Monday night.

Highest winds were estimated at 85 miles per hour near the center and gales reached out about 200 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Miami Weather Bureau said some increase in intensity was expected Tuesday, but no material change in size.

Gordon Dunn, chief tropical meteorologist, said earlier Carol appeared to be turning steadily toward the north and that this "certainly decreases significantly" the possibility that it might strike land. But he added cautiously:

"It appears to be turning steadily to the north," Dunn said, "but its current track is north-northwest and we expect this to continue for at least 12 hours."

Stock Prices Advance In Active Mart

New York (AP)—The stock market churned higher Monday in another seven-million-share session but many blue chips rested while more speculative stocks roared ahead.

Final statistics showed that gainers outnumbered losers only by 597 to 547 among the 1,394 issues traded. New highs totaled 109 and news lows 13.

Spotty strength among some of its high quality components enabled the Dow Jones industrial average to post a modest gain of 2.19 at 931.18.

Volume was 7.05 million shares compared with 6.62 million Friday. It was the fourth seven-million-share day in six sessions.

Aerospace issues, electronics related to the defense effort or to color television, some of the merger-oriented rails and some specially situated issues were strong.

On the other hand, the major steelmakers, leading motors, mail order-retails, butters, tobaccos, airlines, building materials and variety of other market wheelhorses were lower, most of them by fractions, but some a point or so.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.1 to 342.0 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.0 and utilities up .3.

The very strong trading interest was reflected again by the 15 most active stocks. Eleven of these advanced, three declined and Pan American World Airways was unchanged.

SCM Corp. was the most-active issue, rising 4 to 34¾ on 262,700 shares. Trading had to be halted temporarily in SCM due to a crush of orders. This stock was resuming its powerful updrive of last week, based in part of its introduction of a new office copying device and also on its upside breakout from a prolonged and narrow price channel.

Prices declined irregularly on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.68 million shares compared with 1.55 million Friday.

Corporate bonds rose. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Grains Are Strong To Slightly Weak

Chicago (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was somewhat unsettled most of the time Monday with prices ranging from strong to lightly weak at the close.

A good deal of the activity was centered in September contracts on which trading ends Tuesday. With short covering rather active all of them finished in a fairly strong range.

September soybeans was by far the most active and finished with an advance of more than 5 cents a bushel while all other months came under late moderate pressure and finished generly easier.

Wheat was ½-1¼ cents a bushel higher at the close, September $1.57; corn ½ higher to ¼ lower, September $1.24-24⅛; oats ¼ higher to ¼ lower, September 67 cents; rye ⅜ to 1 cent higher, September $1.18½; soybeans 5½ to ⅜ lower, September $2.62½-62.

MONDAY'S QUOTATIONS

Snow Damages Dry Beans, Alfalfa

Last week's unusually early snow in northwest Nebraska caused considerable damage to dry beans and alfalfa, government crop observers reported Monday.

Other tender vegetation was damaged by low temperatures, and field work was delayed over most of the state by wet fields, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

However, planting of winter wheat was approximately 45% completed as of last weekend, far ahead of last year when dry soil conditions prevailed and farmers were waiting for topsoil moisture.

Early-planted wheat fields are up to good stands in the western part of Nebraska, but only a limited acreage has been seeded in eastern counties, the division said.

Maturity of all row crops has been slowed by the weather and as of last weekend, about 40% of the corn had reached the mature stage, about 51% was in the dent stage and the remainder was in the hard dough stage.

The maturity rate is slightly ahead of last year but about normal, although there are local areas where late planted corn will need a longer than usual frost-free growing period if the crop is to mature for grain.

Harvest of sorghum has started in early planted fields but there are many late fields which probably will not mature before frost.

Soybeans are nearing maturity but like all other crops, need warm, drying weather.

Other observations:

Hail and snow set back the dry bean crop in western Nebraska, with late-planted fields being lost and a yield loss in fields where beans were cut and windrowed.

The potato harvest was slowed by the weather, and cutting of silage and harvest of alfalfa hay was limited.

Pasture and ranges are in excellent condition and providing an abundance of forage for livestock, although snow and low temperatures in the northwest caused hardship on range cattle.

Movement of feeder cattle into feed lots is picking up slightly but the large movement is yet to come.

Rainfall received throughout Nebraska during the week ending Monday included:

Kimball Artist Wins Honors At Art Show

Grand Island (AP) — Frances Campbell of Kimball won first place in the oil division and had the best in show at the first annual exhibition of the Association of Nebraska Art Clubs.

The exhibition opened Saturday and continues through this week.

Other first place winners were Gabriel A. Bedish Jr. of Grand Island, watercolor; Shirley Klostermeyer of Grand Island, mixed media; Richard Markoff of McCook, graphics, and Raymond Gordon of Scottsbluff, sculpture.

The best club in show award went to the Hastings Art Club, and L. L. Shumway of Lyons was awarded a blue ribbon for unusual medium.

Dr. Robert R. Geer of Grand Island advanced from vice president to president, succeeding Robert Gordon of Scottsbluff.

Larry Peterson of North Platte was elected vice president and will move up to president next year. Others elected were Mrs. Ethel Hide of Hastings, secretary, and William Putnam of Scottsbluff, treasurer.

Dr. James B. Shaeffer of Grand Island, president of the Nebraska Arts Council, presented a citation from Gov. Frank Morrison in recognition of the association's efforts to forward art and art appreciation in the state.

Cutter Gasconade Is Not Expected For About Week

Omaha (AP)—The 75-foot Coast Guard Cutter Gasconade, which is to be permanently stationed at Omaha, will not arrive for another week, Coast Guard headquarters in St. Louis informed the Omaha office Monday.

The craft will not take permanent station in Omaha for several weeks. On the first week's agenda will be a Sioux City-to-Kansas City inspection trip.

Police Will Not Charge Woman

Omaha (AP) — Police said no felony charges would be filed against Mrs. Dorothy Jean Wakefield, 22, Omaha, in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 34-year-old man.

Deputy County Attorney Thomas Ryder said there were "aspects of self defense" in the case.

Theodore Moore was found lying in the middle of the street in front of Mrs. Wakefield's home at 2634 Seward. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Greek Princess Alexia Baptized

Athens, Greece (AP)—Crown Princess Alexia of Greece was baptized into the Greek Orthodox faith Monday at the royal palace in Athens.

The 2-month-old child let out a few yelps as Archbishop Chryssostomos, 85, dipped her three times into a font filled with blessed water.

Her parents, King Constantine and Queen Anne-Marie, stood by as Constantine's mother, Queen Frederika, held the baby for the ritual. Frederika and representatives of the Greek armed forces and security corps were godparents.

After the ceremony royal grownups and guests drank pink champagne toasts to the baby's health.

HOW TO GET INTO COLLEGE
—and
SUCCEED!

Each year some two million students from 30,000 high schools try to find their way into 2,000 colleges and universities. Much of this nervous tension can be avoided according to Leslie J. Nason, Ed. D., University of California.

Starting Monday, October 4th, The Lincoln Star will bring you a five week series by Leslie J. Nason on "HOW TO GET INTO COLLEGE and SUCCEED".

Stock Prices Advance In Active Mart

New York (AP)—The stock market churned higher Monday in another seven-million-share session but many blue chips rested while more speculative stocks roared ahead.

Final statistics showed that gainers outnumbered losers only by 597 to 547 among the 1,394 issues traded. New highs totaled 109 and news lows 13.

Spotty strength among some of its high quality components enabled the Dow Jones industrial average to post a modest gain of 2.19 at 931.18.

Volume was 7.05 million shares compared with 6.62 million Friday. It was the fourth seven-million-share day in six sessions.

Aerospace issues, electronics related to the defense effort or to color television, some of the merger-oriented rails and some specially situated issues were strong.

On the other hand, the major steelmakers, leading motors, mail order-retails, butters, tobaccos, airlines, building materials and variety of other market wheelhorses were lower, most of them by fractions, but some a point or so.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.1 to 342.0 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.0 and utilities up .3.

The very strong trading interest was reflected again by the 15 most active stocks. Eleven of these advanced, three declined and Pan American World Airways was unchanged.

SCM Corp. was the most active issue, rising 4 to 31¼ on 262,700 shares. Trading had to be halted temporarily in SCM due to a crush of orders. This stock was resuming its powerful updrive of last week, based in part of its introduction of a new office copying device and also on its upside breakout from a prolonged and narrow price channel.

Prices declined irregularly on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.68 million shares compared with 1.55 million Friday.

Corporate bonds rose, U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Grains Are Strong To Slightly Weak

Chicago (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was somewhat unsettled most of the time Monday with prices ranging from strong to lightly weak at the close.

A good deal of the activity was centered in September contracts on which trading ends Tuesday. With short covering rather active all of them finished in a fairly strong range.

September soybeans was by far the most active and finished with an advance of more than 5 cents a bushel while all other months came under late moderate pressure and finished generly easier.

Wheat was ½-1¼ cents a bushel higher at the close, September $1.57; corn ½ higher to ¼ lower, September $1.24-24⅛; oats ¼ higher to ¼ lower, September 67 cents; rye ⅜ to 1 cent higher, September $1.18½; soybeans 5½ to ⅝ lower, September $2.62½-62.

Snow Damages Dry Beans, Alfalfa

Last week's unusually early snow in northwest Nebraska caused considerable damage to dry beans and alfalfa, government crop observers reported Monday.

Other tender vegetation was damaged by low temperatures, and field work was delayed over most of the state by wet fields, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

However, planting of winter wheat was approximately 45% completed as of last weekend, far ahead of last year when dry soil conditions prevailed and farmers were waiting for topsoil moisture.

Early-planted wheat fields are up to good stands in the western part of Nebraska, but only a limited acreage has been seeded in eastern counties, the division said.

Maturity of all row crops has been slowed by the weather and as of last weekend, about 40% of the corn had reached the mature stage, about 51% was in the dent stage and the remainder was in the hard dough stage.

The maturity rate is slightly ahead of last year but about normal, although there are local areas where late planted corn will need a longer than usual frost-free growing period if the crop is to mature for grain.

Harvest of sorghum has started in early planted fields but there are many late fields which probably will not mature before frost.

Soybeans are nearing maturity but like all other crops, need warm, drying weather.

Other observations:

Hail and snow set back the dry bean crop in western Nebraska, with late-planted fields being lost and a yield loss in fields where beans were cut and windrowed.

The potato harvest was slowed by the weather, and cutting of silage and harvest of alfalfa hay was limited.

Pasture and ranges are in excellent condition and providing an abundance of forage for livestock, although snow and low temperatures in the northwest caused hardship on range cattle.

Movement of feeder cattle into feed lots is picking up slightly but the large movement is yet to come.

Rainfall received throughout Nebraska during the week ending Monday included:

Kimball Artist Wins Honors At Art Show

Grand Island (AP) — Frances Campbell of Kimball won first place in the oil division and had the best in show at the first annual exhibition of the Association of Nebraska Art Clubs.

The exhibition opened Saturday and continues through this week.

Other first place winners were Gabriel A. Bedish Jr. of Grand Island, watercolor; Shirley Klostermeyer of Grand Island, mixed media; Richard Markoff of McCook, graphics, and Raymond Gordon of Scottsbluff, sculpture.

The best club in show award went to the Hastings Art Club, and L. L. Shumway of Lyons was awarded a blue ribbon for unusual medium.

Dr. Robert R. Geer of Grand Island advanced from vice president to president, succeeding Robert Gordon of Scottsbluff.

Larry Peterson of North Platte was elected vice president and will move up to president next year. Others elected were Mrs. Ethel Hide of Hastings, secretary, and William Putnam of Scottsbluff, treasurer.

Dr. James B. Shaeffer of Grand Island, president of the Nebraska Arts Council, presented a citation from Gov. Frank Morrison in recognition of the association's efforts to forward art and art appreciation in the state.

Cutter Gasconade Is Not Expected For About Week

Omaha (AP)—The 75-foot Coast Guard Cutter Gasconade, which is to be permanently stationed at Omaha, will not arrive for another week, Coast Guard headquarters in St. Louis informed the Omaha office Monday.

The craft will not take permanent station in Omaha for several weeks. On the first week's agenda will be a Sioux City-to-Kansas City inspection trip.

Police Will Not Charge Woman

Omaha (AP) — Police said no felony charges would be filed against Mrs. Dorothy Jean Wakefield, 22, Omaha, in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 34-year-old man.

Deputy County Attorney Thomas Ryder said there were "aspects of self defense" in the case.

Theodore Moore was found lying in the middle of the street in front of Mrs. Wakefield's home at 2634 Seward. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Greek Princess Alexia Baptized

Athens, Greece (AP)—Crown Princess Alexia of Greece was baptized into the Greek Orthodox faith Monday at the royal palace in Athens.

The 2-month-old child let out a few yelps as Archbishop Chryssostomos, 85, dipped her three times into a font filled with blessed water.

Her parents, King Constantine and Queen Anne-Marie, stood by as Constantine's mother, Queen Frederika, held the baby for the ritual. Frederika and representatives of the Greek armed forces and security corps were godparents.

After the ceremony royal grownups and guests drank pink champagne toasts to the baby's health.

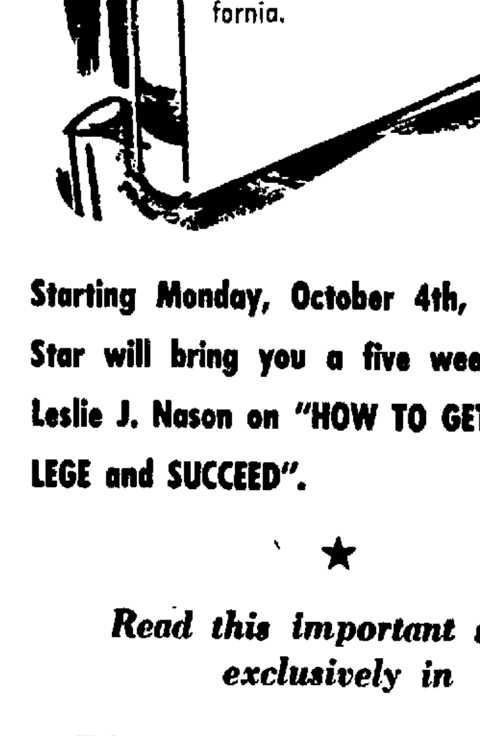
HOW TO GET INTO COLLEGE
—and
SUCCEED!



Each year some two million students from 30,000 high schools try to find their. way into 2,000 colleges and universities. Much of this nervous tension can be avoided according to Leslie J. Nason, Ed. D., University of California.

Starting Monday, October 4th, The Lincoln Star will bring you a five week series by Leslie J. Nason on "HOW TO GET INTO COLLEGE and SUCCEED".

Omahan Heads State Liquor Group, Lincolnite Is V.P.

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska Liquor Dealers Association installed Frank Vondrasek of Omaha as president Monday night at the annual convention banquet.

Other officers are Norris Jesse, Lincoln, and John Mencl, Virginia, vice presidents; Evva Gueetzinger, Chadron, secretary; Ed Guzick, Omaha, treasurer, and John Schwindt, Lincoln, chairman of the board.

State Sen. Terry Carenter warned the more than 27 hundred state liquor licensees that if they don't unite against the "bottle clubs," 25% of them will be out of business in the next five years.

Sen. Carpenter said, "This is the only thing that will save you. The licensees have to go to the Legislature and get a bill passed in their favor."

Quit Apologizing

Carenter said the first thing the licensees can do to help themselves is quit apologizing for the business they are in.

"If you want to apologize," he said, "get out!"

The senator added the licensees must organize and get collective action started in order to gain the support of the Legislature.

"You'll get nothing from the Legislature without some pressure," he said.

He said the recent bottle club legislation could not have passed the Unicameral "without the help of every licensee in the state. They (the licensees) did nothing to oppose it."

Carpenter said he backed the bottle club bill because it was a backdoor approach to legalize a Class C license.

Cooperation Hit

He attacked the licensees for cooperating with the bottle clubs. "Anyone who sells to a bottle club ought to have his head examined!" Carpenter declared.

Sen. Carenter said he will sponsor a bill in the next Legislature that would form a state commission that would allow licensees to "regulate their own business."

Ethiopians, Americans, Lion Greet Traveling Astronauts

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia (AP)—Thousands cheered and applauded and the palace lion thumped with his tail as U.S. astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad and their families arrived in Addis Ababa Monday.

The astronauts were greeted on this stop of their six-nation good will tour by Ethiopian government officials, U.S. Ambassador Edward M. Korry and the embassy staff. Members of the American community in Addis Ababa joined the thousands who lined the route from the airport to the palace.

The imperial bodyguard's tame lion, Mokria, was also on parade, playfully drumming its tail against the side of its own jeep, as Cooper and Conrad drove by in an open Cadillac.

The astronauts and their families were received by Emperor Haille Selassie at the palace.

The spacemen ended their three-day Turkish visit Monday morning by laying a wreath at the tomb of Turkey's first president, Kemal Ataturk, and calling on an American high school and grammar school, where they were warmly received by cheering students.

Conspirator To Die

Johore Bahru, Malaysia (AP)—A South Malaya rubber tapper was sentenced to death for having two hand grenades in his possession and consorting with Indonesian infiltrators. He was sentenced in Johore Bahru high court under the internal security act, established to help combat Indonesia's confrontation of Malaysia.

Dedicate Marker 88 Years After Train Robbery

Big Springs (AP)—The Sam Bass historical marker was dedicated, 88 years after the first train robbery in the history of the Union Pacific Railroad.

The bandits took $60,000 in gold coins and relieved passengers of watches, railroad tickets and money.

Two of the gang were trapped and killed while resisting arrest at Buffalo Station, Kan., and a third was killed by officers at Mexico, Mo.

Bass and Tom Nixon went to Texas, where Bass was killed by the Texas Rangers on his 27th birthday.

Jewell Cave Bill Sent To Senate

Washington (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate Monday a bill to permit the exchange of lands between the Black Hills National Forest and the Jewell Cave National Monument in South Dakota.

About 1,120 acres would be traded by boundary changes to transfer caverns from the forest to the monument. The Senate Interior Committee approved a similar bill earlier Monday.

Omahan Heads State Liquor Group, Lincolnite Is V.P.

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska Liquor Dealers Association installed Frank Vondrasek of Omaha as president Monday night at the annual convention banquet.

Other officers are Norris Jesse, Lincoln, and John Mencl, Virginia, vice presidents; Evva Gueetzinger, Chadron, secretary; Ed Guzick, Omaha, treasurer, and John Schwindt, Lincoln, chairman of the board.

State Sen. Terry Carenter warned the more than 27 hundred state liquor licensees that if they don't unite against the "bottle clubs," 25% of them will be out of business in the next five years.

Sen. Carpenter said, "This is the only thing that will save you. The licensees have to go to the Legislature and get a bill passed in their favor."

Quit Apologizing

Carenter said the first thing the licensees can do to help themselves is quit apologizing for the business they are in.

"If you want to apologize," he said, "get out!"

The senator added the licensees must organize and get collective action started in order to gain the support of the Legislature.

"You'll get nothing from the Legislature without some pressure," he said.

He said the recent bottle club legislation could not have passed the Unicameral "without the help of every licensee in the state. They (the licensees) did nothing to oppose it."

Carpenter said he backed the bottle club bill because it was a backdoor approach to legalize a Class C license.

Cooperation Hit

He attacked the licensees for cooperating with the bottle clubs. "Anyone who sells to a bottle club ought to have his head examined!" Carpenter declared.

Sen. Carenter said he will sponsor a bill in the next Legislature that would form a state commission that would allow licensees to "regulate their own business."

Ethiopians, Americans, Lion Greet Traveling Astronauts

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia (AP)—Thousands cheered and applauded and the palace lion thumped with his tail as U.S. astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad and their families arrived in Addis Ababa Monday.

The astronauts were greeted on this stop of their six-nation good will tour by Ethiopian government officials. U.S. Ambassador Edward M. Korry and the embassy staff. Members of the American community in Addis Ababa joined the thousands who lined the route from the airport to the palace.

The imperial bodyguard's tame lion, Mokria, was also on parade, playfully drumming its tail against the side of its own jeep, as Cooper and Conrad drove by in an open Cadillac.

The astronauts and their families were received by Emperor Haille Selassie at the palace.

The spacemen ended their three-day Turkish visit Monday morning by laying a wreath at the tomb of Turkey's first president, Kemal Ataturk, and calling on an American high school and grammar school, where they were warmly received by cheering students.

Conspirator To Die

Johore Bahru, Malaysia (AP)—A South Malaya rubber tapper was sentenced to death for having two hand grenades in his possession and consorting with Indonesian infiltrators. He was sentenced in Johore Bahru high court under the internal security act, established to help combat Indonesia's confrontation of Malaysia.

Paris (AP)—One of France's most popular singers, Gilbert Becaud, has recorded a musical tribute to President de Gaulle but has no plans to send him a record. "Why should I?" Becaud asked. "He doesn't send me his speeches."

Dedicate Marker 88 Years After Train Robbery

Big Springs (AP)—The Sam Bass historical marker was dedicated, 88 years after the first train robbery in the history of the Union Pacific Railroad.

The bandits took $60,000 in gold coins and relieved passengers of watches, railroad tickets and money.

Two of the gang were trapped and killed while resisting arrest at Buffalo Station, Kan., and a third was killed by officers at Mexico, Mo.

Bass and Tom Nixon went to Texas, where Bass was killed by the Texas Rangers on his 27th birthday.

Jewell Cave Bill Sent To Senate

Washington (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate Monday a bill to permit the exchange of lands between the Black Hills National Forest and the Jewell Cave National Monument in South Dakota.

About 1,120 acres would be traded by boundary changes to transfer caverns from the forest to the monument. The Senate Interior Committee approved a similar bill earlier Monday.
